Winning...
A Tennessee Tradition

Tennessee's football program is constantly heralded as one of the best in America and for good reason. Consider:

- Since 1989, Tennessee has posted a 110-23-2 record (.822), won a national title, captured four SEC championships and participated in 11 consecutive bowl games.
- Fulmer's Tennessee Vols are one of the most televised teams in the nation with 71 of the last 90 games on network television during his watch.
- The Vols have finished among the nation's top 20 teams in each of the past 10 seasons, including ranking in the top 10 seven times.
- Tennessee has spent 55 straight weeks ranked in the top 10, and 67 of the last 68.

Tradition is a wonderful thing, particularly the storied tradition of Tennessee football. You can't manufacture it and nobody really knows how to define it, but you know it when you see it. And, perhaps more importantly, you know it when you feel it.

Over the past 109 years of gridiron competition, the University of Tennessee has built and maintained a staggering tradition rivaled by very few schools across the nation. A survey of Volunteer football history reveals the foundation for UT's football heritage: an astounding collection of great players, important wins and landmark championships. The Vols' unwavering and devoted fan following serves as a constant source of inspiration for Tennessee players, and ranks the school perennially in the top three in national attendance.

TENNESSEE VOLUNTEER TRADITION IS. . .

TWO-SPORT ATHLETES

Two-sport athletes at Tennessee enjoy a history dating back to intercollegiate competition's birth on The Hill.

In the modern era, track and field, coupled with football, is a natural combination — their respective seasons occur in different parts of the year. They both demand the elements of speed, strength and proper technique, and they allow an athlete to be challenged in dual capacities.

"By the time they graduate from high school, most athletes have narrowed their interest to a single sport they wish to pursue in college," says head football coach Phillip Fulmer. "But for those exceptional young men who want to combine football with track and field, the University of Tennessee offers a special opportunity. Coach Bill Webb and I are pleased to work together to make participation in the two sports an option for Tennessee Volunteers."

Over the years, the rosters of both sports have been liberally sprinkled with the names of Vols who achieved success as dual sport-athletes. Just this past year, wide receiver and sprinter Leonard Scott made his mark on the track circuit, earning All-America honors in the indoor 60-meter dash.

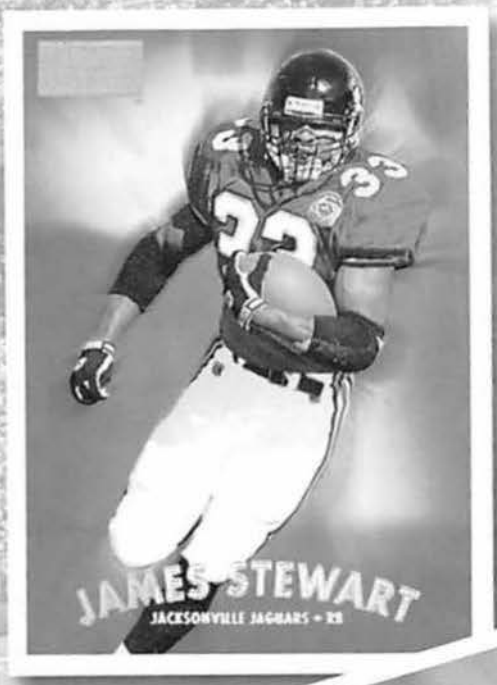
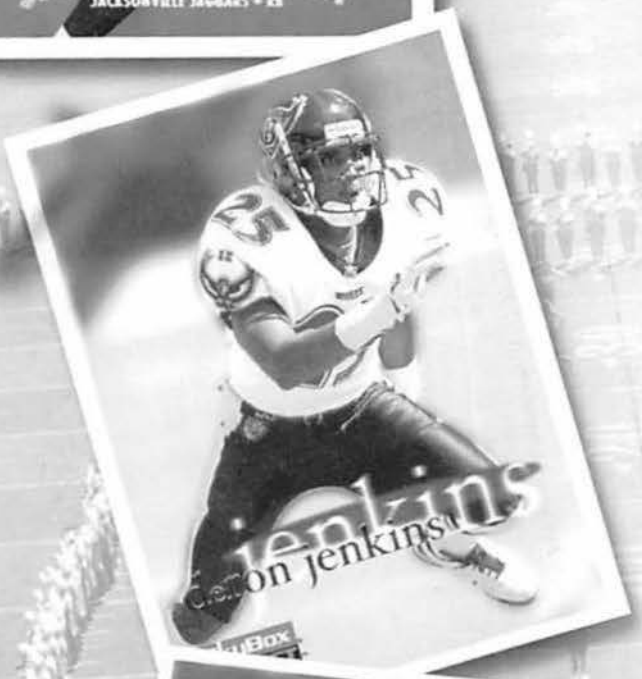
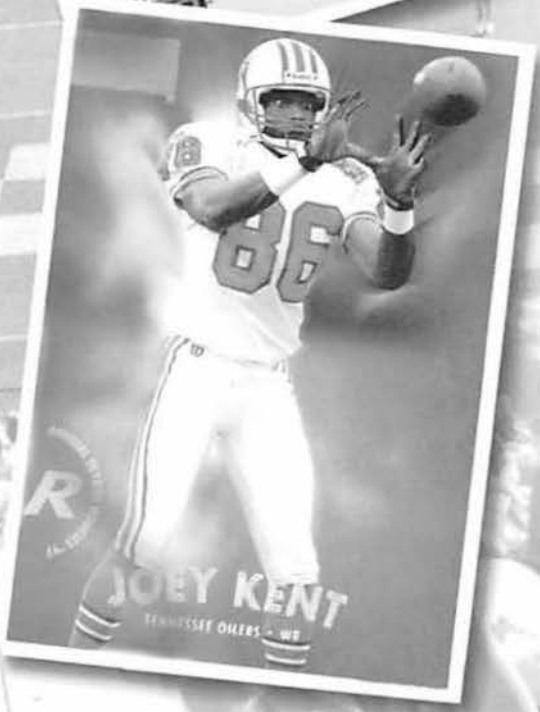
VOLS IN THE PROS







A long standing tradition of the Tennessee football program has been the number of players who moved on to the professional ranks following their collegiate playing days. Since Virgil Rayburn, who lettered at UT from 1930-32 as an end, became the first Volunteer to play professional football, with the Brooklyn Dodgers in 1933, nearly 300 University of Tennessee players have left their mark in the NFL and other professional leagues. Tennessee Hall of Famer Beattie Feathers followed Rayburn the next year, playing halfback in the NFL from 1934-40 for the Chicago Bears, Brooklyn Dodgers and Green Bay Packers.

- Nine players were selected in the 1999 NFL draft which ranked first nationally.
- Tennessee had 74 players taken in the NFL draft in the 1990s, including 14 in the first round.
- Over the last 10 years, nearly 40 percent of the Vols drafted went in the top two rounds, while over 50 percent were taken in the top three rounds.
- As of opening day 1999, Tennessee had the second-most players in the NFL among Southeastern Conference schools with 28 and ranked in the top 15 nationally with that total.
- Quarterback Peyton Manning was the first pick of the 1998 NFL draft by the Indianapolis Colts. He became the second player in UT history to be the first overall pick.
- The 1998 draft saw three Vols taken in the first round. (QB Peyton Manning, DB Terry Fair and WR Marcus Nash)
- UT has had 31 first-round NFL draft choices, including 14 in the 1990s.
- UT has had at least one player taken in the first round in 13 of the last 16 NFL drafts.

Vols Seek to Continue Long Tradition of Success

Five consecutive finishes in the top 10 has fueled a belief among some of the faithful that an equal amount of success will await the Tennessee Vols in their first venture of the new millennium.

Not so fast, please. Before Tennessee can lay claim to national recognition again, Phillip Fulmer and his staff have some mammoth reconstruction to accomplish. We're talking reconstruction, big-time.

Fulmer refers to it as a "transition" season, a term that covers a host of concerns such as maturity, leadership and experience. The enormity of the challenge allows Fulmer to dive into the project with his customary enthusiasm.

Not enthusiasm alone, but an understated self-assurance that permeates the Vol skipper and infuses those who work with him. Given Fulmer's record as the nation's winningest college coach, it's understandable that Tennessee fans might lightly dismiss the difficulties of replacing people like Martin, Lewis, Clifton, Goodrich, Ellis and Thompson.

An optimist by nature, Fulmer is also a realist. He closed spring practice with a forceful reminder that a rigorous summer regimen will be critical to Tennessee's hopes of remaining in the thick of Southeastern Conference and national contention.

He is determined to explore every avenue to have the squad prepared mentally and physically when the Golden Eagles of Southern Mississippi invade Neyland Stadium the night of Sept. 2.

This preseason publication puts into perspective the Vols' prospects for the 2000 season. It acquaints you with the players and coaches who will carry forward the school's storied tradition.

Everything is viewed in the context of a college football program whose history traces back more than 100 years.

Fulmer Meets the Press

The 2000 Vols Prepare For A Season Of Challenges

Preparing for any eventuality, Phillip Fulmer one year ago looked over the Tennessee football roster and played the game of "what-if" concerning the 2000 season.

What if, worst-case scenario, three highly acclaimed juniors decided to leave school early to try their luck in the NFL? And then, what if two other players listed as seniors in 1999 declined an option available to them to return for a final season?

Fulmer, who got to be the nation's winningest coach partly because of his ability to anticipate things, foresaw what might happen. His concerns became reality when tailback Jamal Lewis, free safety Deon Grant and offensive guard Cosey Coleman all decided to go pro.

Further complicating matters, defensive end Shaun Ellis and linebacker Raynoch Thompson, both of whom could have returned for a fifth season, chose instead to move to the NFL.

Defections to the professional ranks and normal graduation losses combined to create a dearth of experience on both sides of the ball. The Vols return only five starters on offense, five on defense and the two kickers. When Fulmer told prospects last winter to come to Knoxville and play early, he wasn't pitching them an idle recruiting line. There's opportunity galore at the Home of the Vols for ambitious student-athletes to make the varsity in a hurry.

OFFENSE

A pair of youthful gunslingers from out West showed up last January in the Volunteers' Knoxville corral intent on putting some suspense into the quarterback race. For the first time since 1992, Tennessee went into spring practice with the identity of its starting signal-caller a deep mystery.

By virtue of having been around for two full seasons, even if mostly as an observer, Joey Mathews had a slim head start on the competition. The 6-3 sophomore, as backup to Tee Martin, completed three of seven passes for 47 yards last season. Those are statistics that don't translate into a wealth of experience. The fight for the quarterback pos involves one local contestant (Sevierville's Mathews), a regiona entry (A.J. Suggs of Powder Springs, Ga.) and two representa tives of the Far West (Casey Clausen from California and John Rattay from Arizona).

Mathews' obvious edge will be his familiarity with the Vols offensive system, an advantage shared to a lesser extent by Suggs, who enrolled at UT before the 1999 season. Two of the nation's top-ranked prospects coming out of high school Clausen and Rattay enrolled in January and took part in the winter workout program designed to have them ready for spring practice. Offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach Randy Sanders focused his search more on finding a steady, solid hand to run the attack than finding somebody with dazzling capabilities.

He was national freshman of the year in 1997 but the loss of Jamal Lewis to the ranks of the mercenaries shouldn't cripple Tennessee's ground production. Tireless Travis Henry, whose statistics nearly matched Lewis' totals, brings power and determination to his running back chores. Henry accounted for 790 yards, only 26 less than Lewis' mark. Travis Stephens comes back after a redshirt season hoping to eclipse the 477 yards he posted two years ago. Despite his short stature, sophomore Kurston Biggers packs a powerful punch and could find a niche in short yardage situations. Regardless of who hands off the apple, Tennessee's tailbacks boast big-time potential.

Will Bartholmew belongs to that hardy group of fullbacks who sacrifice their own potential as runners to serve as blockers. It's a Tennessee tradition that was carried out to perfection by Shawn Bryson two years ago and capably fulfilled last year by the tandem of Will Bartholomew and Phillip Crosby. Between them, the fullbacks carried the ball only 14 times. But blocking is something they did enormously well. Crosby graduated, leaving the path-clearing part of the job to the sturdy Bartholomew and his understudy, freshman Troy Fleming. With Senior tailback Travis Henry needs less than 250 yards rushing to become the ninth Vol to reach 2000 career yards rushing.

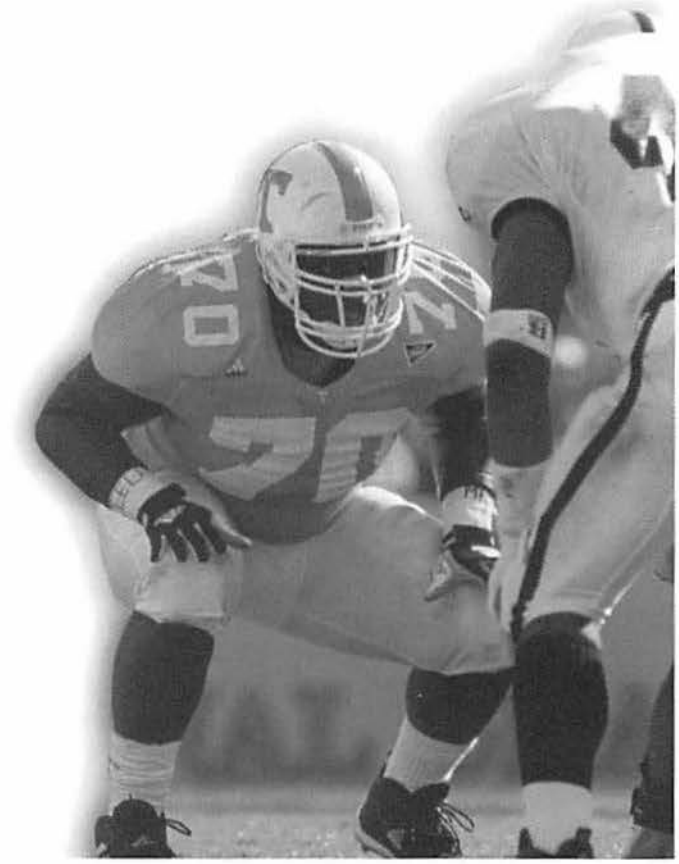
a reconstructed line that will be struggling while it settles in, the importance of the fullbacks to the offense can't be overestimated.

While the pass-catching corps went through a down year in terms of spectacular plays, the experience and talent returning for 2000 point to a likelihood that "Wide Receiver U" will again be an appropriate tag for UT. Cedrick Wilson, despite a hamstring injury that bothered him down the stretch, registered 57 catches for 827 yards. He nearly doubled the completions recorded by runner-up stats leader Eric Parker (30 receptions for 411 yards). Donté Stallworth showed some encouraging potential as a "go-to" receiver in his freshman season, particularly toward the latter stages. He ended the year with 23 catches for an excellent 17.7 average. David Martin, Bobby Graham, Leonard Scott, Eric Locke and Burney Veazey need to translate their talent into solid numbers if the Vols are going to have depth at receiver.

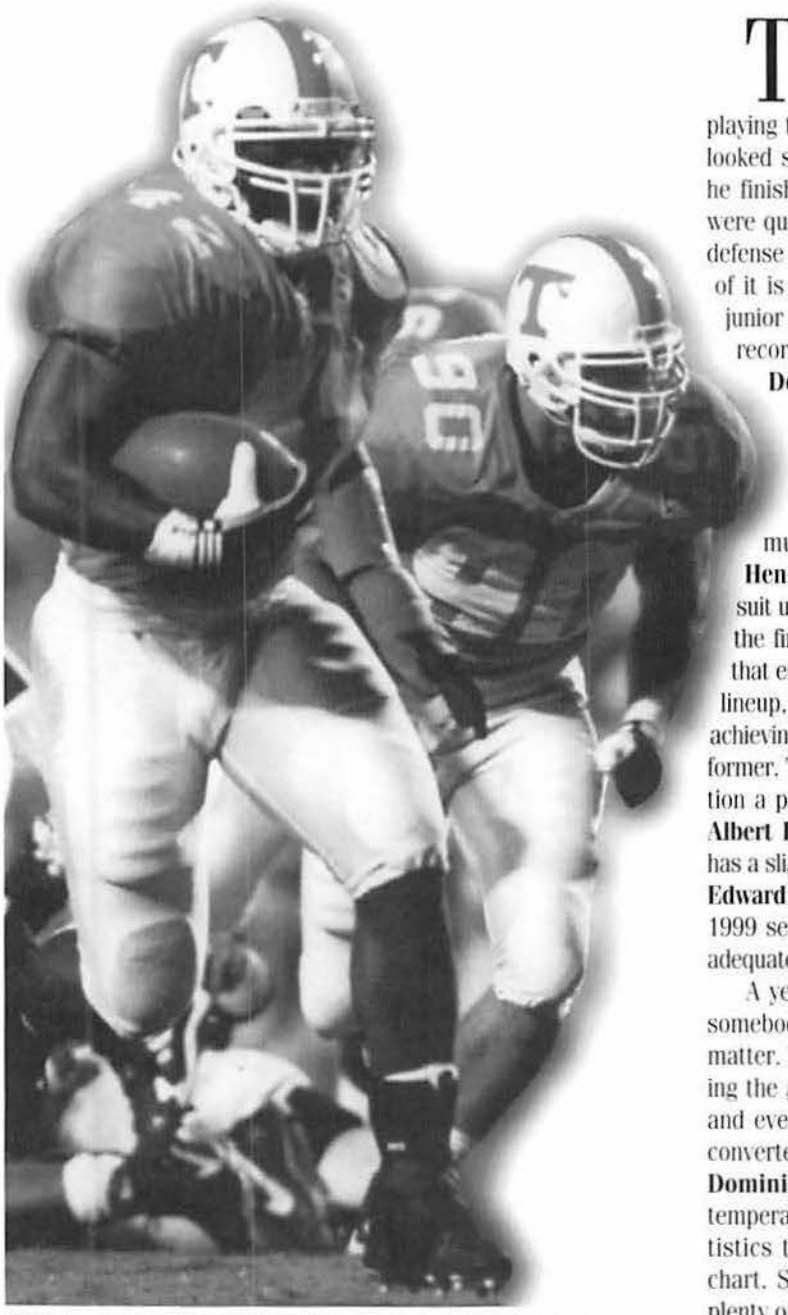
And on the subject of receivers, don't overlook tight ends. Best known as blockers in keeping with their primary responsibilities, senior Neil Johnson and junior John Finlayson return as first and second teamers, respectively. Both are rangy and strong, and both are capable of holding their own in the pass-snagging department should a toss head their way. Ed Butler moved to tight end from defensive tackle during spring practice.



Junior guard Fred Weary serves as the anchor on a talented but inexperienced offensive front.

A dangerous open field threat, senior Cedrick Wilson returns to lead the deep Vol receiving corps. Wilson garnered second team All-SEC honors last year after catching 57 passes for 827 yards.

Fulmer's urging of prospects that they come onto the campus prepared to play immediately could have been directed to any offensive lineman considering the Vols. Cosey Coleman's decision to turn pro was the unexpected factor in a string of departures that pretty well decimated the front wall. Tackles Chad Clifton and Josh Tucker and center Spencer Riley closed out their eligibility. Fred Weary, a fast-improving junior who began his Tennessee career on defense, could be a future all-star in the line.



Eric Westmoreland and Will Overstreet are forces to be reckoned with and have the potential to score on any loose ball.

DEFENSE

The best is yet to come from Will Overstreet, whose list of accomplishments is impressive but who still has two years remaining in his college career. Overstreet, playing the end opposite big-play leader Shaun Ellis, was overlooked sometimes in defensive reviews until it was noted that he finished the season with 17 1/2 big plays, 7 1/2 of which were quarterback sacks. End is one of several positions on the defense where depth seems assured but reality is that very little of it is a proven commodity. Bernard Jackson, a rawboned junior who had been given a look at linebacker as a freshman, recorded 19 tackles last season in a part-time role at end. DeAngelo Lloyd, Omari Hand and Constantin Ritzmann all bring explosiveness to a corps that in recent seasons has earned a reputation for providing momentum-changing plays.

Everyone knew last season it was just a matter of how much time would elapse before the emergence of John Henderson, one of the most highly-acclaimed defenders to suit up for Tennessee in years. The powerful junior advanced to the first team in a way nobody foresaw or wanted--the injury that ended the career of the courageous Billy Ratliff. Once in the lineup, Henderson served notice he intended to stay there by achieving a level of play that established him as an impact performer. The loss of Ratliff and Darwin Walker cost the tackle position a pair of players who ranked with the best in Vol history. Albert Haynesworth, who had an auspicious debut last season, has a slight experience edge on the well-regarded Rashad Moore. Edward Kendrick moved to defensive tackle after beginning the 1999 season at tight end. He could start. Talent appears to be adequate at tackle, which is more than can be said for experience.

A year ago Vol coaches were looking in every direction for somebody to take over at middle linebacker. It was no simple matter. The eventual choice had the formidable task of replacing the great All-America, Al Wilson. When the smoke cleared, and everybody had been given a shot at it, the job went to a converted tailback, of all people. But the tailback in question, Dominique Stevenson, came armed with a defensive man's temperament. He turned out to be a good choice, compiling statistics that earned him fourth place on the team defensive chart. Stevenson returns for his senior season and will have plenty of reserve strength behind him.

Another returning starter, Eric Westmoreland, bounced back from a late season injury to play in the Fiesta Bowl. A heady player, he has a knack for getting to the football. Westmoreland was one of the Vols' deadliest tacklers, accounting for nine stops behind the line of scrimmage. Like Stevenson, he brings senior cunning to the linebacker position. Anthony Sessions, who came to UT by the junior college route last season, had four sacks among his 28 tackles, an indication of a welcome headhunter savvy. The group of returning lettermen also includes Travis Colston, Andre James, Eddie Moore and Keyon Whiteside. Freshman Robert Peace, a January arrival on campus, had a good spring practice.

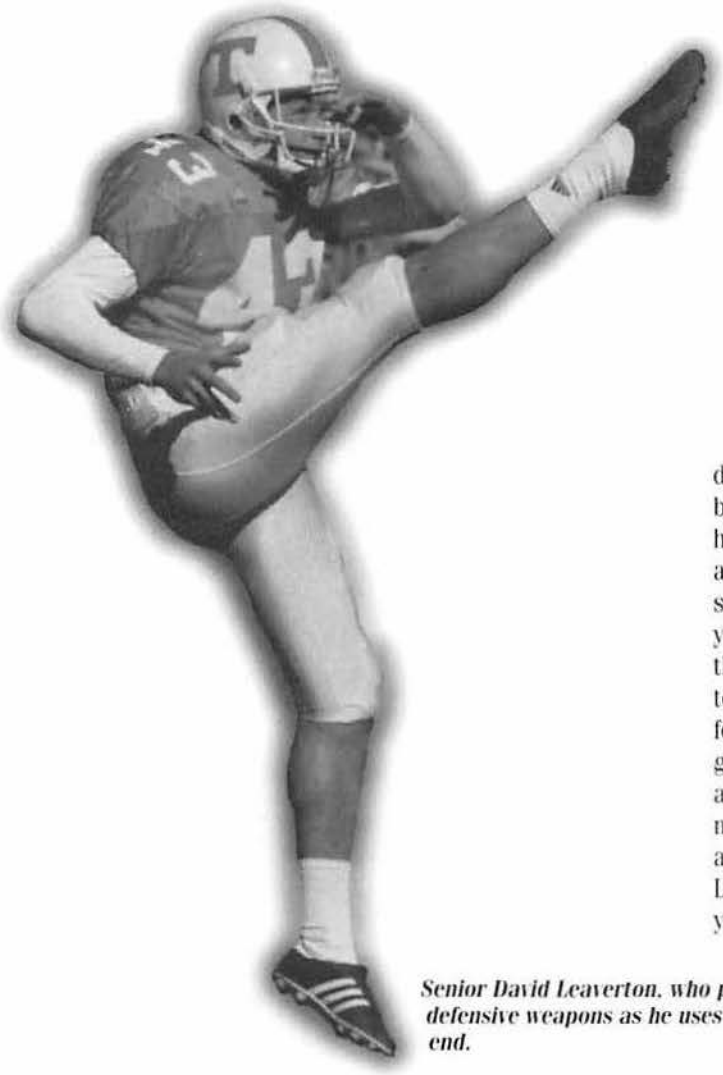
He was a veritable newcomer last year, having barely played enough to letter in 1998. Opponents picked on him early, hoping his inexperience would cost the Vols, but they soon stopped trying that costly tactic. Now Andre Lott comes into his junior season as the only returning starter in the defensive backfield. His 1999 statistics don't give Vol foes much to cheer about. The mild-mannered (off the field) left cornerback tallied 14 big plays, including 10 passes broken up. Lott will be the nucleus for a revamped secondary that must replace starters Fred White, Dwayne Goodrich and Deon Grant.

With both starting safeties gone, defensive coordinator John Chavis and secondary coach Larry Slade are looking for ballhawks. They need people who can roam the field the way Grant did from his free safety slot and stuff the run with the authority Fred White administered from strong safety. The secondary is another area that can use some infusion from the 2000 newcomer class, including spring semester arrival Charles Small. Holdovers hoping to land significant playing time include Maurice Fitzgerald, Teddy Gaines, Tad Golden, Steven Marsh and Willie Miles.

Senior defensive back Andre Lott will be counted on to encourage a youthful secondary.



KICKING GAME

David Leaverton, who has come an amazing distance from the time he was benched as a freshman, has evolved into one of the Vols' steadiest and most dependable weapons. He overcame the momentary setback of being sent to the planks and vowed to do what it took to regain his job. Leaverton comes off a junior season in which he averaged 42.6 yards on 57 punts. His hang time and the Vols' alert special teams coverage combined to leave UT with a net 39.8 yards per punt. Tennessee should also be well represented in the placekicking area, where Alex Walls also returns. Walls took over placement duties last season following an injury suffered early in the year by Robert Loudermilk. He hit 8 of 11 field goals and all but one of 36 extra points. The vital, though unheralded, task of positioning the ball for kicking will be filled by newcomers following the graduation of snapper Kevin Gregory and holder Benson Scott. Return artists Eric Parker (punts) and Leonard Scott (kickoffs) can flat out fly. Parker averaged 9.4 yards last year, while Scott totaled 27.0 per return.

Senior David Leaverton, who punts and kicks off, will be one of Phillip Fulmer's most deadly defensive weapons as he uses his powerful, accurate leg to pin opponents deep in their own end.

A Revamped Offensive Line, Coupled With A New Signal-Caller Point To Early Season Growing Pains

TIGHT ENDS

An experienced, battle-tested tandem could inspire the confidence needed to develop the tight ends into a complementary adjunct for the talented wide receivers brigade. Neil Johnson and John Finlayson are the epitome of team leadership and will do the job they're called on to do, either as receivers or blockers. Both have the strength and speed to pick up needed yardage after the catch. In the past, it has been the blue-collar aspect of the job that has brought out the best in the veteran tight ends. They take as much delight in making a block as they do in becoming the occasional pass target. Johnson, tabbed in the spring for a starting role, comes from a family that boasts two former Vols. Ed Butler, a junior who switched over from defensive tackle, will provide depth.

The Vols receiving corps return 149 of 168 catches from last season with Donté Stallworth (4), David Martin (87) and Eric Parker (80), combining for 66 receptions, 995 yards and four touchdowns.

WIDE RECEIVERS

Cedrick Wilson intends to maintain his status as the Vols' go-to guy in the pass-receiving corps. But his hold on that esteemed designation is none too secure. Not because of any shortcoming on Cedrick's part. Indeed, his 57 catches last season led the team, and his sure-handed touch made him a favorite target of Tee Martin. But Wilson's perch in the catbird's seat is threatened by Donté Stallworth's surge in the last five games of the regular season and a noteworthy bowl performance. And then there are others like dependable Eric Parker and the improved David Martin, both looking for their fair share of the action. Rounding out the corps, not counting new arrivals, are Bobby Graham, Leonard Scott, Burney Veazey and Eric Locke, all with loads of potential.

TACKLES

Vol coaches are scrambling mightily to present an offensive line that can open the door for Travis Henry and mates to showcase their ability as runners. Another pressing duty will be to secure protection and buy time for the inexperienced corps of quarterbacks. Tackle is one of those positions that was hit a severe blow by graduation, losing both starters, Chad Clifton and Josh Tucker. Reggie Coleman, who came on strong as the 1999 season moved along, has the inside track at left tackle. Gifted prospect Will Ofenheusle has the size (6-8, 315) to make his presence known at the

GUARDS

As the only starter returning, junior Fred Weary seems like the grand old man of the offensive line. When you consider that Weary is a convert from the defensive line, his experience, too, is sharply limited. But not his potential. Weary has the makings of an all-star at his left guard assignment. Could this be the year Bernard Gooden finally comes into the picture in a big way? The 315-pound senior will have ample opportunity to prove he deserves the starting assignment at right guard. Scott Wells and Terriea Smalls, up from the redshirt freshman ranks, see the 2000 season as an opportunity to make their mark in the early stages of their Vol careers. Reggie Ridley was transferred from tight end to guard during spring practice. Freshmen will get a long look in fall drills.

CENTERS

Toby Champion, the well-traveled line veteran who has a history of patching holes as they develop on the offensive line, hopes to stake his claim to a full-time job at center. But the competition is something that the wily old-timer will need to meet head-on. Young Anthony Herrera, who sat out while gaining eligibility, will fight for a spot in the offensive front at either center or left tackle. Regardless of who starts in September, the coaching staff's priority will be to develop depth at the position that is the launching spot for every play. Emphasis will be directed to the all-important timing aspect of the job as Tennessee breaks in a new center-quarterback combination.

QUARTERBACKS

A wide-open quarterback derby was the focus of spring practice. Joey Mathews held the pole position, but A.J. Suggs and two new arrivals on campus made it a lively chase. With a year as Tee Martin's backup under his belt, Mathews enjoyed a head start, a situation he enhanced with an impressive showing during March and April workouts. But Suggs, who has been at Tennessee for a year, and newcomers Casey Clausen and John Rattay weren't intimidated. They all made progress, according to coaches, but each retained a commendable desire to soak up as much knowledge as possible. Even Mathews' statistics are skimpy. He saw action in eight games, mostly in a mop-up capacity, and launched only seven passes, three of which were completed.

TAILBACKS

A proven commodity, Travis Henry, depends on continued improvement to earn him the lion's share of carries as the Vols' marquee runner. But beware, Travis. There is a talented speedster behind you, namely Travis Stephens, with designs on cutting into your opportunities. Back from a year as a redshirt, Stephens hopes to regain the form that allowed him to carry the ball 107 times in 1998. But Henry figures to get the first shot when the Vols turn to their ground game. The senior power runner cruised for 790 yards last season for a nifty 6.3 average. Sophomore Kurston Biggers advanced his cause with productive spring work. This is a position where the Vols boast remarkable depth.

FULLBACKS

Will Bartholomew looks on a chance to deliver a crunching block with the same anticipation most runners experience when they find a hole they can slither through. It's full steam ahead when Bartholomew eyes his quarry. And that's a good thing, too, because with an inexperienced line taking the field, the Vols are certainly going to be in need of dedicated blocking emanating from the backfield. The smart and sturdy Bartholomew shared fullback responsibilities last season with the graduated Phillip Crosby. Freshman Troy Fleming will fill out the rotation behind Bartholomew, a 232-pound junior whose grandfather played at Tennessee and whose father was a

DEFENSE

ENDS

Will Overstreet could make as strong an impression at right end this season as the departed Shaun Ellis did a year ago on the left side. In fact, the lethal combination of Ellis and Overstreet in 1999 earned the respect of opponent quarterbacks, who didn't like the sight of the rugged terminals bearing down on them. Overstreet with 17 Big Plays is Tennessee's leading returning lineman from a statistical standpoint. Bernard Jackson, who arrived on the scene two years ago highly touted out of his home state of Kentucky, will have a chance to make his mark as Ellis' replacement at left end. As backup last season, Jackson rang up a promising assortment of Big Plays. Omari Hand, DeAngelo Lloyd and Constantin Ritzmann return, each with high quality credentials. Short on experience, but long on aggressiveness, summarizes the outlook at end.

TACKLES

Graduation struck a savage blow, claiming standouts Billy Ratliff and Darwin Walker from the tackle ranks. But John Henderson's return will send opponents scurrying to their playbooks in search of an antidote.

Henderson, who turned into a destructive force for last year's defense when he became a regular, should deliver more devastation in 2000. The 6-7, 290-pounder, who took over at left tackle when Ratliff was injured, started the last eight games including the Fiesta Bowl. He was credited with 43 tackles and 11 Big Plays. Henderson unleashed his exceptional talent in an eye-catching spring practice, an indication he will be tough to deal with this fall. Edward Kendrick, a transfer from tight end, slipped through the pack to become the likely starter at the other tackle. Albert Haynesworth, at 6-6, 310 pounds presents a fearsome physical presence. Rashad Moore and Kevin Young are positioned for top reserve service.

LINEBACKERS

Two years in a row Tennessee has bid goodbye to an All-America linebacker, Al Wilson after the 1998 national championship season and Raynoch Thompson last year. Two starters from a strong defense return at linebacker, leaving one spot open, but with a promising replacement poised to take over. Anthony Sessions fought off all challengers to enter the fall as the probable starter at right linebacker. He will be joined on the first unit by two other seniors, Eric Westmoreland on the left and Dominique Stevenson in the middle. Westmoreland is a budding all-star who ended last season as the Vols' third-leading returning tackler despite missing the Kentucky and Vanderbilt games. A former running back, Stevenson won the middle linebacker slot a year ago and then validated his selection by logging 65 tackles with 14.5 Big Plays. Andre James, who gave Sessions a run for his money, is a well-regarded reserve as are Keyon Whiteside, Eddie Moore, Travis Colston and Robert Peace.

CORNERBACKS

When Andre Lott looks around the Vols secondary, he may be struck with a feeling of loneliness. He won't find Dwayne Goodrich, Deon Grant and Fred White, the mainstays of the secondary the last two years. Lott will suddenly feel like the team's grizzled veteran even though the 2000 season will be only his second as a regular. With losses caused by graduation or defection to the NFL, Lott is the only returnee with appreciable playing time as part of his record in the secondary. Andre, whom opponents picked on in the early going last year because of his youth, learned the job quickly out of an instinct for survival. Now he is the wily old-timer, an accomplished defensive back who will start at left cornerback and try to lead the way for his untested colleagues. Lott's 45 tackles could be a goal for Teddy Gaines to match in his first season as a regular at right cornerback. When spring work ended, Gaines was fending off a challenge from another junior, Willie Miles. Junior college graduate Charles Small expects to back up Lott on the left side.

STRONG SAFETIES

Steven Marsh, a hard-hitting, 180-pound sophomore, could be in line for a starting assignment at strong safety. Steven is aware his previous experience is almost non-existent, a situation which makes it mandatory he bone up every way he can between spring practice and the beginning of the season. Last year he had a grand total of four tackles, three of which came on special teams play. Buck Fitzgerald, a junior hoping to earn significant playing time, is tabbed to back up Marsh and will make a bid for the starting job if Marsh falters. Strong safety is a position that will call for on-the-job training, which is not exactly the way coaches like it in a risky area like the secondary.

FREE SAFETIES

Coming out of spring practice, Tad Golden was the man with the edge at another critical position in the defense. Bothered by injuries last season, Tad could look back to his true freshman season, 1998, as an indicator of his potential. Given a start at free safety for the Kentucky game, Golden responded with a yeoman performance: eight tackles against the blue-clad foes. The productive afternoon stamped Golden as a man on the rise. But a foot injury slowed his progress last year, setting the stage for his emergence with an outstanding spring practice. The secondary is an area where new arrivals should take heart because they have a realistic chance of landing playing time their first season at Tennessee.

KICKING

Returning To Anchor Tennessee's Special Teams Are A Proven Punter In David Leaverton And A Capable Placekicker In Alex Walls

David Leaverton has overcome the disappointment of a freshman season in which he struggled and now has become one of the most consistent punters in the Southeastern Conference and the nation. In three seasons at Tennessee, Leaverton has steadily improved his punting average, from 36.4, to 38.9 to 42.6 last year. With the regular placekicker's injury early last season, David also took over kickoff duties. The maturing of the lanky Texan has been one of the key factors in the Vols' improved overall kicking game. Alex Walls took over as placekicker for field goals and extra points after two games last year. Walls responded by connecting on eight of 11 field goal tries and 35 of 36 extra point kicks. But the strong-legged sophomore faces a challenge from two other promising kickers, transfer Christian Chauvin and redshirt freshman Steven Lee. Wide receiver Eric Parker will again return punts after posting a 9.4 average last season. Speedy sophomore Leonard Scott will draw a similar assignment on kickoffs. He averaged 27 yards for the 1999 Vols. Junior Dan Stacey is listed as the deep snapper, and sophomore Seth Reagan will hold for placements.

First meeting with Louisiana-Monroe

Tennessee plays its first game ever against Louisiana-Monroe, formerly known as Northeast Louisiana. The Vols are 24-4-3 against teams from the state of Louisiana, 18-3-3 against LSU, 1-0-0 against Louisiana-Lafayette, formerly Southwest Louisiana, 1-0-0 against Louisiana Tech and 4-1-0 against Tulane.

Adelphia Coliseum Site for Vanderbilt Game

The Vols and Vanderbilt will square off this season at Adelphia Stadium in Nashville, a departure from the traditional site in even-numbered years at Vanderbilt Stadium/Dudley Field. The Vols have played in the past in professional stadiums in Boston (Fenway Park), East Rutherford, N.J. (Meadowlands), New York (Yankee Stadium), Anaheim (Anaheim Stadium), Miami (Orange Bowl and Pro Player Stadium), Tempe (Fiesta Bowl), New Orleans (Sugar Bowl and Louisiana Superdome), Atlanta (Atlanta Stadium and Georgia Dome), Dallas (Cotton Bowl), Tampa (Tampa Stadium), Jacksonville (Gator Bowl), Houston (Rice Stadium, Astrodome), Los Angeles (Los Angeles Coliseum), Memphis (Liberty Bowl), Nashville (Vanderbilt Stadium), Birmingham (Legion Field).

Renewal of LSU series

Tennessee and LSU renew their rivalry this season in Baton Rouge and in 2001 in Knoxville. The Vols last played the Bengal Tigers in Baton Rouge in 1992, a 20-0 win, and in Knoxville in 1993, a 42-20 Vol win. The Vols lead the series 18-3-3, dating to the first game in 1925.

Weary, Lott, Leaverton Started Every Game Last Season

Returning starters Fred Weary, Andre Lott and David Leaverton started every game in the 1999 season.

All Quarters, Every Game

Tight end John Finlayson and Neil Johnson are returning Vols who played in every quarter of every game in 1999.

Nashville Vols

Games on grass

The Vols will play every game on grass this season. Furthermore, no SEC team has an artificial turf with all 12 schools now playing on natural grass.

Fulmer Meets The Press

▶ON SPRING PRACTICE

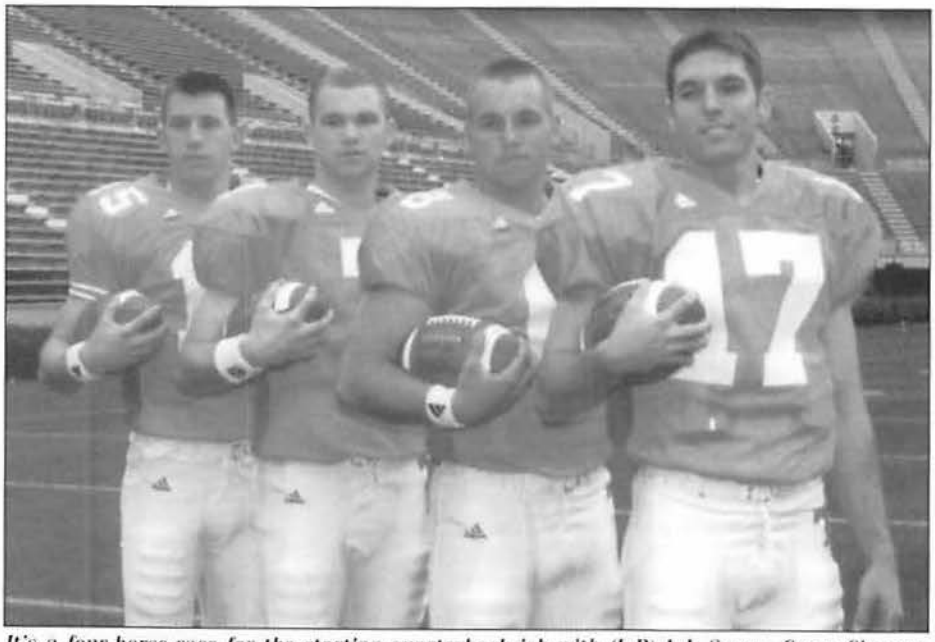
"We made progress from where we started to where we finished. Considering the number of losses we had from graduation or early departure for the NFL, you could say we definitely showed progress, but we were short from a talent standpoint at some positions."

▶ON CHARACTERIZING SPRING TEMPO

"We had a very physical program by design. We challenged the quarterbacks with a lot of looks, again by design. We became a more physical football team, but are we where we need to be to win in the Southeastern Conference? Not yet. We are not there at this time."

▶ON EMPHASIS FOR SUMMER

"This summer we need to close the gap from a physical standpoint. That will be very important, and I expect our team to have its best summer ever at the University of Tennessee."



It's a four-horse-race for the starting quarterback job with (L-R) A.J. Suggs, Casey Clausen, Joey Mathews and John Rattay each battling for playing time.

▶ON QUARTERBACK JOEY MATHEWS

"We came out of spring practice still locked in a four-horse race at quarterback. The leader of the pack is Joey Mathews, who showed that he understands our offense and can run it. Joey can find the second receiver and make the tough throws. His huddle demeanor was good, and so was his effort to lead the offense."

▶ON OTHER QUARTERBACKS

"A.J. Suggs made a considerable amount of improvement during the spring, especially from the standpoint of his arm strength. He has the best general knowledge of handling our running game. I was extremely impressed with our two new freshmen, Casey Clausen and John Rattay. They both showed flashes of being able to play at this early stage of their careers. They have an air of confidence and maturity that is unusual for their age. I am encouraged about our quarterback situation."

▶ON OFFENSIVE NEED

"We need to find a way to get the ball into the hands of our playmakers. I am not sure we can do that on a consistent basis in the passing game yet, or how much we can ask the young quarterbacks to do."

▶ON TRAVIS STEPHENS' RETURN

"Holding him out last year was one of the best things we did. He teams with Travis Henry to give us a nice one-two punch at tailback. He is a darter who can make good plays for the offense. Stephens worked out during the winter with the track team and has even gained a step of speed."

▶ON OFFENSIVE LINE

"The offensive line needs time to gel, but we don't have any time for that. That's a concern. We have pushed hard to get our linemen ready. Fred Weary has become potentially as fine an offensive lineman as we have had in some time, and that's saying a lot. Will Ofenheusle took a giant step in the right direction. He has the physical tools. There's still a fight going on at center between Toby Champion and Scott Wells. Reggie Coleman can be outstanding when he matures. Right guard is still unsettled."

▶ON JOHN HENDERSON'S POTENTIAL

"He can be a dominant player. He took coaching very well and helped the defensive line make valuable progress. He improved himself physically and in technique."

▶ON DEFENSIVE ENDS

"We need Will Overstreet to be healthy. If he's 100 percent physically, he will give us good play because of his speed, quickness and the intensity he takes into the game. Bernard Jackson has the speed and quickness to be outstanding at the other end, but he needs to become stronger. He needs to understand the weight room is where he needs to be to reach his potential."

▶ON OPEN LINEBACKER JOB

"You look for guys who can give you something special, whether it's speed, quickness and strength, or just the knack to make plays. Anthony Sessions is a guy who has that special knack. He gets around the football. He has areas to improve on from a fundamental and discipline standpoint, but I am sure he and the coaches can get it done."

▶ON ANDRE LOTT'S ROLE

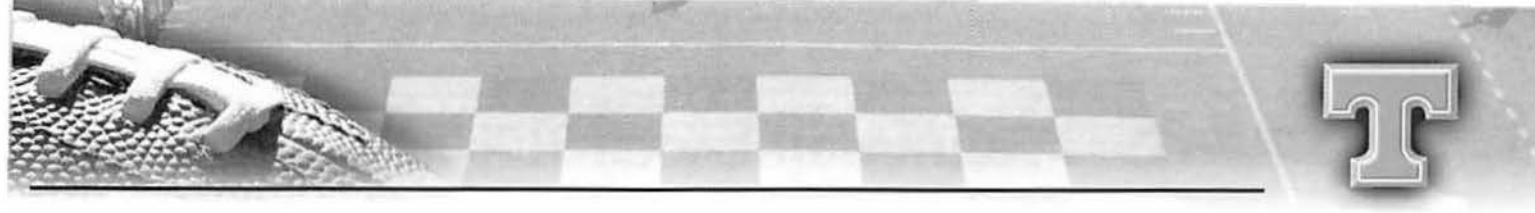
"Andre had an excellent spring and proved last year he can play in the Southeastern Conference. As he continues to master the finer points of playing in the defensive backfield, whether at corner or safety, I think he will be a real impact player."

▶ON DAVID LEAVERTON'S VALUE

"David has shown maturity as a punter even though he didn't get to kick much in the spring because of a broken wrist. We hope he takes up where he left off last year with his ability to help us control field position."

▶ON BEING READY FOR OPENING GAME

"We've got to be ready. We don't have any choice. Southern Mississippi and Florida in our first two games will be a great challenge. If we have the great summer we need, come back healthy for two-a-days and put some freshmen into positions where they can help, we have an opportunity to be ready. But we've got to hit the ground running when we start in the fall."



"There isn't a position on the field where our newcomers can't help us. They need to come in here in great shape and be ready to make an impact. We need them to be ready for the opening game. We don't have any choice. We've got to hit the ground running when we start in the fall."

▶ON GOOD SURPRISES IN SPRING PRACTICE

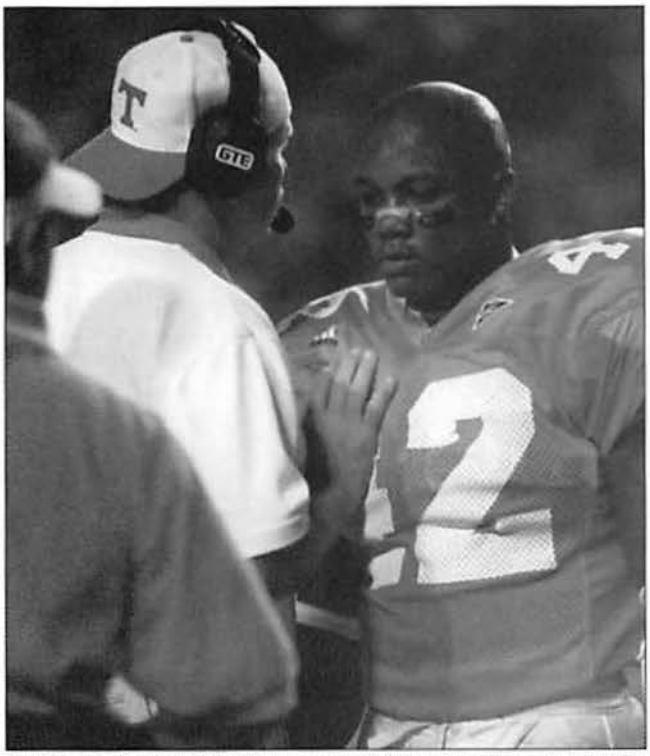
"I was pleased with how Neil Johnson has taken to being a leader and the way he's played at tight end. He did exceptionally well. David Martin at wide receiver accelerated his play and took on the role of leader with our offense. Troy Fleming made considerable progress at fullback, and that was a big plus. Eddie Moore at linebacker took a big step to be able to help. Edward Kendrick at defensive tackle might be the biggest surprise in taking on the role of being a contributor if not a starter. Others must come forward for us to be as good as we can be."

▶ON DISAPPOINTMENTS

"Because our practices were so physical, we had a number of players who missed important work. Some of the younger ones like Kevin Young and Constantin Ritzmann needed every repetition they could get, but really got very little practice time. That is a concern as we head into the fall."

▶ON DEVELOPING LEADERSHIP

"Our heavy losses left us lacking somewhat from a leadership standpoint, which is something that concerns me greatly. But players like Eric Westmoreland, Cedrick Wilson and Will Bartholomew worked to diminish that huge void."



Senior linebacker Eric Westmoreland has stepped up to provide needed leadership.

Phillip Fulmer heads into his eighth full season as the nation's winningest active football coach with a record of 76-14 for an .844 winning percentage.

▶ON HELP FROM NEWCOMERS

"There isn't a position on the field where they can't help us. The secondary is an obvious opportunity with six players gone from last year's team. We signed five or six newcomers to help fill those spots. They need to come in here in great shape and be ready to make an impact. Robert Peace showed in spring practice he can help us at linebacker. The two quarterbacks who came here last winter worked hard to be starters or backups. The offensive line has openings in it. I would like for a receiver to come in here and be dynamic."

CHAMPS "Program of Excellence"

Challenging Athletes Minds for Personal Success

The CHAMPS program helps student-athletes realize higher academic achievement and increases the likelihood of retention. Student-athletes graduate and enter a chosen profession with a higher level of vision, maturity, knowledge, motivation, and greater overall success.

Components:

ACADEMICS: The Tennessee Athletics Department provides a total program of academic assistance.

ATHLETICS: The Tennessee Athletics Department administers an athletics program that dedicates itself to the well-being of the student-athlete.

CAREER DEVELOPMENT: The Tennessee Athletics Department provides a support program that prepares student-athletes for matriculation from the university and athletics into the work force.

PERSONAL DEVELOPMENT: The Tennessee Athletics Department provides information that enhances the development of student-athletes personally, socially, and fundamentally.

COMMUNITY SERVICE: The Tennessee Athletics Department provides the student-athlete with community service opportunities that improve self-esteem and strengthens the relationship between student-athletes and the community.

CHAMPS "Program of Excellence" Award Winner

It might not quite be another national championship per se, but don't let that fool you. The Tennessee CHAMPS/LifeSkills program was recently honored with the Program of Excellence Award from the NCAA. The award is given annually to any school that displays excellence in meeting the five components of a student-athlete's total development: academic, athletic, career, personal and community service.

Men's Program Director, Vincent Martin, is proud that Tennessee's commitment to the total development of the student-athlete has finally been recognized.

"I consider the UT Athletic Department one of the best in the country at providing support to student-athletes," Martin said. "This award recognizes what we've been doing. It gives people the opportunity to realize that these things are being done for student-athletes."

The award was based on the combined efforts of the men's and women's student life offices. Both had to produce volumes of information detailing their support systems in place for student-athletes.

While achieving tremendous success, Martin does not appear to be falling into complacency. He pointed to several areas of the Life Skills program he hopes Tennessee can improve upon such as better relationships in the community and better job opportunities for graduates.

In the meantime, it is clear that Martin and the rest of the Tennessee family have constructed a healthy and productive program that prepares student-athletes for life after college.

UT'S SPECIAL NEEDS PROGRAM

The Special Needs Program is a comprehensive academic support program which assists student-athletes who have disabilities (physical, psychological and learning) or who are academically "at risk" and in need of remediation skills. All student-athletes who have official disability diagnosis documentation from a psychologist, physician, audiologist, or learning specialist are eligible to participate in the program.

UT'S RENEWING ACADEMIC COMMITMENTS (RAC) PROGRAM

The Renewing Academic Commitments program is geared towards athletes who have exhausted their eligibility or left school to join the professional ranks prior to graduation. It was created to facilitate the reentry of former student-athletes who would like to complete their degrees.

TYLER JOHNSON
Associate Director of Student Life

TENNESSEE STUDENT LIFE AND ACADEMIC SUPPORT

At the University of Tennessee, we are committed to the "student" in student-athlete. Collegiate athletes devote enormous time and energy to practice and perfect their athletic skills and abilities. Our goal is to provide the environment where the same energy and drive can be applied to academic accomplishments and personal growth.

In today's challenging academic environment, success includes developing solid study habits, excelling in the classroom, fine-tuning one's writing abilities and honing resume and life skills. Such achievements build together to prepare students for graduation and the ultimate challenge of the working world.

Balancing such endeavors with the tough demands of being a collegiate athlete is a challenge for even the most disciplined student-athlete. A solid student life program is key to providing our athletes with an opportunity for academic and personal success.

The new Thornton Athletics Student Life Center features state-of-the-art computer labs, individual and classroom tutorial labs, a writing center, and special facilities for the learning disabled. This Center will forever change the face of the Athletics Student Life program at the University of Tennessee.

Eli Jones, Alex Walls, Ed Butler, Troy Fleming, Jermaine Kent, Phillip Crosby, John Finlayson, Gerald Griffin and Mikki Allen visit the Children's Hospital as part of Tennessee's community service program.

The Thornton Athletics Student Life Center will greatly improve the learning environment for Tennessee student-athletes.

"Collegiate athletes face tough demands athletically, academically and socially. It is our responsibility to provide each player with the opportunity to succeed as an athlete, a student and a person. The Thornton Center will allow our athletes to work and learn in a first class environment."

-Phillip Fulmer, Head Football Coach

"As a fan, cheering Tennessee athletes and their teams has been a true honor and thrill for me. Like thousands of other Tennesseans, I love the University of Tennessee. As loud as we cheer for Big Orange touchdowns and 3-point baskets, we need to have a constant chant for academic encouragement. Tennessee needs to do its best to provide academic assistance to the young men and women who participate in athletics. Few of our student athletes will benefit from large professional contracts; all of them will benefit from the educational opportunities offered by the new Athletics Student Life Center."

Phillip Fulmer

Head Football Coach

Phillip Fulmer in his eighth season as head coach of the Tennessee Vols continued to add to the list of accomplishments that have placed him in the top ranks of his profession.

First and most important to fans of the Vols has been his status as the nation's No. 1 coach in terms of winning percentage. Tennessee's 9-3 record in 1999 against a schedule rated among the toughest in major college football maintained Fulmer's won-lost ratio margin as No. 1 compared with his peers.

But it was off the field that Fulmer last November received one of the most prestigious and personally satisfying honors that can come to a man in the field of athletics. A blue-ribbon panel of judges named Fulmer the second annual winner of the State Farm Eddie Robinson Coach of Distinction Award. Penn State's venerable Joe Paterno was the previous recipient.

Named after famed Grambling coach Eddie Robinson, the award honors an active college football coach who demonstrates the qualities that exemplify Coach Robinson's legacy--a role model and mentor to students and players, an active member of the community and an accomplished coach.

Beginning with the 1992 season, Tennessee teams under Fulmer have compiled a record of 76 wins against 14 losses for a percentage of .844. When the Vols defeated Vanderbilt Nov. 27, they became the fifth straight Tennessee team to win at least nine games in a season.

History buffs familiar with the Tennessee heritage also noted that Fulmer, on the day UT beat Kentucky, became the Vol coach with the distinction of reaching the 75-victory milestone at the earliest point in his career.

An accepted measure of a program's success, its position in national polls, has also been a testimonial to Fulmer's sure hand at the helm. After the bowl games that ended the 1999 season, the Vols had been ranked continuously in the top 10 for their last 54 games. Their ninth-place finish in both polls marked the fifth straight year UT has ended the season ranked in the top 10.

In 1999, Tennessee made a valiant effort to add to its string of two Southeastern Conference championships and the 1998 national title, winding up in the Fiesta Bowl as part of the Bowl Championship Series.

Fulmer's brilliant coaching record includes these accomplishments:

▶ A record of 54-8 from 1995 through 1999.

▶ A total of 79 academic All-SEC players the last five years, including 15 in 1999.

▶ The first Tennessee team ever to post 13 victories in a single season, a record in 1998 that included a Southeastern Conference Championship and a Fiesta Bowl win for the national title.

▶ A record of 45-5 from 1995 through 1998, the most victories over a four-year span in the school's history.

▶ Five consecutive seasons of nine victories or more from 1995 through 1999.

▶ Reaching the 50-victory mark earlier in his career than any coach in Southeastern Conference history.

The Vol coach deflects credit for his achievements by pointing to others who have been by his side during the golden years of Tennessee football. "None of these things would have happened without the dedicated players who love this university the same way I do," Fulmer said. "And certainly much of the credit belongs to our hard-working assistant coaches and to the fans who loyally support us."

FULMER'S MILESTONE VICTORIES

WIN	DATE	SITE	OPPONENT	SCORE
1	Sept. 5, 1992	Knoxville	Southwestern Louisiana	38-3
25	Sept. 23, 1995	Knoxville	Mississippi State	52-14
50	Nov. 8, 1997	Knoxville	Southern Mississippi	44-20
75	Nov. 20, 1999	Lexington	Kentucky	56-21

Fulmer reached his 75th victory in his 88th game as head coach, joining an elite group of coaches to reach 75 wins under 90 games.

Fulmer's record becomes all the more remarkable because of the rugged gauntlet of opponents faced by the Vols. Tennessee's schedule is ranked among the toughest in the nation in a variety of ratings. In addition to the demanding SEC schedule, the Vols stray far from home to meet such traditional national powerhouses as Notre Dame, UCLA and Syracuse.

Notching two straight SEC titles in 1997 and 1998 carried special meaning for Fulmer, the 49-year old native of Winchester, Tenn., who played in the offensive line for the Vols and then came back as an assistant coach before being promoted to head coach in 1992. "Winning championships is always a goal when you're coaching football," Fulmer said.

Fulmer, who served 13 years as a Vol assistant beginning in 1980, is number 20 in a line of Tennessee head coaches that began with the incumbency of J.A. Pierce at the turn of the century. The decision to elevate Phillip came five seasons after he was appointed assistant head coach and three seasons after he became offensive coordinator. Long recognized as a molder of premier offensive lines and as a relentless recruiter, Fulmer smoothly made the necessary transition that marks the differences between the duties of a top assistant coach and the man at the head of the program, with his offensive, defensive and kicking game consistently ranking at or near the top of the SEC and national statistics.

During Fulmer's years as offensive coordinator, the Vols consistently broke team total offense records and were ranked one or two in the SEC. Records have fallen with even greater frequency since he became head coach. While serving as offensive line coach, he saw 17 of his charges join the ranks of the NFL, including two first round picks, Antone Davis and Charles McRae. Year after year with Fulmer as head coach, Tennessee continues to stand in the top ranks of college football for graduating players who go on to careers in the professional game. Recent examples include quarterback Peyton Manning, running backs Aaron Hayden, James Stewart and Jay Graham, linebacker Al Wilson and defensive back Terry Fair.

Tennessee head coach Phillip Fulmer, the nation's winningest active coach, has guided the Volunteers to a 54-8 mark over the last five years, while winning a national championship along with two Southeastern Conference titles in 1997 and 1998.

Aware that Saturday afternoons are the most important factor in any coach's career report card, Fulmer regards development of good citizenship attitudes as compatible and consistent with team goals. Off-field and on-field achievements should go hand-in-hand, he feels.

He considers such experiences essential to the education process of Vol football players. "It helps the players become more accountable, more responsible," Fulmer said. "There are many good things that can be done. I think it's our responsibility to provide our players the opportunity for community service and community involvement."

Three decades ago, Fulmer was a competent blocker on three UT teams that ended their seasons gracing holiday bowl extravaganzas. He served as a team captain his senior year. Phillip spent the next year as a graduate student assistant.

As an offensive guard, Fulmer helped Tennessee to a 30-5 record from 1969-71. The Vols captured the SEC championship with a 9-2 record in 1969, went 11-1 and won the Sugar Bowl in 1970, and finished as the Liberty Bowl champions with a 10-2 record in 1971, a season which ended Fulmer's playing career. Fulmer began coaching as a graduate assistant in 1972. He served as linebacker coach and defensive coordinator for the Tennessee freshman team in 1973 and moved on to Wichita State the following season.

At the time Tennessee hired him, Fulmer was employed at Vanderbilt University as an aide to Commodore head coach George Macintyre. Before landing in Nashville, he had spent five years at Wichita State, where he coached the offensive line in 1974, 1977-78, and served as linebacker coach in 1975 and 1976.

Fulmer is an avid civic booster, serving on such boards of directors as Boys and Girls Clubs, the Jason Foundation, American Football Coaches Association and Child and Family services.

This past spring, Fulmer was the recipient of the Brotherhood/Sisterhood Award of the National Conference for Community and Justice. It was the most recent recognition of Fulmer's outstanding civic leadership, which now includes heading up the Phillip Fulmer Golf Tournament benefitting the Boys and Girls Club of Knoxville.

Fulmer is married to the former Vicky Morey and has four children: Phillip, Jr., Courtney, Brittany and Allison.

John Chavis

Assistant Head Coach

Defensive Coordinator

Linebackers

Promoted to defensive coordinator at Tennessee in 1995, John Chavis has gradually ascended into the elite atmosphere reserved for the top achievers in his profession.

Chavis has gained recognition as a defensive guru the old-fashioned way, by building hard-nosed teams that have helped Phillip Fulmer's Vols squads rank among the stingiest in college football.

Five members of Chavis' 1999 defensive unit nabbed first-team All-Southeastern Conference honors - end Shaun Ellis, tackle Darwin Walker, linebacker Raynoch Thompson, cornerback Dwayne Goodrich and free safety Deon Grant. The fact none of the quintet returns will undoubtedly keep Chavis busier than usual in preparing for the 2000 season.

After the national championship season of 1998, Chavis was named the SEC's outstanding linebacker coach. Tennessee's defense led the SEC in 1996, was third in 1997, second in 1998 and third in 1999.

In addition to serving Fulmer with linebackers and the overall defense, Chavis in 1999 was named assistant head coach.

Chavis has divided his responsibilities between the defensive line and the linebacker corps since returning to his alma mater 10 years ago. In 1989 John spent his time with the defensive line. Then in 1990, to help accommodate additions to the defensive staff, he made the switch to linebacker coach. In recognition of Chavis' experience, technical knowledge and fighting temperament, Fulmer promoted him to defensive coordinator before the 1995 season.

Before coming to Tennessee, Chavis had been defensive coordinator at Alabama A&M, leading the Division II school to the best defensive record in the nation. The Bulldogs ranked first in total defense in 1987 and 1988.

Chavis came to UT as a walk-on defensive lineman and was later granted a scholarship on the basis of his scrappy play at middle guard and tackle. He lettered in 1977 and 1978 and received his degree from the College of Education in 1979. Chavis is a native of Dillon, S.C.

Before taking the defensive coordinator job at Alabama A&M, Chavis coached as a graduate assistant at Tennessee in 1979, as defensive line coach in an earlier stint at Alabama A&M from 1980 to 1983 and then as defensive line coach and defensive coordinator at Alabama State in Montgomery in 1984 and 1985.

He and his wife, Diane Crisp Chavis, are parents of two boys, John and Jason

Randy Sanders

Assistant Football Coach

Offensive Coordinator

Quarterbacks

Randy Sanders, who debuted as Tennessee's offensive coordinator with the 1998 national championship victory over Florida State, is into his second full season directing the Vols' attack for Coach Phillip Fulmer.

As quarterbacks coach, Sanders faces a different set of concerns than he did last year when the Tee Martin-led Vols rolled to a 9-2 regular season record and a Bowl Championship Series slot in the Fiesta Bowl.

With All-Southeastern Conference first-team Martin graduated, Sanders was immersed in the task of developing a signal-caller who could take over against Southern Mississippi in the 2000 season opener.

Randy was named offensive coordinator after the 1998 season when David Cutcliffe resigned to accept the head coaching job at Ole Miss. Fulmer subsequently changed Sanders' position assignment from running backs to quarterbacks.

Sanders has held a variety of jobs on the Tennessee staff, including a couple of years as a graduate assistant before moving into a full-time position. He also served as Fulmer's recruiting coordinator for five seasons starting in 1994. He oversaw an operation in which Tennessee placed high according to national rating systems each year.

Sanders' assignment with running backs starting in 1993 followed two seasons in which he worked as wide receivers coach.

Randy was named as a full-time assistant in 1991. Vol coaches had already observed him enough to set high expectations for his development. They had coached him over a five-year period, including a redshirt season, and then watched his work for two more years as a volunteer coach on the Vol staff.

Sanders came to Tennessee in 1984 from nearby Morristown as one of the most heralded quarterbacks produced in the state, having nabbed both All-State and All-Southern honors. Randy worked hard in the classroom--four times winning Southeastern Conference Academic All-Star honors--and earned his degree in 1987 at a time he still had a year of eligibility. After electing to pass up his final season of play, he was persuaded by the coaching staff to give it one more shot in order to give the Vols some needed depth.

Sanders lettered for a fourth time in 1988 and stayed around two years as volunteer coach, working with quarterbacks under Jim Hofher in 1989 and Cutcliffe in 1990.

Mike Barry

Assistant Football Coach

Offensive Line

Tennessee offensive line chief Mike Barry this season faces a huge rebuilding assignment, but nothing his long experience in coaching won't allow him to handle successfully.

In the two years he has served on Phillip Fulmer's staff, he has produced offensive lines that have been acclaimed as ranking among the best in college football.

But it's a different kettle of fish Barry must contend with in 2000. With Fred Weary the lone returning starter, the offensive line will look vastly different from the one that last season enabled the Vols to blend running and passing in a winning combination.

Barry was born in the New York borough of Brooklyn, but left Flatbush early in life, winding up in the Midwest where he went through high school at Fenwick Prep in Oak Park, Ill. His collegiate days were divided between Nebraska and Southern Illinois. After three seasons with the Salukis, Mike graduated and began his coaching career.

After a stint at Carbondale, Ill., High School he coached successively at Southern Illinois, Arizona, Iowa State, Colorado and Southern California, sandwiched around two years he spent in the United States Football League.

He was a member of the Colorado staff under Bill McCartney when the Buffaloes won the national championship in 1990.

For his work with Tennessee's national championship team in 1998, Barry received an award as the Southeastern Conference's outstanding offensive line coach.

Barry had been at Southern California for five years when Fulmer offered him a post with the Vols.

In his spare time, Barry has earned a reputation as a green-thumbed gardener, whose landscaping and flower nurturing have been the subject of newspaper acclaim.

He is married to former Sherry Wallace.

Mark Bradley

Assistant Football Coach

Tight Ends

Assistant Offensive Line

With the arrival of the millennium and Tennessee's appearance in the Fiesta Bowl last January, Mark Bradley closed out the first season of his fourth decade in the coaching profession.

You need to go all the way back to 1968 to find a football season when Bradley wasn't decked out in coaching togs. That fall 32 years ago, Mark was winding up his playing career at Samford University in Birmingham.

As Tennessee's tight ends coach and assisting Mike Barry with the rest of the offensive line, Bradley relies on his considerable experience to fill an important role as Phillip Fulmer's Vol staff.

Over the length of his career Mark has brought his coaching skills to four high schools and to four universities, including Tennessee where he has been a member of the staff since 1990.

An important part of his contribution at Tennessee has been the fruits of his work as a recruiter. His sincerity of presentation to prospects reflects his commitment to UT and his lifelong love of the game of football.

Mark's thorough understanding of the coaching profession, encompassing a wide variety of perspectives, traces partly to more than a decade he spent as a high school coach before moving into college ranks.

A native of Huntsville, Ala., Bradley enrolled at Samford about the same time the Birmingham school changed its name from Howard College and took on university status. His job at W.A. Berry High School began a series of high school positions that took him through the next decade, leading to his introduction to college coaching in 1980.

Vanderbilt launched Mark's college coaching career. Then came subsequent stops at Cincinnati, Rice and Vanderbilt again, from 1986 to 1989.

Married to the former Dale Sanderson, Bradley is the father of Beth and Rusty.

Dan Brooks

Assistant Football Coach

Defensive Line

Recruiting Coordinator

Tennessee defensive line coach Dan Brooks, who wears two hats on Phillip Fulmer's staff, may have to rely more than is customary this season on the success he has achieved as the Vols recruiting chief.

Graduation losses riddled the line, which has been a primary force in placing Tennessee in the forefront of Southeastern Conference and national defensive rankings. Brooks is looking for some hardy youngsters yearning for an early baptism of fire on football Saturdays.

A measure of Fulmer's confidence in Brooks came after the 1998 season when he designated Dan to take on additional duties as the Vols' recruiting coordinator as successor to Randy Sanders, who had moved to offensive coordinator.

Brooks' previous experience as a coach included stints at Florida and North Carolina. Now at the age of 49, the North Carolina native still has the zest for football he experienced when he was given his first job, at Western Carolina in 1975.

A graduate of Western Carolina, Brooks received a master's degree from Florida. He coached at Western Carolina, Kings Mountain, N.C., High School and Florida before going to work for Mack Brown at North Carolina in 1988.

In 1990, the North Carolina defense set a school record by registering 45 sacks, of which 19 were by the defensive line. In Brooks' final season before coming to Tennessee, the Tar Heels led the Atlantic Coast Conference in sacks with 38. The 1995 Vols recorded an SEC-leading 42 sacks, a school record. The 1996 Orange posted another school mark, 83 tackles for loss. The national championship team of 1998 broke up a record 60 passes.

Brooks, after the 1998 national championship season at UT, was awarded recognition as the Southeastern Conference's outstanding defensive line coach.

Married to the former Kathy Whitaker, Brooks has two children, Tara and Rhett.

Steve Caldwell

Assistant Football Coach

Defensive Ends

Steve Caldwell, under whose direction Tennessee defensive ends have accumulated impressive sack statistics, anticipates further assaults on the Vol record book in 2000.

But entering his sixth season on Phillip Fulmer's coaching staff, Caldwell needs to launch a rebuilding project before the sack attack can be renewed at full blast.

Shaun Ellis' departure left a serious void in Vol terminal ranks. A two-year regular at left end, Shaun was a menacing defensive force for Caldwell. The other starter last year, Will Overstreet, returns for his junior season.

Fulmer, who had worked with Caldwell when Steve was a graduate assistant coach on the Tennessee staff in 1990, brought Steve back before the start of the 1995 season. Caldwell was rewarded in his first season when the ends played a giant part in Tennessee's record sack production.

A dean's list student at Arkansas State, Caldwell played four years of football for the Indians as a defensive end and linebacker. His first taste of coaching came over the next three seasons at his alma mater, from 1978 through 1980. From Jonesboro, Caldwell moved on to Northwest (Miss.) Community College where he coached the offensive line for four seasons.

Next he came back to Arkansas State, coaching linebackers under head coach Larry Lacewell during a notable period of success for the Indians. Subsequent jobs took him to Tennessee, Pacific and Nevada-Reno, the latter school as defensive coordinator for the 1994 Big West Conference champions. Caldwell coached briefly at Ole Miss before accepting Fulmer's entreaty to join the Vols.

Woody McCorvey

Assistant Football Coach

Running Backs

Coaching veteran Woody McCorvey deftly balanced the complementary skills of Travis Henry and Jamal Lewis last season to forge a running game that was instrumental in Tennessee's top 10 rank in the national polls.

With two other McCorvey charges, fullback Phillip Crosby and Will Bartholomew, opening up the running lanes with their blocking, Henry and Lewis combined for 1606 yards as the Vols' one-two punch at tailback.

Phillip Fulmer is counting on McCorvey to utilize the wisdom and expertise he has acquired in 28 years of coaching to produce similarly happy results in 2000. McCorvey's first order of business will be to find replacements for the departed Lewis and Crosby. Returnees at tailback include, in addition to Henry, a couple of other highly regarded runners, Travis Stephens and Kurston Biggers.

McCorvey, who held top-level coaching positions at Alabama during an eight-year stint with the Crimson Tide, came to UT in 1999 from South Carolina where he served as receivers coach in 1998.

"Woody McCorvey brings a wealth of experience, maturity and knowledge to our program," Fulmer said at the time he appointed McCorvey to the UT job.

As far as Fulmer's staff assignments were concerned, McCorvey replaced Randy Sanders, who moved from running backs to quarterbacks coach at the time he was promoted to offensive coordinator before the Tostitos Fiesta Bowl game against Florida State.

The 49-year-old McCorvey, who grew up in Alabama and received his college degree at Alabama State University, coached at North Carolina Central, Alabama A&M and Clemson before going to Alabama in 1990. He was assistant head coach of the Tide from 1993 to 1997 and served as offensive coordinator in 1996.

At Alabama A&M McCorvey shared an office with Tennessee's current defensive coordinator, John Chavis.

Larry Slade

Assistant Football Coach

Defensive Backs

A longtime warrior in college football coaching ranks, Larry Slade last season oversaw a Tennessee pass defense that made throwing against the Vols a risky business.

A veteran secondary that included Dwayne Goodrich, Fred White and Deon Grant - all now departed - accounted for 17 interceptions and was a big factor in the Vols' favorable turnover ratio.

Andre Lott, the fourth starter in the quartet that comprised Tennessee's regular secondary, is the lone returnee for the 2000 season. It will be up to Slade to find three others who can carry on in the productive fashion of Goodrich, White and Grant.

Slade, 49, is a native of Pelham, N.C., who was twice named All-West Virginia while playing guard at Shepherd in the early 1970s. He was named Little All-America honorable mention in 1971 and later inducted into the Shepherd College Hall of Fame. He received his degree in biology with a minor in English.

His coaching career began at his alma mater with subsequent stops at Richmond, Howard, Southern Illinois, Washington and Maryland. His six-year stay as secondary coach at Washington was highlighted by a national championship season in 1991, during which the Huskies ranked first in NCAA statistics for pass defense efficiency.

Slade left Washington in 1992 for Maryland to serve as defensive coordinator, a post he held for two seasons before moving to Texas A&M. His 1997 Aggies secondary gave up only three touchdowns by passing, tops in the nation.

He is married to the former Izetta Willingham and is the father of three children.

Pat Washington

Assistant Football Coach

Receivers

Pat Washington, who has overseen the development of a crack corps of receivers through five seasons at Tennessee, has the ingredients for more outstanding production in 2000.

The progress of Cedrick Wilson, Donté Stallworth, Eric Parker and David Martin--all of whom return--accentuates the likelihood Washington will enjoy his customary success as a key member of Phillip Fulmer's staff.

Gifted underclassmen such as speedster Leonard Scott buoy hopes that quality depth will also be provided by Washington's charges.

Before coming to Tennessee in 1995, Washington's previous place of employment was Waco, Texas, where in 1994 he coached running backs for the Baylor Bears.

His duties at UT as receivers coach are more similar to his work at TCU in 1992 and 1993. There he directed the play of wide receivers and quarterbacks for the Horned Frogs. His coaching resume also includes three years at Southwestern Louisiana in charge of receivers.

During the time he played quarterback at Auburn, from 1982 through 1985, Washington did far more than hand the ball off to future Heisman Trophy winner and teammate Bo Jackson. In his junior and senior seasons, he was the signal-caller for Tiger teams that played in the Liberty and Cotton Bowls.

Washington, who served as Auburn captain his senior season, remained on campus as a graduate assistant coach for two years, assigned to working with Tiger quarterbacks. A native of Mobile, Ala., he won prep All-America honors at Murphy High School.

In 1998, Washington received recognition as the outstanding receivers coach in the Southeastern Conference.

He and his wife, Claudette, are parents of two sons, Tyson Alexander and Justin Alan.

Condredge Holloway

Assistant Athletic Director
Football Operations

He's only been on the Tennessee staff two years, but Condredge Holloway in that short span has reeled in a pair of honorary awards that attest to his immense athletic prowess.

Only months after he was named to the Canadian Football League Hall of Fame, the Vols assistant athletic director for football operations was similarly honored for his achievements in another sport.

Holloway was inducted last winter into the UT Baseball Hall of Fame for his play as a slugging shortstop who had to choose between football and baseball for his professional career.

As the chief administrative aide to head coach Phillip Fulmer, Holloway brings to the football program the business principles he learned as general manager of the Huntsville Channel Cats professional ice hockey team.

For longtime Tennessee fans, Holloway's appointment in 1998 rekindled blissful moments when the talented little quarterback, nicknamed the Artful Dodger, played for the Vols in the early 1970s.

Condredge's accurate passes and dazzling runs, mostly of an improvised variety, carried the Vols to three bowl appearances and brought him a popularity that reached a peak when a ditty saluting his play was aired by radio stations throughout the state.

The son of Condredge and Dorothy Holloway went on to play 13 seasons in the Canadian Football League, passing for more than 25,000 yards in a career that took him to Ottawa, Toronto and British Columbia. He was named the league's MVP with the Toronto Argonauts in 1982.

After his pro career ended, Condredge returned to college and earned his degree at UT. He served as director of public and community relations for the Channel Cats before being promoted to general manager. He resigned the GM post to join Fulmer's staff.

Many other honors have been bestowed on Holloway, including induction into the Tennessee Sports Hall of Fame and the retirement of his jersey by the Argonauts. He was also named in 1991 to UT's 100th anniversary team.

David Blackburn

Assistant Athletic Director
Football Administrator
Compliance

David Blackburn, a hard-working and dedicated member of Head Coach Phillip Fulmer's Tennessee Vols staff, is the assistant athletic director for football charged with keeping tabs on compliance issues.

Blackburn, 34, caught the attention of Vol coaches when he served as head student manager for football in 1988-89. When an opening developed on the athletic staff for an assistant in the recruiting office seven years ago, David received early consideration and was offered the job.

NCAA regulations eliminated recruiting positions for athletic departments, but David was retained on the Vol staff to carry out administrative responsibilities as assigned by Athletic Director Doug Dickey.

Two key areas of David's duties include serving as coordinator of the Phillip Fulmer football camp and administrative duties with the annual Spring Football Coaching Clinic. He also is charged with the task of keeping football coaches informed of their myriad responsibilities in operating within the rules established by NCAA, SEC and the University of Tennessee.

A native of Loudon, where he played quarterback on Loudon High School teams coached by his father, the late Henry Blackburn, David graduated from UT in 1989 and launched a coaching career at Morristown East High School in Morristown, Tennessee.

Blackburn is married to the former Wendy Wohlwend of Morristown. They have a daughter, Emma.

John Stucky

Assistant Athletic Director for Physical Development

John Stucky is in his seventh year as head of Tennessee's fitness and conditioning program and is considered nationally one of the tops in his profession when it comes to creativity and innovation.

Assistant athletic director for physical development is the official title of the intense Vol staffer, whose responsibilities extend to all sports in the UT spectrum.

Stucky is recognized nationwide for his proficiency at inspiring athletes to perform at their ultimate physical capability. Four years ago the Professional Football Strength and Conditioning Coaches Society named John as its national collegiate coach of the year.

Closer to home, his Southeastern Conference peers have picked him twice as the league's coach of the year. The importance UT attaches to Stucky's job was indicated three years ago when Athletic Director Doug Dickey promoted him to assistant athletic director from his previous post as director of athletic fitness.

Tennessee's emphasis on a strong fitness program is epitomized in Stucky, whose background in coaching underpinned his belief in the link between conditioning and athletic success. Stucky sets high goals for his charges but makes the standards attainable with realistic workout programs He is credited by Head Coach Phillip Fulmer with making physical fitness a basic component of Vol football.

John came to UT in 1994 from a six-year stint at Arkansas. In his combined coaching and fitness career, Stucky has also worked at Kansas State, Wichita State, North Carolina State and Oklahoma State. His employment since 1988 at Arkansas marked the second time he had been with the Razorbacks. He was also there in the late 1970s.

The native of Moundridge, Kansas, was a junior college All-America defensive lineman at Hutchinson (Kan.) Community College before advancing to Kansas State where he won All-America honors as a noseguard. He was twice All-Big Eight. He earned bachelor and masters degrees in physical education at Kansas State before playing two years in the Canadian Football League.

Stucky came back to Kansas State as freshman line coach and strength coach, then served consecutively at Wichita State, Arkansas, North Carolina State, Oklahoma State and Arkansas again. It was when he went to North Carolina State in 1981 that Stucky left football coaching to devote his time exclusively to strength and conditioning responsibilities.

Stucky and his wife, Jeanne, have one son, Phillip.

As head trainer, Rollo gives the bulk of his attention to football, but maintains supervision of the entire operation of the Vols' training department. As assistant trainer and as associate trainer, a position he held from 1986 until 1992, Rollo's experience primarily had been with the Vol basketball team.

Within days after Kerin's funeral, UT Athletic Director Doug Dickey asked Rollo to become the new head trainer. Mike was well prepared for the assignment through a two-decade apprenticeship in a variety of responsibilities.

University President

J. WADE GILLEY
President

Since he took office August 1, 1999, Dr. J. Wade Gilley has presided over a period of sweeping change and new challenge at the University of Tennessee.

Dr. Gilley has put in motion a number of major initiatives to earn increased state operating funds and to move the university into the ranks of America's top 25 public research universities.

His reorganization of the statewide system eliminates duplication of administrative functions and will create three accredited universities. The consolidation of Knoxville, Memphis and Tullahoma as the new University of Tennessee unites three major research centers with the statewide institutes of agriculture and public service. The reorganization will save the university $30 million over five years.

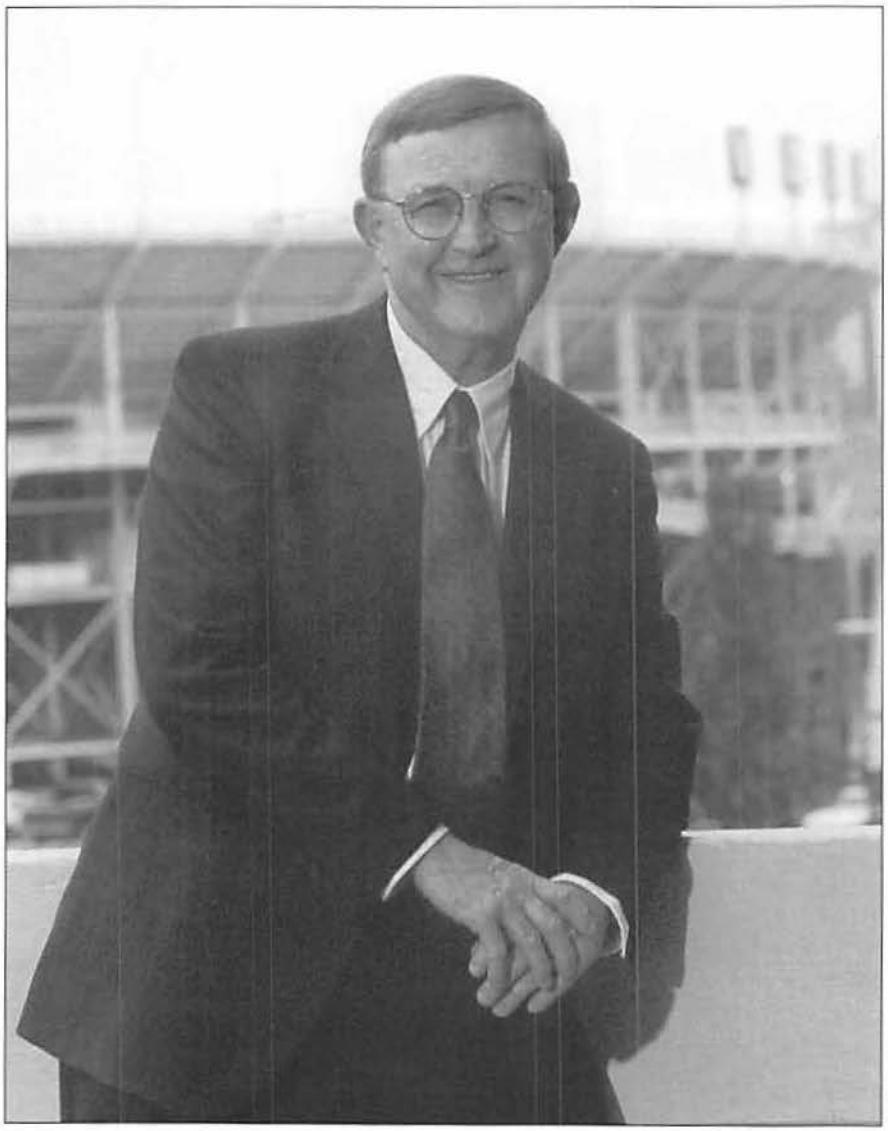
The administrative savings will go towards Dr. Gilley's new Tennessee Plan for Academic Excellence. Goals of the plan include moving UT into the top tier of national universities; keeping more of Tennessee's best and brightest students in the state; attracting and retaining the best teachers and researchers; and stimulating research and entrepreneurial investment in Tennessee.

The plan would increase the university's National Merit Scholars to 300, increase allocation for fellowships, and create seven new academic centers of excellence.

To pay for the new initiatives, the president devised a $150 million academic investment venture fund that would include administrative savings, special allocations, gifts, and a state allocation to match the university's efforts on a one-to-four basis.

Dr. Gilley has rallied students and alumni to take the university's case to state legislators in Nashville. His insistence on the urgency of adequate funding for higher education in Tennessee inspired Governor Sundquist to hold a statewide Forum on Higher Education in February. The event brought together legislators, educators from all of the state's public colleges and universities, and community leaders.

He came to the University of Tennessee from Marshall University in Huntington, West Virginia, where he was president for eight years. A former secretary of education for the Commonwealth of Virginia, Dr. Gilley was senior vice president and professor at George Mason University in Fairfax, Virginia.



Dr. Gilley holds bachelor's, master's and doctoral degrees in civil engineering from Virginia Tech University. He was a Kellogg fellow at the Institute for Higher Education at the University of Florida. He also did postdoctoral work at the Harvard Graduate School of Business.

Dr. Gilley is UT's 20th president. The author of six books on higher education, he has written many articles in scholarly journals and newspapers. He has served on numerous boards and is a member of the Education Commission of the States. His wife, Nanna, is also a Virginia Tech graduate. They have two children and two grandchildren.

Doug Dickey

Athletic Director

Doug Dickey's succession of honors recognizing his achievements on the college sports scene reached a pinnacle last winter when the University of Tennessee athletics director was named Tennessean of the Year.

The accolade was bestowed at the annual dinner of the Tennessee Sports Hall of Fame in Nashville. Previous Tennesseans of the Year selectees had included country music stars Roy Acuff and Barbara Mandrell and Vol football coach Phillip Fulmer.

Only one year earlier Dickey had stood at the podium of the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel in New York to accept the John H. Toner Award, the National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame's most prestigious honor for an athletic director.

Appearances before sports-oriented audiences to accept a variety of trophies the last few years have become routine for Dickey as the tangible reward for a career in which he has ranked in the forefront of his profession as both a football coach and an athletics director.

Over a span of 36 years, Dickey has been the principal force in University of Tennessee sports, first as coach by winning two Southeastern Conference football championships and since 1985 directing a Vol athletic department that has been a model of consistent performance.

As athletic director, the 68-year-old coach-turned-administrator has been heavily involved in policy-making on the national level. For example, in a six-year term with the football rules committee, he served as chairman from 1992 through 1994.

Since 1992, Dickey has been a member of the board of NOCSAE, the National Operating Committee on Standards for Athletic Equipment. On the statewide level, Dickey has employed his administrative skills to play a key role in the building of a Tennessee Sports Hall of Fame in a wing of the Nashville arena. He is the Southeastern Conference representative to the NCAA's Football Issue's Committee. In addition he is on the Strategic Planning Committee of the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics (NACDA).

Dickey's service at UT encompasses responsibilities as head coach for six seasons (1964-69) and as athletics director for the last 15 years.

As coach, he put Tennessee back on the national football map with a string of productive seasons that included league championships and bowl appearances. As athletics director, he has overseen a huge facilities construction and renovation program.

UT under Dickey has completed building projects that brought its physical plant to the top among major colleges and universities. A landmark development was the opening three years ago of an expanded north end of Neyland Stadium, bringing capacity to well over 100,000. A UT record crowd of 107,683 saw the 1998 Tennessee-Florida game at the Home of the Vols.

Among other additions to the campus sports scene in recent years have been the Thompson-Boling Assembly Center and Arena, Lindsey Nelson baseball stadium, renovated Gibbs Hall dormitory, the Goodfriend tennis complex, Tom Elam press box and executive suites at Neyland Stadium and Neyland-Thompson Sports Center, the name given to the Vol football complex. Construction of 78 new skyboxes at Neyland Stadium, on the east side, is being completed in time for the 2000 season. The Thornton Athletic Student Life Center is slated to open in late summer.

The arena, begun under the administration of previous athletics director Bob Woodruff and completed after Dickey's appointment, has proved a magnet for basketball tournaments and other events attracted by its 24,500-seat capacity.

Numerous honors have come Dickey's way in recognition of his continuing contributions to college athletics. He has been inducted into the Tennessee Sports Hall of Fame, the Gator Bowl Hall of Fame and the Knoxville Sports Hall of Fame.

When Dickey succeeded Woodruff as athletics director in 1985, he put a top priority on bringing UT's facilities to a level that would enable Vol coaches and athletes to compete on an even plane with their Southeastern Conference rivals. The multi-million dollar building program was a must on his agenda.

One of his first steps was the implementation of a well-orchestrated scholarship fund-raising drive, which has increased UT's level of giving from approximately $800,000 to more than $15 million annually. Contributions have increased dramatically under Dickey's astute leadership and have been instrumental in financing the ambitious building program.

A college football coach for 22 years before moving onto the business world in 1980, Dickey became only the fourth athletic director in UT history when he was chosen to the job of overseeing Tennessee's success-oriented sports program.

Keenly aware of the role athletics plays within the framework of the university's educational mission, Dickey has taken particular satisfaction in allocating athletic department funds, as available, to academic scholarships such as the Robert R. Neyland grants, university library and the more recent Peyton Manning Scholarships. Over the years of Dickey's administration, the athletic department has supported academic programs in a tangible manner.

Douglas Adair Dickey brought to the athletics director's job the qualities the university was searching for in a replacement for Woodruff. He had long-standing ties with Tennessee, he had been involved with college athletics for more than two decades, he had participated successfully in business and he enjoyed a reputation for total integrity.

Before taking the Tennessee post, Dickey had been for four years general manager of the Florida Tile Ceramic Centers, with headquarters in Lakeland, Fla. He previously had served the firm as its Southeast regional sales manager.

One of Dickey's five children, Daryl, was the starting quarterback and the most valuable player in the Sugar Bowl after Tennessee's 1985 team won the Southeastern Conference championship. But the current athletic director's ties to UT were forged in the 1960s when he took a football program that had happened onto lean times and turned it into a national powerhouse with all the accouterments of success--SEC championships, high national rankings, a bevy of All-America stars and annual bowl game appearances.

Six years after he came to Tennessee, a youthful head coach taking on the established greats of his fiercely competitive profession, Dickey left Knoxville. He answered a call from his alma mater, the University of Florida, and moved to Gainesville as head coach after the 1969 season. His nine-year record at Florida was 58-43-2, which combined with his six-year mark at Tennessee of 46-15-4, left him with overall totals of 104-58-6. Dickey closed out his coaching career by spending the 1979 season as assistant head coach at the University of Colorado.

It was Woodruff, then only a year into his athletic director's job at Tennessee, who brought Dickey, age 31 at the time, from an assistant's post at Arkansas to the demanding assignment as steward of the Big Orange football program before the 1964 season.

Woodruff had kept close tabs on Dickey from the time of the latter's undergraduate days at Florida, where Woodruff was the Gators' head coach. He detected in the lanky quarterback of his 1953 team traits that would prove invaluable if Doug were to pursue a coaching career. "Dickey was one of the brainiest quarterbacks I ever saw," Woodruff told newsmen when the announcement was made in December of 1963 that Dickey would replace Jim McDonald at the Tennessee helm.

Except for the five years he spent in business, Dickey has been around college campuses almost his entire life. He was born in Vermillion, S. D., where his father, the late Dallas Dickey, was a speech professor at the University of South Dakota. His father later was on the faculty at Louisiana State University and at the University of Florida.

Young Dickey, after playing high school football at Gainesville, accepted a scholarship to the University of Florida from Woodruff. After graduation he coached for a year at a high school in St. Petersburg, Fla., and coached at Fort Carson, Colo., while in the service. Then came an opportunity to join the staff of Frank Broyles at the University of Arkansas. Over the next six years, Doug acquired a wealth of knowledge under Broyles, coaching defense four years and then serving as head offensive coach his final two seasons.

Doug is married to the former JoAnne Beville. They have four sons---Donald, Daniel, David and Daryl-- daughter, Mrs. Jaren Anne Wells, and 12 grandchildren.

Previous occupants of the athletic director's position were Paul Parker, Bob Neyland and Woodruff.

(Full name: Joseph Michael Mathews) ... Exercising the privileges of seniority, Joey got first crack at the vacant quarterback job in spring practice ... He liked the feel of ranking first and did nothing to weaken his position ... But even a solid showing through the practice regimen guaranteed nothing except a close look this fall ... Three other would-be starters are still competing for the job of replacing Tee Martin ... His obvious advantage is that as a third-year UT resident, he benefits from greater familiarity with the complexities of the offensive system ... SQUAD

FOREIGN INFLUENCE

The emergence of German-born Constantin Ritzmann on the defensive front and the signing of Canadian freshman Andre Taylor from Scarbrough, Ontario, brings up the question of how many players from outside the United States have played at Tennessee? Besides Ritzmann, who is from Mellensee, Germany, and Taylor, the list is not very long. In fact, there have been just three Canadians, one South African and one American-born player who grew up in Africa.

Tackle Bill Danychuk, a native of Lachine, Quebec, lettered in 1964. Placekicker Alan Duncan, whose parents were from Norris, Tenn., and served as missionaries in Africa, graduated from Rift Valley Academy in Kyobe, Kenya. Duncan lettered from 1978-80. Middle guard Severin Anderson, an exchange student from Port Elizabeth, South Africa, attended McDowell High School in Erie, Pa., and joined the Vols for the 1980 and 1981 seasons. Offensive tackle/tight end Pat Langdon, from Burlington, Ontario, was with the squad from 1982-83. Center Dale Sanderson, who lettered in 1983, hailed from Hamilton, Ontario.

Constantin Ritzmann*
Sophomore Defensive End
6-4, 252
Tallahassee, Fla.

(Full name: Constantin Ritzmann) ... Constantin was making progress, hoping to ascend the depth chart at left defensive end when he encountered a tough break ... A knee injury sustained during a non-contact drill cost him the remaining three weeks of spring practice ... Arthroscopic surgery was performed, and he expects to return for fall practice, likely as a reserve behind Bernard Jackson ... He has a huge amount of potential including speed that allowed him to run sprints for his track team in high school ... A native of Germany, Constantin came to the United States as a foreign exchange student ... He was in Tallahassee as part of the NFL International's Futures Program ... Coach Caldwell's evaluation: "Constantin has as much speed as any end ever at UT, with the possible exception of Leonard Little." ... Born: Dec. 20, 1979

Zachary, La.

(Full name: Leonard Ray Scott) ... He's the fastest receiver at Tennessee since Willie Gault scorched the gridiron two decades ago ... A world-class speedster, he's an NCAA sprint champion and, turning to football, a gentleman nobody is likely to overtake when he tucks the ball away after a catch ... Getting the ball into Leonard's hands will be an inviting situation for the four quarterbacks fighting to take over the direction of the offense ... He is slated to return kickoffs, another responsibility where his speed should pay dividends ... He missed spring practice while performing for the UT track team ... Coach Washington's evaluation: "He's come a long way, but needs to become one of our key players in the pass-receiving corps."... Born: Jan. 19, 1980.

Senior
Linebacker
6-1, 215
Warner Robins, Ga.

(Full name: Anthony Sessions) ... Anthony may have been the find of spring practice, impressing coaches to the point he was designated as probable starter at weakside linebacker by the time workouts ended in April ... Big question was where best to employ him, an enigma created by his ability to do more than one job ... But there's only one Anthony, so he will most likely open at linebacker rather than safety ... A similarity between strong safety and linebacker duties could create double demand for his services ... An example of his potential: in one scrimmage last spring he had five tackles, a sack, a forced fumble, a pass broken up and a 75-yard fumble return for a touchdown ... Coach Chavis' evaluation: "Anthony has a lot still to learn, but he will play a key role for us this season." ... Born: Feb. 16, 1979.

As backup at left cornerback, Charles will be under the watchful gaze of the veteran Andre Lott, a man who can teach him plenty about advancing to the Southeastern Conference level of play ... Freshman
Offensive Guard

Pineville, S.C.

(Full name: Terriea I. Smalls) ... He's tabbed to back up Bernard Gooden at right guard, which is a sizable accomplishment for a freshman playing in the shadow of a senior ... And if Smalls' progress is measured from beginning to finish of spring practice, he closed the gap considerably on Bernard ... His improvement in every phase of play underscored the importance of April workouts in building a football team ... Coach Barry's evaluation: "Terriea's on the right track, even though he was banged up some in spring practice." ... Born: Dec. 12, 1980.

1999 - Redshirted ... HIGH SCHOOL - SuperPrep All-America ... As a senior defensive tackle he was named All-State, All-Region and All-Conference ... (Full name: Donté Lamar Stallworth) ... His Vol dossier suggesting better production accompanies enhanced comprehension, Donté looks ahead to a future that should be brilliant ... The achievements he rang up in the Fiesta Bowl point to dramatically increased success over the next three seasons ... A dynamic individual with the capacity for making tide-turning plays ... Time he spent in the weight room paid off with increased physical qualifications ... He suffered an injury in the bowl game that required foot surgery and cost him spring practice ... (Full name: Travis Tremaine Stephens) ... Back from a redshirt season, Stephens will be a critical player for the Vols, ranking as the first reserve behind Travis Henry at tailback ... Even in an idle year as far as football participation was concerned, Travis progressed on two key fronts: he worked in the weight room improving his strength, and he spent time with the track team enhancing his running techniques ... The vital contribution he made to national championship team in 1998 will be an intangible benefiting the 2000 squad ... When the Vols go up against Southern Mississippi to start the season, he will be there, filling the key position of middle linebacker ... He's plenty physical to go head-to-head at the line, but fast, quick and alert enough to handle his share of matchups ... Kevin Young

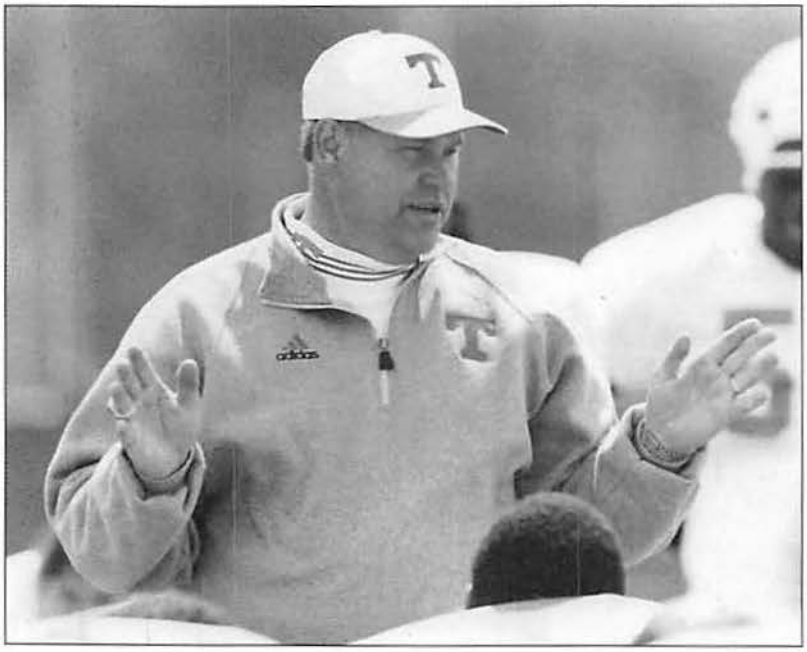
Meet The Vols



"One of the rewarding parts of my job is to have the opportunity to coach our non-scholarship athletes. It is really fun to see these young men, who often work themselves into a key part of our team, come in with great enthusiasm and passion for Tennessee football.

Many times it is only a little maturity, added strength level and extra coaching that blossoms them into contributors to our program. Some develop into scholarship athletes and continue as pro football players, while others may have limited playing time in striving towards their degree. Each reflects the attitude and desire that make college football special.

I certainly am glad to have these young men as a part of our team."

• The Arkansas Razorbacks ended the Vols' hope of returning to the national championship game after posting a 28-24 win. The Vols entered the game ranked No. 2 in the BCS standings but were unable to overcome a stingy Hog defense late in the game.

SEC Championship

DECEMBER 2 • AT ATLANTA • GEORGIA DOME (71,500)

The ninth annual Southeastern Conference football championship game will match the league's divisional champions Dec. 2 at the 71,500-seat Georgia Dome in Atlanta. The game will be televised nationally by ABC.

"The Georgia Dome is an excellent facility to showcase the game of one of the nation's top football conferences," said SEC Commissioner Roy Kramer. "The two primary issues considered by our institutions were the neutrality of the site and the opportunity to utilize a world-class structure."

The Alabama Crimson Tide won last year's championship game by defeating the Florida Gators 34-7. The win was Alabama's second win of the season over Steve Spurrier and company as the Tide rolled past the Gators 40-39 in Gainesville Oct. 2. With the win, Alabama earned a spot in the Orange Bowl but fell victim to the Michigan Wolverines 34-35.

The championship game, the first of its kind in any major collegiate conference, determines the SEC Champion.

Bowl Championship Series Enters Third Season

The winner of the SEC Football Championship game will represent the league in the Bowl Championship Series comprised of the Fiesta, Sugar, Orange and Rose Bowls.

Conferences with automatic berths in the Bowl Championship Series include the SEC, ACC, Big East, Big Ten, Big 12 and Pacific 10. Any Division I-A independent team or champion of the Mountain, WAC, Conference USA, or any other Division I-A conference which is ranked No. 6 or higher in the BCS standings is also eligible for a berth. The BCS differs from the original Bowl Alliance because it guarantees a matchup between college football's top two teams. In the first year of the BCS, No. 1 Tennessee defeated No. 2 Florida State 23-16 to win the National Championship in the Tostitos Fiesta Bowl.

At the conclusion of the 2000 season, the FedEx Orange Bowl will host the National Championship contest. The game will be played Jan. 3 at 8 p.m. (EST) in Miami, Fla. The Orange Bowl will select the top two teams ranked in the BCS final regular season standings.

Tennessee head coach Phillip Fulmer accepts the Sears Trophy signifying the Vols as the 1998 National Champions following Tennessee's 23-16 win over Florida State in the Tostitos Fiesta Bowl.

The Vols led the SEC in rushing for the second straight year and fourth time in the 1990s.

Tennessee appeared in its school record 11th consecutive bowl.

Vols Close Decade With Fifth Straight Top 10 Finish

Tennessee's football prosperity continued unabated when the Vols remained a top 10 team in the national rankings from wire to wire through the 1999 season.

Rated a contender for a second straight national championship when the season began, the Vols were only a few points away from a record that might have placed them in the title game.

But the 9-3 overall mark, while falling short of requirements for a national crown, was especially gratifying because it revealed the mettle of Coach Phillip Fulmer's troops. In rallying from a disappointing late-season loss at Arkansas to post impressive victories over arch-foes Kentucky and Vanderbilt, Tennessee demonstrated its ability to handle adversity in manly fashion.

Statistically, the 1999 Vols were similar to their 1998 counterparts, the group that won both SEC and national championships. The Tee Martin-led attack finished third in the league in total yards, first in rushing and in scoring. On defense, led by All-Americas Raynoch Thompson and Deon Grant, the Vols ranked third in the SEC in total defense, second in scoring and in sacks.

When Jamal Lewis broke through the Wyoming defense for 21 yards on his first carry since his knee injury, Tennessee fans were relieved that the powerful tailback they remembered from two previous years had returned none the worse for his ordeal. The Vols blasted their visitors from the Mountain West Conference, 42-17, blitzing the Cowboys with 28 unanswered points in the second quarter. While Lewis and Tee Martin were pecking away at Wyoming offensively, the highly esteemed UT defense was living up to its press notices by subjecting Cowboy quarterbacks to a Tennessee record 13 sacks. Will Overstreet and Raynoch Thompson authored three bludgeonings each. Lewis produced 159 yards in his first outing since the 1998 Auburn game.

The annual blood battle with Florida, this time at Gainesville, boiled down to the dramatic closing minutes, a finish worthy of this collegiate classic. But the cards didn't fall Tennessee's way as the Vols wasted an opportunity afforded by Deon Grant's second interception of the game. Florida, which had jumped to a 23-7 lead in the third quarter on three field goals and a pair of Doug Johnson touchdown passes, withstood a spirited Vol rally when Jamal Lewis was tackled at the line of scrimmage on fourth down. The 23-21 defeat put a close to Tennessee's 14-game winning streak that began with the opener of the 1998 season. A school record 15 penalties, disrupting offensive consistency, served the Vols poorly.

magic potion that pulled out a 17-16 victory over Memphis. A capacity Homecoming crowd had scarcely imagined Tennessee's tussle with its cross-state rivals reaching such a precarious point. But with 3:20 left, the Vols were camped on their own 18 and trailing, 16-10. The key to the 78-yard march took place with the ball on the Vol 41. With all the strength he could summon while escaping a ferocious rush, Martin flung the ball downfield to little-known Bobby Graham at the Memphis 6. A Martin-to-Cedrick Wilson pass and Alex Walls' kick gave UT the points it needed to overtake the upset-minded Tigers.

Staked to a touchdown by the defense on the opening play, the Vols rolled past Auburn, 24-0, at Neyland Stadium. The shutout reflected an excellent field-position performance by the Vols, who never allowed the Tigers to move closer to the goal than the Tennessee 16. In the light of further events, Deon Grant, who picked off three Auburn passes in the first half, settled the outcome on the first play of the game. He intercepted a Tiger pass and dashed 19 yards for a Vol touchdown. Travis Henry, who was Tennessee's rushing leader with 84 yards, ran for two touchdowns, the second one from 43 yards. Auburn was limited to 75 yards on the ground and 147 passing. Vol quarterback Tee Martin connected on 16 of 27 passes for 220 yards.

The Vols stepped up their play in all respects to administer a 37-20 shellacking to Georgia before 107,247 fans at Neyland Stadium. The dangerous Bulldogs were victims of one of the best performances yet by Tee Martin, who showed the attributes that caused Phillip Fulmer to label him the Vols "gutsy warrior." Despite taking a pounding from the strong Georgia defense, the senior quarterback registered three rushing touchdowns, passed for another and had 21 completions for 283 yards. Not to be outdone, the Vol defense held the Georgia attack to 54 yards rushing and made life uncomfortable for the Bulldog quarterback, Quincy Carter. The win marked the ninth straight time Tennessee had emerged victorious in the bitterly fought series.

If the Alabama-Tennessee series defines a man, as coaches from both sides have claimed for years, then Tee Martin passed the test with flying colors as the Vols met the Crimson Tide in Tuscaloosa for the first time since 1930. The 21-7 Tennessee victory, bearing the imprint of Martin's inspired play, was the fifth straight for the Vols over their great traditional rival. The wily Vol quarterback ran for touchdowns from the 6 and the 21 and passed for another, a 43-yard bomb to wide receiver David Martin. Another of Tee's contributions, running the clock in the fourth quarter, culminated in the game-clinching touchdown. Tailback Jamal Lewis posted his twelfth 100-yard rushing game, blasting through the Tide for 117 yards on 23 carries.

From the opening drive when Onterrio Smith lugged home a screen pass from the 24, Tennessee methodically disposed of South Carolina, which came to Knoxville still looking for its first victory of the Lou Holtz coaching era. While the offense was consistent, scoring in every quarter of the 30-7 rout, the defense was its usual crusty self, holding the Gamecocks to 103 yards on the ground and not allowing a touchdown until the final minute. Tailback Jamal Lewis ripped the Gamecocks for 146 yards, of which 70 were accounted for on a touchdown jaunt early in the second quarter. Alex Walls, a freshman who assumed kicking duties when Robert Loudermilk was hurt early in the year, hit three field goals, including shots of 51 and 47 yards.

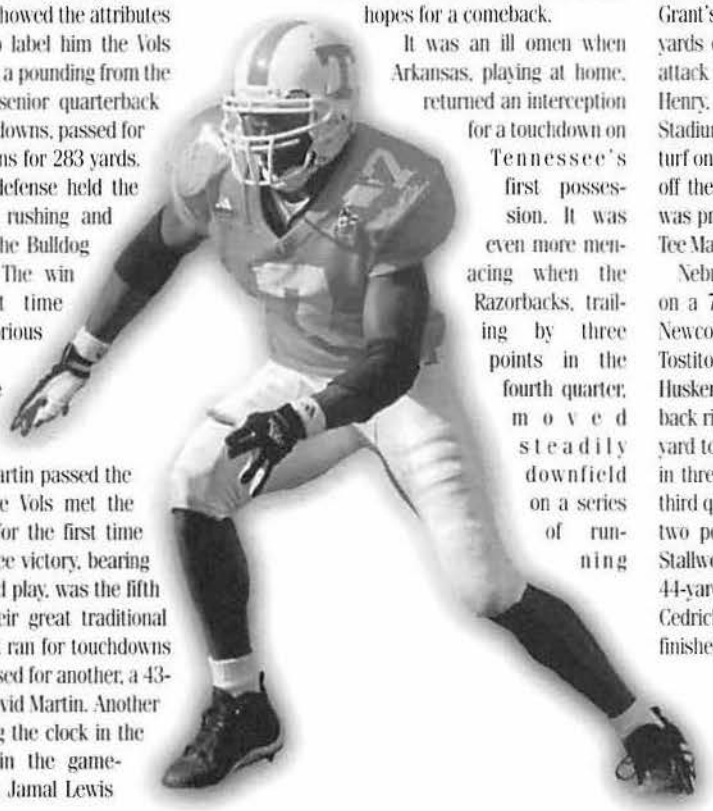
Tee Martin, leading the way with three touchdown passes, received significant help from Travis Henry in the Vols' 38-14 victory over Notre Dame before the second largest crowd ever at Neyland Stadium, 107,619. The play that broke the backs of the Fighting Irish came in the third period when a backpedaling Martin connected on a 43-yard touchdown pass to sprint champion Leonard Scott. It enabled the Vols to expand their 17-7 halftime margin to a more comfortable 24-7. Henry, a bulldozer who shares tailback duties with Jamal Lewis, bore the brunt of the Tennessee ground game, powering for 132 yards on 16 carries. Late in the game Martin engineered a 91-yard scoring drive that effectively killed the clock and Notre Dame hopes for a comeback.

It was an ill omen when Arkansas, playing at home, returned an interception for a touchdown on Tennessee's first possession. It was even more menacing when the Razorbacks, trailing by three points in the fourth quarter, moved steadily downfield on a series of running plays. Earlier in the year the stalwart Vol defenders had been impervious to ground thrusts. Not this time, though. The 80-yard drive for the decisive touchdown in the 28-24 Arkansas victory came when Anthony Lucas latched on to Clint Stoerner's 23-yard pass in the rear of the end zone. The Vols, who had once led 24-14, launched a drive of their own in the final three minutes, only to see Arkansas prevail when a fourth-down pass was batted to the ground.

Except for an uprising in the second quarter that provided fodder for Phillip Fulmer's halftime exhortation, Tennessee was in control of the Kentucky game from start to finish. On a rainy afternoon at fog-shrouded and recently expanded Commonwealth Stadium, the Vols crafted a 56-21 victory that featured a three-touchdown scoring contribution by tailback Travis Henry. Reserve Onterrio Smith and Henry each followed crisp blocking by the offensive line to find daylight and race to touchdowns on 61-yard bursts. A two-touchdown flurry by the Wildcats shortly before halftime was offset when quarterback Tee Martin passed and ran for scores in the third period. A record crowd, 71,022, watched the renewal of the hallowed border rivalry.

Despite lengthy touchdown excursions by Travis Henry and Onterrio Smith, the essence of the Vols' 38-10 win over Vanderbilt lay in one telling defensive statistic. Thirteen Commodore third-down conversion attempts succeeded just one time. The Vol defense, with a performance that included Deon Grant's ninth interception, limited Vanderbilt to 85 yards on the ground and 94 through the air. UT's attack was paced by a 153-yard contribution from Henry, who sent a shudder through the Neyland Stadium crowd when he landed head-first on the turf on a dive play near the goal. After being carried off the field, Travis went to UT Hospital where he was pronounced okay the next day and sent home. Tee Martin completed 14 of 21 passes for 161 yards.

Nebraska scored two first quarter touchdowns on a 7-yard run by Dan Alexander and a Bobby Newcombe 60-yard punt return to cruise to a 31-21 Tostitos Fiesta Bowl victory. A field goal lifted the Huskers to a 17-0 lead, but the Vols got a score back right before the half on Donte' Stallworth's 9-yard touchdown reception. The Vols pulled to within three on Travis Henry's 4-yard run early in the third quarter, but Nebraska scored twice on its next two possessions to put the game out of reach. Stallworth put UT's final points on the board with a 44-yard scoring strike from fellow wide receiver Cedrick Wilson. Tee Martin threw for 223 yards and finished his career 22-3 as a starter.



Deon Grant, who led the nation in 1999 with nine interceptions, finished fifth all-time with 14 at Tennessee.

Tennessee's 42-17 win against Wyoming in the season opener was about what you would have expected, even considering that the visitors from out West led 10-7 at the first quarter break. Things were a bit tense at the time, but you knew it was just a matter of time.

Never fear, however, because the No. 3-ranked Tennessee Volunteers, now with 14 consecutive wins in their collective pockets, relied on the running of Jamal Lewis (25 carries for 159 yards and three TDs), the receiving of Cedrick Wilson (seven catches for 183 yards and two scores), the passing accuracy of Tee Martin, and a defensive effort which recorded 25 tackles behind the line and a school-record 13 sacks.

The Vols ran off a 28-0 streak in the second quarter, a stanza which Wyoming coach Dana Dimel said lasted seemingly forever, "two-and-one-half hours," according to the coach. It wasn't quite that long, but it was close.

Lewis scored on runs of 25, 32 and 1, while Wilson caught TD passes covering 55 and 16 yards. Eric Westmoreland was on the spot exactly when needed, finding a bobble and scooting 18 yards for a score just before halftime. Robert Loudermilk, making his Vol debut, knocked home six extra points in as many tries.

The Vols scored on their first series of 1999, as Lewis caught a pass for 12, Eric Parker another for 14, and, after a penalty moved the ball to the UW 25, Lewis roared up the middle for the game's first tally.

Lewis added a 32-yarder in the second period after Wyoming took the first intermission lead and Wilson added two TD catches of his own, covering 55 and 16 yards before Westmoreland scooped up a fumble and headed goalward.

Lewis added a fourth quarter score to complete the evening's work.

Lewis' 159 yards made him the eighth back in UT history to crack the 2000-yard barrier, now with a total of 2020. He made it quicker than any other Vol back (17 games) and has 11 career 100-yard games. He tied a career high (Kentucky 1997) with his three rushing TDs.

Wilson's pass-catching effort of 183 yards was the ninth-best mark in Vol history. Once again, Elizabethton's Johnny Mills still stands supreme with his 225-yard effort against Kentucky back in 1966.

Vol defenders roared in time after time on Wyoming quarterbacks Jay Stoner and Matt Swanson for the aforementioned 13 sacks, led by Darwin Walker (-15) and Shaun Ellis (-26) with three each. Will Overstreet (-11) and Mikki Allen (-14) added two. Dwayne Goodrich and Deon Grant each had interceptions.

Tennessee and Florida battled fiercely on the turf of Florida Field before a crowd of 85,707, third largest in its history.

The Vols trailed 23-7 early in the third quarter, but no one in Tennessee Orange in the cavernous stadium really doubted that the Vols would find one final arrow in their quiver and would come into the final minutes with a chance to win.

The Vols came off the mat of a 16-point deficit to close the margin to two points with 5:10 left in the game. A Deon Grant interception put the Vols in position for one Jamal Lewis score and a 97-yard drive which was likewise followed by another Lewis touchdown run.

There were a number of keys in the game. The Vols could not contain Gator wide receiver Darrell Jackson offensively (10 catches for 161 yards) and defensive end Alex Brown (five sacks, two broken-up passes, an interception, a forced fumble and seven tackles overall).

Despite all this, the Vols made some big plays of their own. Tee Martin scored once on a 7-yard run on fourth-and-1 from the UF 7, when he sent the flow to the left and scored at the right corner. That gave the Vols a 7-3 lead.

Then followed a 13-0 run over the last 9:17 of the half that included a long Gator kickoff return, two field goals, a kickoff fumbled out of bounds at the Vol 8, and a TD pass from Johnson to Jackson.

After the Gators took the opening drive of the second half in for another score, it was 23-7 and things weren't good.

Grant intercepted Johnson at the 50 and returned the oskie to the UF 15. The Vols cashed it in two plays later as Martin found Cedrick Wilson (six catches for 55 yards on the night) in the left flat and Wilson nearly scored at the left corner. After a penalty, Lewis scored from the 1 and it was 23-14 with just over six minutes left in the third quarter.

The Vols had no immediate response and three possessions later, with 9:42 left, the good guys found themselves at the UT 3 with 97 yards of Florida Field turf looking insurmountable. The Vols got it done, however, in 4:32 as Martin found tight end John Finlayson for 13, David Martin for 11 (a tough catch on the far sideline), Eric Parker (four for 88 on the night) for 6 and Eric again for 45 with a nifty move to the Florida 19.

Lewis rushed for 15 and for the score from 4 yards out and, lo and behold, here were the Vols back in the thick of things at 23-21 with 5:10 left in the game.

Things got better when Grant picked off a Johnson aerial and the Vols had it at the Gator 49. Lewis rushed for 7, and thought he was going to score. But the next three plays netted no gain, the Gators took over and that was that.

GAME NOTES

* Linebacker Raynoch Thompson recorded a team high 12 tackles, and his seventh double-digit tackle career game.

* Deon Grant recorded two interceptions to give him eight picks in 15 regular season starts.

* Jamal Lewis' 99 rushing yards moved him into sixth-place on the Vols all-time rushing list.

* Tee Martin's 192 yards passing against Florida was the seventh-best of his career. His 39 attempts was a career-high, better his old mark of 32 against Mississippi State in the 1998 SEC Championship game.

* The Vols defense continued to be stingy on the ground not allowing a rushing touchdown in its last four regular season games, including the SEC Championship game.

This was a little too close for comfort. But, when all the chips were on the table, Tennessee, which has been in this situation once or twice since football started on the Hill in 1891, came off the mat to march 78 yards for a score and take a 17-16 win over Memphis on Homecoming Day 1999.

The clock high above Shields-Watkins Field read 3:20 to go in the fourth quarter. Memphis led 16-10. Things were a bit testy, to say the least.

The Vols had the ball on the UT 22, 78 yards away from the Promised Land, way down at the north end. The other end of the field looked like it was in another area code. It was time for somebody to make a big play. Who might it be?

You might have expected it to be Tee Martin, Jamal Lewis or Cedrick Wilson and you would at least be partially correct. After all, the winning score eventually came on a 15-yard toss from Tee to Cedrick, on a nifty throw and an even better catch.

Tee flung the spheroid far down the east sideline and sent Vol fans scurrying to their game programs to find out who No. 11 is. Bobby Graham ended up with the ball at the Memphis 6. Two plays later, Tee found Cedrick for the game-tying score with a minute to go. Young Alex Walls, the Bristol, Va., freshman pressed into service when Robert Loudermilk was declared out for the season with a stress fracture in his back, knocked home the game-winning PAT.

The Vols scored early on a 69-yard punt return by Eric Parker, also at the north end, and really didn't get much else done offensively until the last drive of the game. Walls had a third quarter field goal at the south end and that was pretty much it on that side of the ball.

Wilson caught 10 passes for 88 yards on the day, none bigger than his TD grab in the waning moments. For Memphis native Cedrick, it was a moment to remember, a moment to savor.

Memphis had dominated the game to that point and seemed poised to take a 16-10 decision, before Tee Martin and friends got it done in the final hectic moments. It was a shocking turn of events, regardless of the team (or fans) you might have asked after the game.

The Vols held several forays into their end of the field to field goals and limited the Tigers to 290 net yards and 12 first downs. One critical series came when the Tigers, leading 13-10, had the ball first-and-goal at the Vol 6 and couldn't get it in. Three plays later, the Tigers could only get it to the UT 4.

Mikki Allen led the way defensively with 11 tackles and had an interception in the end zone. Dominique Stevenson had 12 hits and a tackle for a loss and Raynoch Thompson added 11. Eric Westmoreland had seven tackles, including three for loss. Shaun Ellis had two sacks and Darwin Walker added another.

Grant's Three Interceptions Lead Vols to Win Over Tigers

ESPN

Tennessee	24
Auburn	0

With apologies to Yogi Berra, this one was over before it really began. Vol defensive back Deon Grant, who had three interceptions, eight tackles, and a broken-up pass, returned one of his interceptions for a score on the game's first play. With that momentum, the Vols never looked back en route to a 24-0 victory over Auburn that was never easy.

Travis Henry scored twice in the second half on runs of 1 and 34 yards, and Alex Walls added a 22-yard field goal just before halftime. Henry made a nifty move to get into the wide open spaces for his fourth-quarter touchdown and scored easily.

Tennessee defenders, a tough bunch all night, squeezed the Tiger offensive attack to 75 yards rushing and 147 passing. Dominique Stevenson and John Henderson followed Grant with seven tackles each.

Shaun Ellis (-11), Will Overstreet (-9), Henderson (-7) and Judd Granzow (-1) each had sacks. Ellis had two lost yardage tackles (-5), while Grant (-1), Darwin Walker (-5), Billy Ratliff (-2) and Albert Haynesworth (-2) had one each.

The defense took control of this game from the start. For the second straight season, the Vols shocked the Tigers on the game's first series.

Last year, it was a 90-yard interception return by Ellis as the Tigers moved goalward. This year, it was Grant's pick before many in the crowd of 106,424 at Gen. Neyland's Stadium had settled into their seats.

It was the first time the Vols had scored on the game's opening play since Peyton Manning and Joey Kent hooked up for an 80-yard score on the first play in the 1995 Alabama game.

Cedrick Wilson caught six passes for 112 yards, and Henry carried 13 times for 84 yards to pace the Vols offensively.

David Leaverton punted four times for a 43.8-yard average and knocked one kick dead at the Tiger 2.

The Tiger defense gave the Vols problems most of the evening, but could not overcome the disadvantage of a 33:09 Tennessee time of possession. The Vols kept the ball much of the time, and when the Tigers did get it back, it was deep in their own territory.

Auburn got as close as the Vol 32 before a Grant interception foiled the drive and as close as the Tennessee 16 before a field goal attempt at the north end went astray.

Grant wowed press box railbirds with this three picks in the first half and a break-up of a pass off a fake punt on which he made up ground quickly enough to save the day for the Vols. It was a major league play by a major league free safety.

The Vols lost in winning, however, losing Ratliff for the season with a leg injury.

This was Tennessee football. Mix an effective and occasionally quick-striking offense, a hard-nosed defense and some brilliant work in the kicking game and what you get is what happened here on a rainy night at Gen. Neyland's Stadium.

Tee Martin ran for three scores and threw to Jamal Lewis on a perfectly-executed screen pass for another. The Vol punt return team racked up a safety and Leonard Scott ran away from everybody on a kickoff return for 100 yards after Georgia closed the margin to 30-20 with 12:28 left. Ten seconds later, it was 37-20 as Scott sprinted up the east sideline and nobody was going to catch him. Bernard Jackson made the key block just past midfield. It was most certainly a total team effort all the way.

The Vols made Georgia go the long (and hard) way all night as David Leaverton's kickoffs and punts were a distinct advantage. All three of David's punts pinned the 'Dawgs inside the 20. Gen. Neyland would have been proud.

Tennessee racked up 165 yards rushing and held the Bulldogs to but 54. With 293 yards passing on the night (Martin completed 21 of 35 on the night for 283 yards), the Vols had 458 yards and made the most of every one.

Cedrick Wilson caught eight passes for 107 yards and Eric Parker (5 for 69) and Donte' Stallworth (2 for 51) each added a significant dimension to the Vol attack. Nine Vols caught passes on the evening. Jamal Lewis had 79 hard-earned yards rushing and became the sixth UT running back to crack the 2300-yard mark with 2307.

Vol defenders cut Georgia's running game off at the pass. The Bulldogs had averaged 191 yards rushing in their first four games, but found all avenues blocked in establishing their ground game. Shaun Ellis had eight tackles and Keyon Whiteside, Raynoch Thompson and Fred White each had seven. The Vols had five sacks.

Martin got the Vols going on their first possession after Georgia was stopped at the Dawg 30. A 34-yard pass to Parker down the far boundary going northward was the key play. That was followed by an 11-yard burst by Lewis. Tee got the score on third down on a quarterback draw and it was 7-0, good guys, with 10:46 left.

Georgia rallied to square the count a series later with a 91-yard drive for a score, but the Vols found the trigger for a 21-point second quarter

It was 30-7 into the fourth stanza when Georgia made a move to cut the Vol lead on a touchdown pass and an interception return.

Scott took the ensuing kickoff and found the express lane up the east side and it was no contest.

* The last time the Vols recorded a safety was against Arkansas in 1998 when the punter kicked the ball out of the end zone after a bad snap.

* The last time a Vol returned a kickoff for a touchdown was Peerless Price against Alabama in 1998 (100 yards). Leonard Scott tied the school record for longest kickoff return held by three others (Price, Pete Panuska and Willie Gault).

Vols Extend Win Streak to Five Over the Crimson Tide

Tennessee	21
Alabama	7

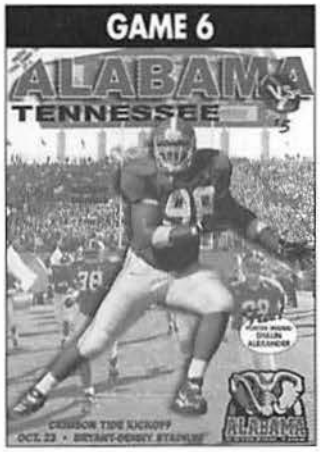
October 23, Tuscaloosa, Ala.
Bryant-Denny Stadium, 2:30 p.m.
Attendance 86,869

It had been 69 years, back to the days of Capt. Neyland, Bobby Dodd and Buddy Hackman, since the Vols had played Alabama on campus in Tuscaloosa. It was a Tennessee-Alabama contest in the best tradition of the series. No quarter was given and none was asked. It was a fierce battle worthy of the rich tradition of this series.



The Vols parlayed 117 yards rushing by Jamal Lewis, two TD runs by Tee Martin, and a 43-yard TD pass from Tee Martin to David Martin into a winning effort on offense. Lewis outgained the more-heralded Tide running back Shaun Alexander

The defense, after yielding a 99-yard TD-drive early in the second quarter, simply would not let the Tide get anything going offensively at all. The Tide netted but 94 yards rushing, 267 overall.

Eric Westmoreland had nine tackles and a stop for loss. Darwin Walker added six more. Anthony Sessions had a sack (-3) and Raynoch Thompson (-2), Dominique Stevenson (-1), Andre Lott (-2) and John Henderson (-2) added lost-yardage tackles.

The Vol kicking game was also a significant factor, making Alabama go the long way all afternoon. David Leaverton averaged 43.5 on six punts and knocked one out at the Tide 1.

The Vols trailed 7-0 with 10:38 left in the half when Tee Martin got things going from the Vol 40. There was an 11-yard completion to Donte' Stallworth southward down the far boundary. Tee also escaped the pressure enough to gain 19 yards on third-and-3 from the Tide 37. Travis Henry, who carried 12 times for 32 yards, ran effectively and Lewis dived over the pile to convert a fourth-and-1 at the Tide 7. A play later, Tee rolled left, got a crushing block on the corner from Neil Johnson and cruised in for the score. Alex Walls booted one of his three extra points on the day to tie things, 7-7, at the half.

The Vols stopped the Tide on second-and-1 at the 29 and third-and-1.

From the Vol 43 after a short Tide punt, Tee and his mates cashed it in. Martin (Tee) found his namesake (David) for the score deep down the far side. It stayed 14-7 into the fourth as both defenses battled fiercely, but the Vols got it at the 16 early in the fourth and moved to a decisive score.

It was third-and-14 at the Vol 12 after some inspired defensive work by the Tide and Bryant-Denny Stadium was your basic madhouse. Tee Martin escaped for 15 for a critical first down at the Vol 27 with a nifty move near the line of scrimmage and later found Cedrick Wilson for 7 and another first down. Martin found Wilson in the right flat and the Memphis junior motored 37 yards to the Tide 23. Henry ran for 2 and Tee hit right end, got another solid block from Johnson and scored from 21 yards out.

* Tee Martin went to sixth on the UT passing charts. He now has 3553 yards, moving past Jimmy Streater, who had 3433 yards passing for his career (1976-79).

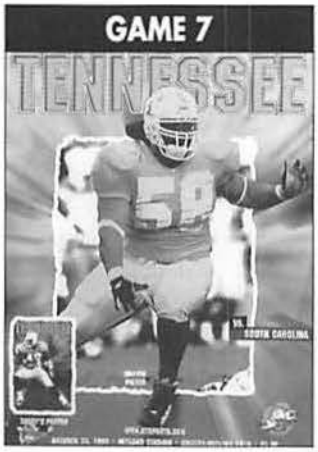
Florio				0-1



It was late October, the kickoff was early, the shadows began blanketing Shields-Watkins Field near the end of the second quarter. The stadium lights were not needed. And, most importantly, No. 4 Tennessee won over South Carolina by a 30-7 count.

The Vols, operating on the early start for the first time this season, used 146 yards rushing, including a lightning-like 70-yard run, from Jamal Lewis, 213 yards passing from Tee Martin, 130 yards receiving from Donte' Stallworth, and a defensive unit that simply would let South Carolina in the end zone until a mere 26 seconds remained.

The Vols took the game's opening drive in for a score and Lewis ran for 7 (twice), 6, 7 and 2 more, before Tee found freshman Onterrio Smith in the left flat and the California youngster took the spheroid in for a 24-yard score.

Alex Walls kicked the first of his three extra points and added three field goals, each progressively longer, from 33, 47 and 51, the latter the longest since Jeff Hall had a 53-yarder against Oklahoma State in 1995.

On the Vols' first possession of the second stanza, UT had a second-and-4 at their 30 when Lewis broke the line and outlegged everybody to the north end for a 14-0 Vol lead. Jamal headed down the west side and cut back and made it easily heading to the Orange and White squares.

Walls added a field goal on the Vols' next possession to extend the lead to 17-0. The Vols played beat the clock to extend the lead to 20-0 and Leonard Scott, who had given the Vols favorable field position on the opening kickoff with a 28-yard return to the Vol 37, caught passes for 11 and 12 after Tee had scrambled for 18 on third-and-9 from the UT 10. That, by any definition, was a big play.

Lewis caught a screen pass for 13 and Walls knocked home a 47-yarder. It was 20-0 at the half. Lewis had 141 yards by intermission.

Walls had a 51-yarder on Tennessee's second possession of the third quarter after Tee found Donte' Stallworth, for 48 yards before he was knocked out of bounds on the near side heading northward.

The Vols got the final score of the day on a 2-play, 82-yard drive, that saw Tee find Stallworth in the left flat and Donte' followed his blockers perfectly for 71 yards to the Gamecock 1, nearly scoring. Phillip Crosby scored on the next play and the Vols were through for the day with 30 points.

Deon Grant had nine hits and broke up two passes, ranging far and wide across the secondary. Will Overstreet had eight tackles and a tackle for a loss (-3). Darwin had seven tackles, one for loss (-4) and one sack (-9).

John Henderson had two (-5) lost-yardage stops, while Dwayne Goodrich had an interception. Stevenson also added a sack (-8) as did Anthony Sessions (-10).

Tennessee Dominates Front in Win Over Fighting Irish

ESPN

Tennessee 38
Notre Dame 14

Tennessee, leading 10-7 with 8:26 left in the second quarter, scored the game's next 21 points in the latter stages of the second quarter and the early stages of the third, to build a 31-7 lead en route to a 38-14 victory over the Fighting Irish.

The Vols, now 7-1, got a vintage performance from quarterback Tee Martin and a suffocating effort from the defensive unit en route to the most dominating victory by either team in this series.

Martin, a smooth operator under center all night, threw TD passes of 21 yards to Donte' Stallworth, 2 yards to Eric Parker and 43 to Leonard Scott as part of his 18-of-32, 196-yard performance that got the job done for the Vols.

Both Scott and Stallworth showed they are ready to step up and be counted in the Vol receiving corps. Martin added a TD of his own in the fourth quarter that culminated a 91-yard drive that knocked 9:48 off the clock and saw Tee run in from 14 yards out on fourth down, for that matter, for the final knockout. Travis Henry, who carried 16 times for 132 yards on the evening, hit center for a 40-yard score.

Fred White and Dominique Stevenson led the defensive effort with 10 tackles each, followed closely by Raynoch Thompson with nine. The Vol defenders held Notre Dame to 121 yards rushing and 291 yards overall in what was likely one of the best efforts of the season.

Thompson's interception off of a Stevenson tip led to the Vols' first field goal, made good by Alex Walls from 24 yards out.

Tennessee scored on its two second-quarter possessions, a 12-play 80-yard drive bridging the first and second stanzas that culminated when Tee found the ever-improving Stallworth from 21 yards out in the right corner. Cedrick Wilson had a 14-yard catch on third-and-10 and Henry had a 12-yard gain that was also a key.

After Notre Dame narrowed the margin to 10-7, the Vols scored nine seconds before intermission, as Tee rifled a 2-yard scoring toss to Parker, making the halftime margin 17-7.

The Vols added another score on their second possession of the third quarter from 43 yards out as Tee found Scott in the back right corner of the north end zone, and he made a nifty catch for the score.

Two series later, the Vols had it on the Notre Dame 40 after a 22-yard return by Parker put the Vols in position. Henry broke a tackle and no one could catch him. It was 31-7 and school appeared to be out. Notre Dame closed to 31-14 and had the ball in the shadow of the Vol goal line before Vol defenders made the requisite big plays to stem the flow.

Here came a Waterloo of sorts. The drive was 91 yards in 18 plays, and even better, 9:48 off of the clock with Martin scoring on a 14-yard run.

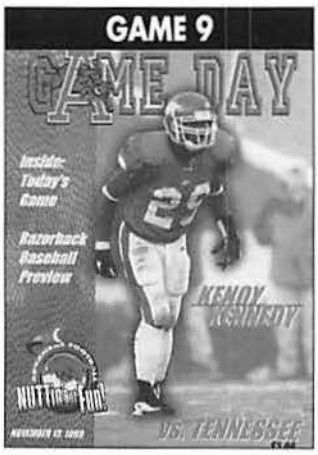
For the second straight year, the final score between Tennessee and Arkansas was 28-24. For the second straight year, the home team celebrated and the visiting team left town thinking about what might have been.



Tennessee, which led at halftime 17-14 despite all kinds of adversity and led 24-14 in the third quarter, had one last do-or-die drive to grab the brass ring. The Vols got it as close as the UA 17, but couldn't pull the trigger on a game-winning play.

Tennessee got off to a rocky start as Arkansas intercepted a pass on Tennessee's second play from scrimmage and David Barrett returned the oskie 43 yards for a score.

The Vols survived well enough to take a 10-7 lead early in the second quarter and led 17-14 at halftime. Travis Henry, who had 79 yards in 10 carries in the day, ran 28 yards for a score in the third quarter.

Arkansas responded immediately with a touchdown drive that cut the margin to 24-21 and made their last drive of the day a big one.

As we mentioned, the Vols had their chance late and you wondered what type of magic Tee Martin and mates would pull out of their collective pockets to steal a 31-28 win. It didn't happen, but there were a number of anxious moments on both sides of the field as the Vols inexorably moved goalward.

From the 32, Tee rushed for 9 and hit Eric Parker for 9 more. Martin then hit Donte' Stallworth for 8 more and got everybody's attention. It was fourth-and-2 at the UA 42 when Martin hit Stallworth for 6 yards and a first down at the 36.

Donte' made an extra effort move to push the chains downfield and the Vols were helped immeasurably when Arkansas was called for illegal helmet contact and the mistake moved the spheroid 15 yards closer. They got part of it back when Martin was called for intentional grounding a play later. Tee then hit Wilson for 12 yards to the 17.

Alex Walls kicked a 43-yard field goal the series after Barrett's interception and Jamal Lewis scored a TD on a 1-yard run. Martin cut across the grain and outlegged everybody to the southwest corner and the Vols somehow led 17-14 at the half.

Raynoch Thompson had an interception off Clint Stoerner on the tip drill from Will Overstreet and the Vols cashed that break in for another TD, as Henry took an innocent-looking pitch left, and zoomed down the east side to another score.

Martin completed 22 of 44 passes on the day for 311 yards and had a long throw of 44 yards to Wilson. Lewis had three catches for 57 yards.

Vol defenders were led by Deon Grant with 10 tackles, Fred White and Raynoch Thompson with nine each and Lott and Henderson with eight each.

Vols Give Cats Dose of Offensive Firepower

It was Tennessee and Kentucky squaring off for the 95th time in a series that dates to 1893 in weather conditions symbolic of the border state rivalry, including rain, fog, and cold, most of the time all at once.

Tailback Travis Henry, pressed into service when Jamal Lewis couldn't go because of a bum ankle, carried 23 times for 179 yards and three scores, on runs of 40, 61 and 13 that staked the Vols to a decisive first-half lead from which Kentucky couldn't rally.

Tee Martin added a 1-yard run for a score, threw TD passes to Cedrick Wilson and David Martin, good for 29 and 21 yards respectively, and added an extra two-point conversion run that helped restore order at 35-14 with 2:45 left in the third stanza.

Freshman running back Onterrio Smith had 10 carries for 82 yards and left blueshirts in his wake with a 61-yarder with 11:30 left in the fourth period. He added another touchdown on a 1-yard run later in the period.

Vol defenders intercepted five passes and generally made life miserable for Wildcat signal-caller Dusty Bonner all afternoon. Deon Grant had two picks, and Andre Lott, Raynoch Thompson and defensive end DeAngelo Lloyd had one each.

John Henderson had two sacks (-8) and rookie tackle Albert Haynesworth added another (-5). The Vols roared out of the gate with 21 points on their first three possessions. Tee found Wilson at the back end of the west end zone from 29 yards out for the game's first score.

Lott's interception of a Bonner pass led to a second score as Henry outran everyone for the 40-yard score.

When the Vols got it back a series later, Henry hit off left tackle and zipped down the near side for a 61-yard score.

It was 21-0 with 3:48 left in the first quarter. Thompson pilfered a Bonner pass and the Vols cashed the break in with a 13-yard run by Henry to the far side. The extra point failed and it was 27-0 with 10:31 left.

The Wildcats tried to climb off the mat from that point and closed the margin to 27-14 at the half. But the Vols rolled on after halftime to outscore the homestanding 'Cats 29-7 before heading back down Interstate 75 south.

Tennessee got the ball at the UT 42 in the third after Vol defenders stopped the Wildcats on their first two possessions. Tee found David Martin in the right flat, who rumbled 21 yards for the score. The Vols went for two and Tee converted a keeper at right end.

A fumble recovery by Mikki Allen was immediately converted into points as Tee ran it home from 1-yard out for six more to make the score 42-14.

The fourth quarter belonged to Onterrio Smith who ended the day with 82 yards and scoring runs of 61 and 2 yards.

The Vols cranked up the ground attack, rolling up 315 yards rushing, and shut off all avenues defensively en route to a 38-10 victory over cross-state rival Vanderbilt that was exactly what the doctor ordered in the season finale.

Tee Martin, who went undefeated (13-0) in his Vol career at home and is now 22-2 as a starter, engineered the triumph, tossing a 33-yard pass to Leonard Scott on a neatly-executed screen pass down at the south end, and handing the ball to Travis Henry, who gained 153 yards on 19 carries in less than a half of work and scored on a 63-yard run. Onterrio Smith, who scored from 7 and 51 yards out en route to 82 yards on the day, and Phillip Crosby, who scored on a 1-yard run.

Fred White had nine tackles to lead the Vols defensively, followed by Dominique Stevenson and Andre James with five hits each. Deon Grant had an interception and Stevenson (-1), Will Overstreet (-1), Shaun Ellis (-1) and Darwin Walker (-1) each had lost-yardage tackles, while Overstreet (-10) and Anthony Sessions (-8) had sacks. The Vol defenders held Vanderbilt to 179 yards total offense, 85 rushing and 94 passing.

Tennessee moved smartly to a 10-0 first quarter lead, as Martin had a 23-yard toss to David Martin to help get it close and Walls knocked home a 26-yard field goal to give the Vols the lead with 5:59 left.

After a Vanderbilt punt gave UT the ball at the UT 33, Henry ran for 4 and hit the middle for 63 more, and no one could catch him.

After a three-and-out for the Commodores, the Vols were backed up at the UT 19, facing second-and-26, when Martin ran the quarterback draw for 38 to get a first down and get the Vols out of a big-time hole. Then Martin found Scott in the left flat, and Leonard knew exactly what to do, motoring in from 33 yards out for the score.

Vanderbilt closed the lead to 17-10 on their next two possessions, with a TD and field goal, before Martin had the Vols marching goalward again.

Henry ran a draw for 47 yards on third-and-11 to get the Vols from their 15 to the VU 38. Later, Phillip Crosby bulled in for the score from a yard out and the halftime margin was set at 24-10.

After a scoreless third quarter, early in the fourth, the Vols mounted a drive that Smith scored on a 7-yard run to make the count 31-10.

When Tennessee got the ball at the Vol 48 with 5:43 left, Martin handed the ball to Smith for a 1-yard gain and left the game to the plaudits of the crowd. Joey Mathews came in, handed the ball to Smith and headed likewise for the east sidelines. All Smith did was hit the center of the line and outrun everybody to the north end, completing a 51-yard scoring play.

Huskers Running Game Highlights Fiesta Bowl Win Over Vols

Nebraska	31

January 2, Tempe, Ariz.

GAME 12

Two long Nebraska scoring drives in the second half ended Tennessee's hopes of an upset in the Cornhuskers' 31-21 victory over the Vols before 71,526 in the 2000 Tostitos Fiesta Bowl.

It was a game of streaks, of significant ebbs and flows. Nebraska, playing the kicking game to perfection early, jumped to a 17-0 lead in the first half. The Vols closed to 17-14 early in the third quarter, but the Cornhuskers came off the goal line twice on drives of 96 and 99 yards for TDs in the third and fourth quarters to widen the lead, before Tennessee got the last score to set the final margin at 31-21.

The Cornhuskers, who rushed for 321 yards and held the Vols to but 44, jumped to a 14-0 lead in the first quarter, on a 7-yard run by I-back Dan Alexander, who ran for 108 yards in the night, and a 60-yard punt return by Bobby Newcombe. The first score was engineered by field position, knocking the opening kickoff into the end zone. Nebraska added a field goal late in the half before Tee Martin led a 65-yard, eight-play drive culminating in a 9-yard pass to wideout Donte' Stallworth. It was a bittersweet finish for the Vol signal-caller who finished 22-3 as a Vol starter.

Stallworth finished his night's work with a career-high eight catches, good for 108 yards and two scores, tying a UT bowl record held by Joey Clinkscales (1986 Liberty), Cory Fleming (1993 Hall of Fame) and Joey Kent (1997 Citrus).

The Vols closed to it 17-14 when Travis Henry scored on a 4-yard run early in the third quarter after the Vols forced a fumble on the second play after the third quarter kickoff. Will Overstreet caused the bobble and Dominique Stevenson got it. That got the crowd into the game in a big way and set the stage for what was to happen. Nebraska got the game's next 14 points and that was that.

David Leaverton, who punted seven times for a 43.1 yard average with a long of 48 yards, punted the Cornhuskers deep twice in the third quarter, but Nebraska was able to come off the goal line for scores which proved decisive. The Cornhuskers hurt the Vols with the pass on the first scoring drive, but marched the entire 99 yards on the ground on the second drive.

The Vols got the game's last score when wide receiver Cedrick Wilson, a former high school quarterback, threw a 44-yard touchdown pass to Stallworth that closed it to 31-21 with 7:25 left. It was his first pass as a Vol and showed the versatility of the Memphis wideout. The Vols had a glimpse of life, but Nebraska had other ideas.

To its credit, Nebraska was able to run out the clock, marching relentlessly down the field to cinch the victory.

▶SEC NOTES

• The SEC finished the 1999-2000 bowl season with a 4-4 record, marking the fourth straight year that the league has won at least half of its bowl games. During that span, the SEC is 18-9 (.667) in post season bowl games. During the decade of the 1990s, the SEC posted only two seasons with losing bowl records - 1991 (2-3) and 1995 (2-4).

• Two SEC bowl games went into overtime while two others were decided on the last play of regulation. Michigan's 35-34 win over Alabama in the FedEx Orange Bowl and Georgia's 28-25 win over Purdue in the Outback Bowl were decided in overtime. Michigan State defeated Florida, 37-34, in the OurHouse.com Florida Citrus Bowl, and Ole Miss defeated Oklahoma, 27-25, in the Sanford Independence Bowl on last second field goals.

• For the second straight season, the SEC sent eight teams to post-season bowl games, which is a record for collegiate conferences. The Big Ten Conference sent seven teams to post-season bowls in 1999-2000.

• Georgia rallied from a 25-0 deficit to defeat Purdue, 28-25, in overtime at the Outback Bowl. The comeback was the largest ever in a bowl game, surpassing a 22-point comeback by BYU in the 1980 Holiday Bowl (46-45 over SMU) and Notre Dame in the 1979 Cotton Bowl (35-24 over Houston).

The Southeastern Conference

Roy F. Kramer
Commissioner

A pioneer in the integration of higher education and athletic competition, the Southeastern Conference stands ready to advance intercollegiate athletics in the 21st century.

Since its formation in 1933, the SEC achieved both stature and stability by designating governing/voting power to the presidents of the member institutions. They have determined the policies of the conference and through the years this involvement has been the principal source of strength in the evolution of the SEC.

Throughout its 68-year history, the SEC has provided leadership on the vital issues facing intercollegiate competition. In 1993, the member institutions adopted The Principles of Gender Equity. Committed to increasing the quantity and quality of women's athletic opportunities, each school will provide at least two more women's intercollegiate programs than the number of men's.

Faced with the task of conference realignment after competing with 10 members since 1966, the SEC welcomed the University of Arkansas Aug. 1, 1990, and the University of South Carolina Sept. 25, 1990. Joining charter members Alabama, Auburn, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, LSU, Mississippi, Mississippi State, Tennessee and Vanderbilt, Arkansas and South Carolina became the first schools added in conference history July 1, 1991.

Fully incorporated into conference competition by 1992, Arkansas and South Carolina participated in SEC championships for all sports except football during the 1991-92 academic year. The SEC was again at the forefront, introducing football, basketball and baseball divisional play and the nation's first ever Division I football championship game.

SEC schools began athletic competition with one another almost 100 years ago as members of the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Association. Seven institutions (Alabama, Auburn, Georgia, Georgia Tech, North Carolina, Sewanee and Vanderbilt) attended the SIAA organizational meeting of faculty representatives, called by Dr. William L. Dudley of Vanderbilt, in Atlanta Dec. 22, 1894.

The seven-member SIAA expanded to 19 institutions in 1895 (Alabama, Auburn, Central, Clemson, Cumberland, Georgia, Georgia Tech, Kentucky, LSU, Mercer, Mississippi State, Nashville, North Carolina, Sewanee, Southwestern Presbyterian, Tennessee, Texas, Tulane and Vanderbilt) and by 1920 there were 30 members.

The 13 members west and south of the Appalachian Mountains reorganized as the Southeastern Conference at the annual meeting of Dec. 8-9, 1932, in Knoxville. The 10 coast members remained in the Southern Conference. Dr. Frank L. McVey of Kentucky was elected president of the new conference whose charter members were: Alabama, Auburn, Florida, Georgia, Georgia Tech, Kentucky, Louisiana State, Mississippi, Mississippi State, Sewanee, Tennessee, Tulane and Vanderbilt. (Sewanee withdrew Dec. 13, 1940, Georgia Tech June 1, 1964 and Tulane June 1, 1966). McVey held an informal meeting of the school presidents in Birmingham Feb. 16, 1933, then the first full meeting in Atlanta Feb. 27.

The office of the commissioner was formed in 1940 in Jackson, Miss., due to the great amount of detail work developing, especially in recruiting and eligibility. Former Mississippi Governor Martin S. Conner took office as commissioner Aug. 21, 1940, as an extension of the authority of the presidents. Conner later became ill and the secretary of the conference, Dean N.W. Dougherty of Tennessee, served as acting commissioner during the fall of 1946.

The office moved to Birmingham with the appointing of Bernie H. Moore as the second full-time commissioner on Feb. 21, 1948. Moore, a former LSU coach, guided the SEC to national respect in his 18-year tenure.

A.M. (Tonto) Coleman succeeded Moore upon his retirement April 1, 1966. The Alabama native, who was reared in Texas and experienced in athletic coaching and administration, served six and a half years.

Dr. H. Boyd McWhorter, then Dean of Arts and Sciences at Georgia and secretary of the league since 1967, accepted the position upon the retirement of Coleman Aug. 1, 1972. Under his leadership the SEC experienced unparalleled growth. In McWhorter's first year the SEC distributed $1.57 million and 14 years later (1986) the league distributed $15 million in revenue to the member institutions.

Dr. Harvey W. Schiller, an Air Force colonel and faculty chair at the U.S. Air Force Academy, followed McWhorter upon retirement, taking office Sept. 15, 1986. Under his guidance the SEC established itself as a leader in the areas of athletic scholarship and marketing.

Roy F. Kramer succeeded Schiller Jan. 10, 1990. Kramer, who has served on numerous NCAA committees, joined the league office after spending 12 years as athletic director at Vanderbilt.

The SEC currently regulates nine men's sports and 11 women's sports: Men - baseball, basketball, football, golf, swimming, tennis and track (cross country, indoor and outdoor). Women - basketball, golf, gymnastics, soccer, softball, swimming, tennis, track (cross country, indoor and outdoor) and volleyball.

Peyton Manning Scholarship

The University of Tennessee honors former Vol quarterback Peyton Manning each year by presenting a scholarship to a first-year student who will participate in UT's Honors program.

The scholarship is funded from gifts to the University garnered from Manning's academic awards, the UT Athletic Department's corporate matching grants program and other private gifts.

Manning's four-year career at UT (1994-97) produced a number of awards that generated $165,000 in scholarship funds. Among the awards were the Burger King-Vincent dePaul Draddy National Scholar Athlete of the Year, the Davey O'Brien Foundation Award and the American Honda Scholar-Athlete of the Year.

The Manning Scholarship covers the costs of tuition, room and board for a male or female student. The award is granted to a first-year student on the basis of academic achievement, leadership and community service.

Neyland Trophy

General Robert Reese Neyland

February 17, 1892 - March 28, 1962

The history and tradition of Tennessee football began under the tutelage of Gen. Robert Reese Neyland, a member of the College Football Hall of Fame. Neyland came to Tennessee as an ROTC instructor and backfield coach in 1925 and was named head football coach in 1926. From that date, Tennessee was in the college football business to stay.

Neyland's 1939 Vol team was the last to shut out each of its regular season opponents. Over the course of his career, 112 of his 216 opponents failed to score against his Tennessee teams. Tennessee still holds an NCAA record for holding opponents scoreless 71 consecutive quarters.

Neyland's teams won Southern Conference Championships in 1927 and 1932, piling up undefeated streaks of 33 and 28 games along the way, and SEC Championships in 1938, 1939, 1940, 1946 and 1951. In addition Neyland coached teams won four national championships. The Vols were consensus national champions in 1951, won the Dunkel, Litkenhous, Boand, Houlgate and Poling National Championships in 1938, the Dunkel and Williamson crowns in 1940 and the DeVold and Dunkel crowns in 1950.

It was Gene McEver who kicked off the Neyland era with his 98-yard return of the opening kickoff in the 1928 Alabama game, a game the underdog Vols won 15-13. Each of his succeeding eras would be highlighted by similar big plays: Johnny Butler's 56-yard run against Alabama in 1939 and Lauricella's 75-yard run against Texas in the 1951 Cotton Bowl.

Neyland's 21-year record at Tennessee was 173 wins, 31 losses and 12 ties.

Neyland, who came to Tennessee as an Army captain and left as a brigadier general, brought one of the most efficient single-wing offenses in the country to go with an unyielding defense. He was brought to the head coaching position by Dean Nathan Dougherty with a simple injunction: "Do something about the series with Vanderbilt."

After Neyland's death in 1962, the University established the Robert R. Neyland Scholarship, academic scholarships awarded to non-athletes, many of whom are National Merit Scholars. The endowment for these scholarships now exceeds $1.5 million and 124 students have been the beneficiary of the awards.

The thoroughfare behind the stadium's South end, once called the river road, is now named Neyland Drive. More recently, the Vol football complex on campus was named for Neyland and Knoxville businessman B. Ray Thompson.

GENERAL NEYLAND'S MAXIMS OF FOOTBALL

1. The team that makes the fewest mistakes will win.
2. Play for and make the breaks and when one comes your way - SCORE.
3. If at first the game - or the breaks - go against you, don't let up...put on more steam.
4. Protect our kickers, our QB, our lead and our ball game.
5. Ball, oskie, cover, block, cut and slice, pursue and gang tackle... for this is the WINNING EDGE.
6. Press the kicking game. Here is where the breaks are made.
7. Carry the fight to our opponent and keep it there for 60 minutes.

IS IT NEE-land or NAY-land?

There has been continuing controversy over the pronunciation of the name N-E-Y-L-A-N-D. Here's the true story.

Charles Brakebill, former UT Vice-President for Development, was a part of the Neyland Scholarship program when it was begun after Gen. Neyland's death.

That's when Brakebill said he learned a lesson about the Neyland name and how to pronounce it. He had apparently called the General's wife, Peg, "Mrs. NAY-land." "She stood up and raised her knee and said 'Mr. Brakebill, first thing let's do is get my name straight.' She hit her knee about three times and said, 'It's NEE-land, just like my knee.' That stuck in my mind."

General Robert R. Neyland Trophy Honorees

In 1967, the Knoxville Quarterback Club, seeking a way to honor Gen. Neyland's memory, established the Robert R. Neyland Memorial Trophy. This award is given annually by the Club to an outstanding man who has contributed greatly to intercollegiate athletics. The first presentation in 1967 included the man who hired Gen. Neyland in 1926 and his first All-America lineman, who later became head coach at Yale. The permanent trophy is displayed in the Tennessee Hall of Fame Exhibit in the Neyland-Thompson Sports Center.

Tennessee Football History

Robert Reese Neyland had not yet been born when the Vols played their first football game in November 1891 and more than 100 years of football tradition were begun. But remember the name.

This is the story of the "greats"... the players, coaches, plays and fans, all of whom have helped build the program. From Bob Neyland to Phillip Fulmer, from Gene McEver to Bob Johnson, from Nathan Washington Dougherty to Reggie White. And all points in between.

The Vols' debut on the gridiron in that 1891 season was none too promising, as Sewanee defeated the Vols, 24-0, in a game played in the muck and mire in Chattanooga. It was also the only game on that year's schedule. The first win would come in 1892, a 25-0 decision at Maryville. The first home win would have to wait until 1893, as the Vols topped Maryville again, this time by a 32-0 count.

Neyland was born a few months later, Feb. 17, 1892, in Greenville, Texas, and his influence on the Vol program would be felt from 1926 on, even through today.

The Formative Years; A New Stadium Is Built in 1921

In those early years, from 1891 to 1912, football coaches came and went, frequently on a year-to-year basis. The Vols did not have a head coach until 1899 and had seven head coaches between that time and 1911.

In the 1907 season, organized cheerleading was brought to campus by R. C. (Red) Matthews.

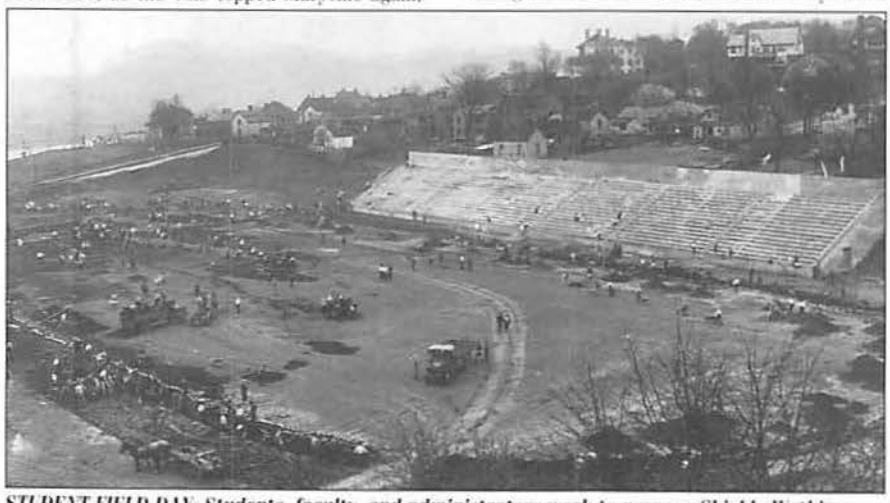
The Vols won the 1914 Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Association championship under head coach Zora Clevenger, piling up 374 points to 37 for their opponents. They also were the first Vol squad to defeat Vanderbilt, doing so 16-14 Nov. 7. In 1916, the first Homecoming game was held, as the Vols defeated Vanderbilt, 10-6.

It was not until 1920, 29 years into the program's history, that the Vols won their 100th game, a 49-0 victory over Transylvania. The leading player of that time was Dougherty, an All-Southern selection in 1907 and 1908, and known to his teammates as "Big-Un."

Tennessee had played its home games on Wait Field at the corner of 15th Street and Cumberland Avenue on campus, but moved into a new home in 1921.

Shields-Watkins Field was less than a mile away on 15th Street (now Phillip Fulmer Way) and was named for its benefactors, Knoxville banker and UT trustee William S. Shields and his wife, Alice Watkins Shields. It opened that season with 3200 seats, although it had been used for baseball the previous spring.

A year later, the Vols wore Orange jerseys for the first time (black shirts with orange and white piping being the previous color of choice), taking the color from the American Daisy which grew in profusion on The Hill north of the stadium. A Vol guard of 1922-23 vintage, Estes Kefauver of Madisonville, became a United States Senator and was a candidate for Vice-President in 1956.



STUDENT FIELD DAY: Students, faculty, and administrators work to prepare Shields-Watkins Field for the 1921 season.

In 1925, the Beer Barrel was introduced as the prize for the winner of the Tennessee-Kentucky game.

Enter Bob Neyland: A Tradition Is Born

In 1926, Neyland, then an ROTC instructor, Army captain and backfield coach the previous season, was named head coach and served through the end of the 1934 season when the Army beckoned him to Panama. Dougherty, a dean of UT's College of Engineering and longtime faculty chairman of athletics, hired Neyland with the lone injunction: "Even the score with Vanderbilt; do something about our terrible standing in the series."

The Vols won the Southern Conference championship in 1927 with an 8-0-1 record and looked forward to the 1928 season. In that season, the Vols defeated heavily-favored Alabama, 15-13, in Tuscaloosa, as tailback Gene McEver, the "Bristol Blizzard" and one of the "Flaming Sophomores of 1928," took the opening kickoff 98 yards for a score.

Buddy Hackman did likewise a week later against Washington & Lee and the Vol express was off and running. Hackman and McEver became known as the "Touchdown Twins." The 1928 season also saw the UT Alma Mater selected in a contest sponsored by the UT men's Glee Club. In 1929, McEver became Tennessee's first All-America selection.

The beginning of the 1930s saw Tennessee play in its first bowl game, a 13-0 victory over New York University at Yankee Stadium in New York. Vol lineman Herman Hickman had an outstanding game that afternoon and Grantland Rice added Hickman to his All-America team on the basis of that performance. Tennessee won the Southern Conference championship again in 1932 with a 9-0-1 record and joined the fledgling Southeastern Conference a year later. In 1934, Tennessee won its 200th game, defeating Mississippi 27-0 in Knoxville Oct. 13.

Over that time, Neyland and Vols had assembled a 76-7-5 record, with undefeated streaks of 33 and 28 games along with a 14-game winning streak.

Neyland Returns from Panama for the Second of His Three Great Eras

Bill Britton had taken Neyland's place in the 1935 season. Neyland returned home for the 1936 season and immediately began building another dynasty.

By 1938, he was ready. With another group of sensational sophomores leading the way, he began a three-year run in which the Vols won 30 consecutive regular season games and visited the Orange, Rose and Sugar Bowls.

The 1938 team ended with an 11-0 record, defeating Oklahoma in the 1939 Orange Bowl, while the 1939 team shut out 10 consecutive opponents. No collegiate team has since shut out an entire slate of opponents. The Vols brought home a check for $100,000 from the 1940 Rose Bowl. The 1938 Vols were named national champions by Dunkel, Litkenhous, Boand, Houlgate and Poling.

In the 1939 Alabama game, which found Ted Husing of CBS and Bill Stern of NBC at Shields-Watkins Field covering the game, a sophomore tailback from Knoxville named Johnny Butler etched his name into Vol history with a 56-yard run against the Tide on which he went sideline to sideline for the score.

Neyland's record during this era was 43-7-3. The Vols still hold an NCAA record for holding opponents scoreless for 71 consecutive quarters (from the second quarter of the 1938 Louisiana State game through the second quarter of the 1940 Alabama game) and pitched 17 consecutive shutouts. The 1940 Vols were voted national champions by Dunkel and Williamson.

After the 1940 season, however, Neyland was called back to the military as winds of war hovered over the world. He was gone until the 1946 season, leaving the Vol football program in the hands of John Barnhill, who later became head coach and athletic director at Arkansas. Barnhill compiled a 32-5-2 record and led the Vols to the Sugar and Rose Bowls. The Vols also played their first night game in 1944, a 13-0 decision at LSU.

Four Vol players did not return home from World War II. They were Bill Nowling, Rudy Klarer, Willis Tucker and Clyde "Ig" Fuson. They are memorialized in the Tennessee Hall of Fame Exhibit on campus.

Neyland's Final Years: A Consensus National Championship Comes to Knoxville

Neyland arrived home from World War II for the 1946 season and noted, "It will take us five years to put Tennessee back on top." The Vols immediately won the SEC Championship and a bid to the Orange Bowl. His dominant player that season was Dick Huffman, still remembered as one of the toughest Vols ever. He would lead the charge against Alabama quarterback Harry Gilmer in a 12-0 Vol win.

Critics argued that Neyland had lost his touch, particularly in view of 5-5 and 4-4-2 seasons in 1947 and 1948 and the assertion that his beloved single-wing offense had gone out of style.

In 1948, Tennessee won its 300th game, defeating Alabama, 21-6, on Homecoming afternoon.

By the end of 1948, Neyland was ready for his final run as Vol head man. It was just before the 1949 season that Vol publicist Lindsey Nelson formed the initial Vol Radio Network.

After a 7-2-1 mark in 1949, led by another talented group of sophomores, the Vols kicked off the decade of the 1950s with an 11-1 season, marred only by a 7-0 loss at Mississippi State in the season's second week. The Vols, named national champions by Dunkel and DeVold, rolled through the season and upset Texas in the 1951 Cotton Bowl, sparked by a 75-yard run by tailback Hank Lauricella that Stern called one of the best he had ever seen.

Neyland's 1951 team came back and won the national championship with a 10-0 regular-season record. The contest with Alabama that season, a 27-13 Vol victory, was the Vols' first on a new invention called television. Lauricella, that season's Heisman Trophy runner-up, and defensive tackle Doug Atkins were later named to the College Football Hall of Fame. Atkins, named also to the Pro Football Hall of Fame for his work at Cleveland, Chicago and New Orleans, is the only Vol enshrined in both. Atkins was also named SEC "Player of the Quarter Century" in 1976.

Tennessee finished with an 8-2-1 record in 1952, but the big story was Neyland stepping down as Vol head coach just before the Cotton Bowl game against Texas, a game the Vols lost, 16-0. His record for his third stint at Tennessee was 54-17-4 and his overall record was 173-31-12.

In 1953 Smokey, a blue tick coon hound, became the Vols' official mascot by vote of the student crowd in a contest organized by the Pep Club. There have been Smokeys ever since then, eight in all, provided by the Brooks and Hudson families of Knoxville.

Harvey Robinson became the Vols' new head coach in 1953, serving through the 1954 season. Neyland once called dismissing Robinson after that season "the hardest thing I've ever had to do."

1955: Bowden Wyatt Returns Home

Wyatt, who had been head coach at Wyoming and Arkansas, returned to campus as Vol head coach in 1955, 17 years after leading the Vols to an 11-0 record in 1938. He hit the jackpot in 1956, his second year, as the Vols won the SEC and earned a berth in the Sugar Bowl. The Vols' 6-0 win over Georgia Tech that November, matching Neyland protegees Wyatt and Bobby Dodd at Atlanta's Grant Field, was later voted by the Associated Press as the second-greatest college football game ever.

Tailback Johnny Majors was twice SEC Player of the Year and an All-America selection and runner-up for the Heisman Trophy in 1956.

The Vols followed up the 1956 season with a 7-3 season in 1957 and played Bear Bryant's last Texas A&M team in the Gator Bowl, winning 3-0 on the accurate toe of placekicker Sammy Burklow.

The Vols closed out the decade of the 1950s with two major upset victories in 1959, defeating Auburn 3-0 in September and LSU 14-13 in November, both games in Knoxville.

The 1960 season saw the Vols begin the decade with a 10-3 win over Auburn in Birmingham and a 20-7 triumph over Alabama in Knoxville. No one knew that the Vols would not defeat the Tigers again until 1966 and the Tide until 1967. The Vols went 6-2-2 that season, 6-4 in 1961.

On March 28, 1962, Gen. Neyland died in New Orleans. In his memory, the stadium was named "Neyland Stadium" and an academic scholarship fund started, both events happening at the Alabama game. There was a new upper deck seating 5,837 on the west side, plus a new press box, making total stadium capacity 52,227.

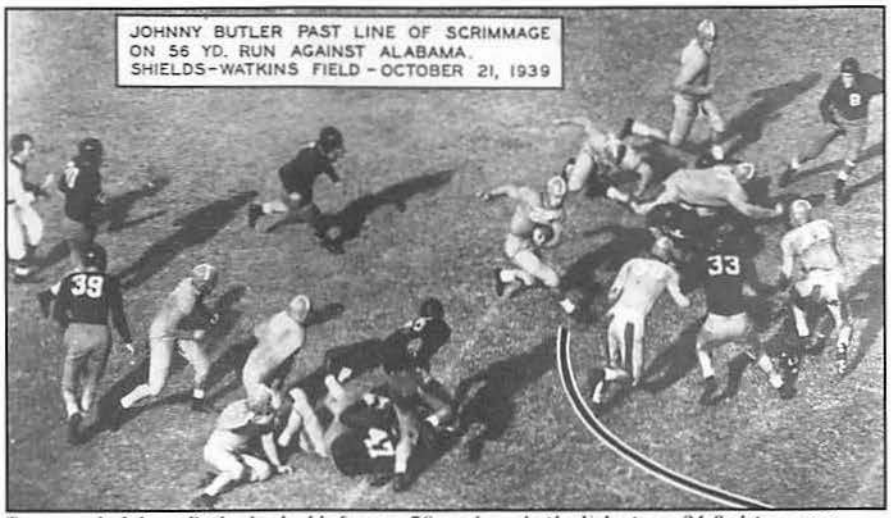
Wyatt's tenure as Vol coach ended after a 4-6 record in 1962, with assistant coach Jim McDonald taking the reins for the 1963 season. During that season, the first Neyland Stadium crowd of more than 50,000 saw the Vols play Georgia Tech. Later that season, the Vols took their 400th victory, defeating Tulane, 26-0, in New Orleans.

Doug Dickey Brings the "T" Formation to Knoxville

After the 1963 season, Doug Dickey, then a top assistant to Frank Broyles at Arkansas, became the Vols' head coach, bringing the "T" formation with him to Knoxville.

Dickey's first Tennessee team finished 4-5-1, but hopes were high as the Vols narrowly lost to Auburn and Alabama, tied Louisiana State at Baton Rouge and upset favored Georgia Tech at Grant Field. Middle guard Steve DeLong won the Outland Trophy and Dickey's staff recruited a freshman class which would help lead the Vols out of the wilderness. One of that year's recruits, wide receiver Richmond Flowers from Montgomery, Ala., was the first of a number of track-football athletes who brought a new dimension of speed to the Vol program.

Dickey's second team finished 8-1-2 and



Tennessee's Johnny Butler broke his famous 56-yard run in the Volunteers 21-0 victory over Alabama in Knoxville. The 1939 Vols are the last college football team to go through the regular season unscored upon.

earned a Bluebonnet Bowl bid, UT's first bowl game since 1957. The season's pivotal moment came in the aftermath of the Alabama game. The Vols had tied Alabama, 7-7, in Birmingham and spirits were high on the Knoxville campus. Line coach Charley Rash put a note in each of his linemen's mailbox that night after the game, saying: "Play like that every week and you'll go undefeated."

Two days later, Rash, Bill Majors and Bob Jones were killed in an early morning car-train collision in west Knoxville. Over 30 years later, persons connected with the Vol program still praise the way Dickey handled the tragedy, pulling everybody together and keeping the Vol program going.

One of the most memorable moments of that, or any other season, was the 37-34 "Rose-bonnet Bowl" victory over UCLA at Memorial Stadium in Memphis, so named by Vol broadcaster George Mooney because of the post-season destinations of the two teams. It was a classic offensive shootout that was finally settled when Vol quarterback Dewey Warren ambled around left end for the winning score and Bobby Petrella grabbed a last-ditch Bruin aerial.

In 1966, there was an addition of 5,895 seats to the north stands, which increased stadium capacity to 58,122. There was also a new scoreboard at the north end, with a "countdown clock," replacing one that was really a clock, complete with minute and second hands. Tennessee's 8-3 record, including an 18-12 Gator Bowl win over a Syracuse team which featured Larry Csonka and Floyd Little, presaged what was to come in 1967.

The Vols lost their opener to UCLA, a nocturnal affair at the Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum, but came back to win their remaining nine games and the SEC Championship, earning an Orange Bowl date against Oklahoma. The Vols swept Alabama, Auburn, Louisiana State and Mississippi, defeating the Tide for the first time since 1960 and the Rebels for the first time since 1958. The Vols finished No. 2 in the final polls and was selected as national champions by Litkenhous. One other note, the Vols' 41-14 win over Vanderbilt in December was the last game played on the Neyland Stadium grass until September of 1994.

In 1968, artificial turf came to Neyland Stadium. With the new turf and the demise of the grass field came a 6,307-seat east upper deck and new auxiliary scoreboard; the addition raised capacity to 64,429.

In the first game played on Tartan Turf against Vince Dooley's Georgia Bulldogs, Nashville's Lester McClain became Tennessee's first African-American to play in an SEC varsity football game. The Vols rallied for a 17-17 tie that day in an exciting finish led by quarterback Bubba Wyche. Runner-up in the SEC in 1968, Tennessee won the crown again in 1969 with a 9-1 record and played in the Gator Bowl.

NEYLAND, THE PSYCHOLOGIST: Neyland is shown in the dressing room with the Vols after the 1948 victory over Alabama.*

After the 1969 season, Dickey moved to Florida as head coach and 28-year-old Bill Battle became the Vols' new head man. His first team finished 11-1 and he became the first Division I head coach to win 11 games in his first year.

Seasons of 10-2 and 10-2 followed in 1971 and 1972. In 1972, 6,221 seats were added to the stadium's southwest corner and capacity was increased to 70,650.

That season, Condredge Holloway became a whirling dervish under center, a master of the broken field run. He ran over, under and even occasionally through opponents during his career, which saw him tabbed "The Artful Dodger."

In 1975, the Vols won their 500th game, defeating Kentucky, 17-13, at Commonwealth Stadium in Lexington.

Battle resigned after the 1976 season and Johnny Majors, then head coach of the national champion Pittsburgh Panthers, answered the University's call, coming as head coach for the 1977 season. "Follow me to Tennessee" was the rallying cry.

Johnny Majors Marches Home

His early teams had no bigger victory than a 40-18 victory over Notre Dame in 1979, a season in which the Vols led eventual national champion Alabama 17-0 in the second quarter at Legion Field. A 7-4 record was sufficient to earn a Bluebonnet Bowl bid.

A crowd of 95,288 saw the Vols and Georgia square off to begin the 1980 season. Georgia won, 16-15, on their way to a national championship, but the Vols did have their moments that year, taking a 42-0 win at Auburn and concluding the season with a 45-14 win over Kentucky and a 51-13 win over Vanderbilt.

The 1981 Vols overcame early, seemingly devastating, losses at Georgia and Southern California to post an 8-4 record and received a Garden State Bowl berth against Wisconsin. Slowly but surely, the Vols were on their way back.

With the 1982 World's Fair as a backdrop, Tennessee ended 11 years of frustration by defeating Alabama, 35-28, at Neyland Stadium. Mike Terry's interception cinched things and Vol fans counted the clock down on the first of four consecutive wins over Alabama. The game would also mark Bryant's final Neyland Stadium appearance. He stepped down after the season and died the next January.

Led by Reggie White, an absolute terror at defensive tackle, UT began an upsurge in fortunes in 1983, going 9-3 and winning the Florida Citrus Bowl. Johnnie Jones had the game-winner against the Tide, motoring 66 yards to break a 34-34 tie. In 1984, the Vols rallied from a 27-13 deficit in the fourth quarter to defeat Alabama 28-27. In 1985, the Vols surprised everybody by defeating No. 1 Auburn, 38-20, and Alabama, 16-14, on their way to an SEC crown, first since 1969, and a Sugar Bowl date with Miami. But it wasn't easy. Not at all.

Vol quarterback Tony Robinson, who had played brilliantly in a season-opening tie with UCLA and the win over Auburn, hurt a knee in the fourth quarter against Alabama and missed the rest of the season. Daryl Dickey, Doug Dickey's son, stepped into the breach and kept the Vol ship on course the rest of the way, including a 35-7 win over the Hurricanes that Vol fans remember fondly to this day. The Louisiana Superdome was Big Orange Country South that Jan. 1, 1986, night.

The 1989 season saw an 11-1 record, an SEC Championship and Cotton Bowl trip. The win over Arkansas in Dallas Jan. 1, 1990, was the Vols' 600th. The Vols were the most improved team in the country, coming from 5-6 in 1988 to 1989's 11-1.

The 1990s began with another SEC champinship and trip to the Sugar Bowl.

The highlight of the 1991 season came in South Bend, Ind., at Notre Dame Stadium, when the Vols overcame a 31-7 deficit to somehow win by 35-34. John Becksvoort, Vol placekicker, had dreamed of defeating the Irish with a field goal, but, in this case, an extra point was plenty.

Phillip Fulmer Takes Vols To National Title

The Phillip Fulmer head coaching era began auspiciously with victory in a bowl game and has remained successful to the point Fulmer has the best record of any active college coach going into the 2000 season. That's based on official NCAA rankings, which requires five years' experience to warrant recognition.

Fulmer, who stepped quietly into the ratings as soon as he became eligible, advanced from second place to first with the retirement of Nebraska's Tom Osborne after the 1997 season. Acquiring his first 50 victories at a faster pace than anybody else in Southeastern Conference history, Fulmer has guided his teams to an overall record of 76-14, giving him a percentage victory mark of .844.

Fulmer was named in November of 1992 to replace Johnny Majors, who had resigned. Fulmer's stewardship began with the Vols' trip to the Hall of Fame Bowl in Tampa. Quarterbacked by Heath Shuler, the Big Orange routed Boston College, 38-23. The victory, combined with three other triumphs in which Fulmer served as interim coach, gave the new mentor a 4-0 record heading into the 1993 campaign.

Vol gridiron success continued through Fulmer's first full season as head coach. The Vols went 10-2 in 1993, a year in which quarterback Heath Shuler finished runner-up for the Heisman Trophy. Tennessee was rewarded with a trip to the Florida Citrus Bowl where Penn State pulled out a 31-13 victory.

The 1994 season will be remembered for one of the guttiest comebacks ever staged by a Tennessee team. The Vols, whose first-string quarterback was injured in the opening minutes of the first game, limped to a 1-3 start but stuck together under Fulmer's direction and ended the season with an 8-4 mark, including a bowl victory.

UT closed the season by whipping Virginia Tech, 45-23, in the Gator Bowl and set the stage for a 1995 campaign that included a rousing victory at Alabama, six other SEC victories, an overall 11-1 record and an exciting 20-14 win over Ohio State in the Florida Citrus Bowl. Peyton Manning, Jay Graham and Joey Kent set school records for passing, rushing and receiving, respectively.

The CNN-USA Today coaches poll ranked UT No. 2 in the nation after that bowl win.

The 1996 Vols gave the school its second straight top 10 ranking with a 10-2 record capped by a 48-28 victory over Northwestern in the Florida Citrus Bowl. Record crowds filed through the gates of the newly enlarged Neyland Stadium, with a collegiate attendance mark of 107,608 for the Sept. 21 game with Florida. Fulmer received NCAA recognition, based on five years incumbency, for having the second highest career winning percentage (.827) among active head coaches.

The 1997 season tested the comeback quality of the Vols, who bounced back from a loss to Florida, won the rest of their games, including the SEC Championship contest over Auburn, and then had an outside shot at a No. 1 ranking in the AP and coaches' final poll. But alas, a national championship wasn't to be yet. After hanging in gamely through the first half, Tennessee yielded to powerhouse Nebraska and suffered a 42-17 drubbing in the Orange Bowl at Miami. But even that one-sided defeat couldn't diminish a season in which the Vols, behind the brilliant passing of Heisman runner-up Peyton Manning, won the Southeastern Conference championship after edging out Florida for the Eastern Division title.

Both Manning and linebacker Leonard Little were first-team All-Americas, and Manning earned a collection of trophies, most notable of which was the Sullivan Award given to the best amateur athlete in the nation.

As the 1998 season approached, Tennessee coaches were struck with the dimensions of the assignment that faced them: rebuild following the loss of the nation's best quarterback and one of the game's top defensive stars. Without Peyton Manning and Leonard Little, said the experts, the Vols would be relegated to an also-ran position in the Southeastern Conference.

Demonstrating the unpredictability of college football, Tennessee rolled undefeated through the regular season, defeated Mississippi State for the Southeastern Conference championship and then faced Florida State in the first Bowl Championship Series matchup. The brainchild of SEC commissioner Roy Kramer, the BCS brought together the two best teams in the nation in the Tostitos Fiesta Bowl at Tempe, Ariz.

Tee Martin, who had set an NCAA record for consecutive pass completions during the regular season, engineered a 23-16 victory over FSU in a title game that gave Tennessee the undisputed national championship and landed Phillip Fulmer deserved acclaim as national coach of the year.

Throughout the season, the Vols found themselves in a tight crack at crunch time but showed the resourcefulness that allowed them to escape every trap. The leadership of Martin and the emergence of Travis Henry and Travis Stephens as replacements at tailback when Jamal Lewis was injured received justified recognition for their part in the unsullied campaign. Certainly a defense led by All-America linebacker Al Wilson played magnificently at critical times, and placekicker Jeff Hall was Mr. Reliable with chips on the table against Syracuse and Florida.

But Fulmer insisted credit go to the full squad, an inspired team that he said "listened to their coaches" and each week did the things they were asked to do while ignoring distractions that might have interfered with their mission.

In 1999, the awarding of the beer barrel, the symbol of the rivalry between Tennessee and Kentucky since 1925, was discontinued.

Tennessee closed out the decade with its school-record 11th straight bowl trip and a No. 9 ranking which marked the fifth consecutive year with a top 10 finish.

1894 AND 1895 THE LOST YEARS NO OFFICIAL TEAM

In October 1894, the Athletic Association resolved to drop varsity football and look forward to baseball in the spring. After the humiliating 1893 season (two wins and four imposing defeats), only two athletes willing to admit they had played on the 1893 team returned to campus in 1894. To complicate matters further, the practice field, located just west of the main entrance to the Hill, was being graded and improved.

Soon after this decision, W.B. Stokely, a UT senior who transferred from Wake Forest, persuaded a group of students to form a team. Stokely, who was elected captain, gave encouragement and direction to the other players. Even though the institution chose not to be represented officially on the gridiron, Stokely and his unofficial team kept football interest alive during this period when almost certainly it would have otherwise been allowed to lapse completely.

Listed below are games in which these teams competed. These unofficial games are not included in NCAA statistics or in official University of Tennessee win-loss records.

1917 AND 1918 WORLD WAR I NO OFFICIAL TEAMS

The University of Tennessee Athletic Council, chaired by Professor Nathan W. Dougherty, officially suspended varsity football during the World War I years of 1917 and 1918 because the majority of the players were called into military service. In addition, Coach John R. Bender was enlisted as an instructor at Camp John Sevier in Greenville, South Carolina.

During this period without varsity football, two unofficial teams were formed from Army recruits and students. One team represented a training unit called the Fighting Mechanics and the other the Student Army Training Corps (SATC).

R. R. NEYLAND (1946-52)

General Neyland's retirement from military service enabled him to devote full time to coaching and building one of the most powerful programs in the nation. He produced the national championship team in 1951 and took the Vols to three straight major bowl appearances. Poor health in 1952 forced his retirement to athletic director, a position he held until his death in 1962. He was elected to the Hall of Fame in 1956. His record for this period was 54-17-4. Complete record: 173-31-12.

Retired Jersey

Manning, the Vols' most decorated player of all-time, flew back to Knoxville from New York just hours after being tabbed as the NFL's No. 1 draft choice by the Indianapolis Colts.

Manning, the Southeastern Conference's all-time leading passer with 11,201 yards, set 42 passing records during his Vol career that included two NCAA, seven SEC and 33 UT marks.

Off the field, Manning was named the National Scholar-Athlete of the Year in 1997 and graduated in three years with a degree in speech communication. He had the department's highest grade point average (3.61) in his graduating class.

Manning's jersey is displayed in a special exhibit in Tennessee's Hall of Fame in the Neyland-Thompson Sports Complex.

"The retired jersey is the centerpiece of the display, but we also want to make sure Peyton's many accomplishments are recognized," Athletic Director Doug Dickey said. "His career is of historic proportions, involving such outstanding honors as winning the Sullivan, Maxwell, Davey O'Brien and Johnny Unitas Awards. His was a unique career for this university, something we want Vol fans to enjoy for all time."

Retired Numbers

University of Tennessee jersey numbers 32, 49, 61 and 62 have been retired in memory of four Vol players who died in World War II.

No. 32 was worn by Bill Nowling (Aug. 8, 1920 — Aug. 9, 1944), a fullback 1940-42, from St. Petersburg, Fla., a three-year starter under Robert Neyland and John Barnhill.

No. 49 was worn by Rudy Klarer (March 9, 1923 — Jan. 6, 1945), a reserve guard in 1941 and starter in 1942, from Louisville, Ky.

No. 61 was worn by Willis Tucker (May 10, 1918 — Nov. 28, 1944), a graduate of Knoxville High School, who earned a Vol football letter in 1940 and was a sprint star on the Vol track team.

No. 62 was worn by Clyde "Ig" Fuson (March 11, 1923 — Dec. 4, 1944), a native of Middlesboro, Ky., and fullback on the 1942 team, who shared playing time with Nowling. Ig had a younger brother, Herschel "Ug" Fuson, who was a freshman on the 1942 team and transferred to West Point where he graduated.

Plaques commemorating the lives and Vol careers of each of these players were presented to the University by District 2 of the Department of Tennessee Veterans of Foreign Wars and are on display in the Vols' Hall of Fame Room in Neyland-Thompson Sports Center.

Tennessee has appeared in five consecutive New Year's bowl games, including nine in the 1990s.

Tennessee has made a school-record 11 consecutive bowl appearances and has reached postseason play in 18 of the last 19 years.

Tennessee Bowl History Paved With Opportunities, Big Plays and National Championship Scenarios

When bowl matchmakers begin the mental calculations leading toward their annual holiday events, Tennessee is one of a select group of universities that always receive thoughtful consideration.

Under Phillip Fulmer, the Vols consistently provide an exciting bowl-game spectacle with high-powered offense and grudging defense. But that's just one of many reasons Tennessee is a bowl promoter's dream.

UT's other irresistible lure is its legions of fans, a collection of devoted supporters who bathe a neutral bowl site in a sea of orange worthy of a game at Neyland Stadium. The Vol faithful are good travelers who arrive at the game site early and make themselves seen and heard until they leave town.

Tennessee has appeared in 40 bowl games, of which a couple stand out as particularly memorable because of the bearing they had on producing two of the school's national championships.

In the early years of wire service polls, the national champion was selected at the end of the regular season. Bowl results were not part of the evaluation process. But Tennessee's Cotton Bowl victory over Texas after the 1950 season was invaluable in paving the way for the crown UT claimed in 1951.

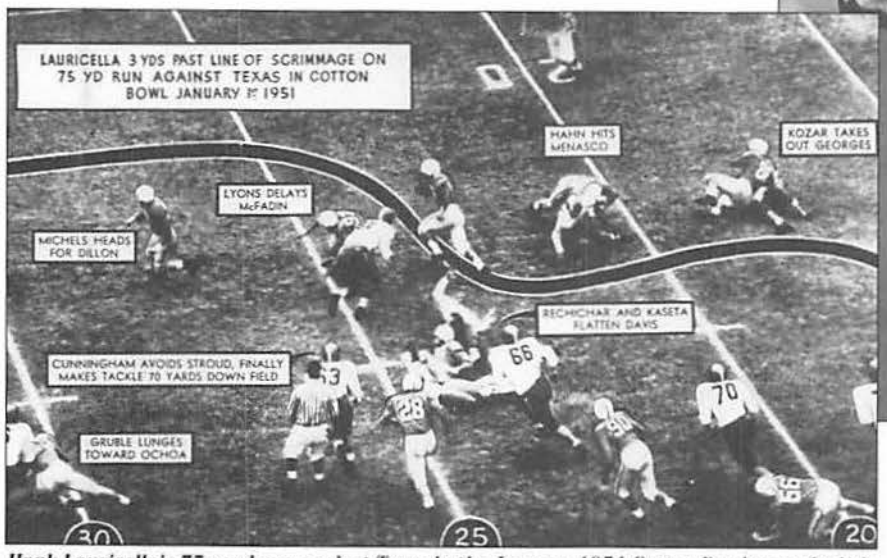
The 20-14 upset of the Longhorns in Dallas on New Year's Day made the Vols the team to beat going into the next season. When the curtain fell on the 1951 campaign, Tennessee had ridden the momentum of its Cotton Bowl triumph to the national title as awarded by both wire service polls.

Forty-seven years later, a bowl game was crucial to another UT national championship claim. In the first officially sanctioned Bowl Championship Series title game, the Vols met Florida State in a matchup of the two top-ranked teams at the close of the season.

Led by the passing of quarterback Tee Martin, the Vols capped an undefeated season by turning back the Seminoles, 23-16, before a capacity crowd at the Tostitos Fiesta Bowl in Tempe, Ariz. National championship pandemonium reigned throughout the night at any place Vol fans were gathered.

The significance of bowl games is in the eye of the individual, however, so you can pick among almost two dozen UT victories for your favorites. Certainly some of the other leaders would include: 1939 Orange Bowl (Vols 17, Oklahoma 0), 1965 Bluebonnet Bowl (Vols 27, Tulsa 6), 1971 Liberty Bowl (Vols 14, Arkansas 13), 1986 Sugar Bowl (Vols 37, Miami 7), 1990 Cotton Bowl (Vols 31, Arkansas 27) and 1996 Citrus Bowl (Vols 20, Ohio State 14).

When the 2000 season gets under way Sept. 2 at Neyland Stadium, Tennessee will try to take the first step toward a 12th straight bowl appearance and the 41st in school history.



Hank Lauricella's 75-yard run against Texas in the January 1951 Cotton Bowl gave the Vols the momentum they needed for a successful national championship run the following season

Peerless Price's 79-yard touchdown put the finishing touches on the Vols' 23-16 win over Florida State in the Tostitos Fiesta Bowl and capped a 13-0 season for the 1998 national championship.

NEW YORK CHARITY GAME

DEC. 5, 1931

TENNESSEE 13 NEW YORK U. 0

NEW YORK — It didn't count, at least according to NCAA statisticians, but Tennessee's first post-season bowl appearance came in the 1931 Charity Bowl game at Yankee Stadium.

The game was set up by New York City Mayor Jimmy Walker and was an intersectional clash between the Vols and the Violets of New York University. The Vols were 8-0-1 in 1931, with a 6-6 deadlock against Kentucky marring an otherwise perfect season.

It was Capt. Neyland's sixth year at the Vol helm and the Vols and had compiled a 52-2-4 overall through the end of the 1931 season.

Hickman's sensational defensive play earned him a spot on Grantland Rice's 1931 All-America team. Rice was so impressed with Hickman's performance that he named him to his All-America team on the basis of the Charity Bowl game alone.

Three future Vol College Football Hall of Fame members, Gene McEver, Beattie Feathers, and Hickman, played in the contest. In addition, Capt. Neyland would also be inducted into the College Football Hall of Fame in 1956.

The Vols' second trip to New York was much better than their first. Seven years earlier, the Vols had lost to Army 41-0 at West Point.

Feathers and Deke Brackett had long touchdown runs and Hickman anchored the Vol defense as Tennessee defeated the Violets by a 13-0 count.

The game was one of a number of contests played during the Great Depression (mainly in 1931) to raise money for relief of the unemployed in response to the President's Committee on Mobilization of Relief Resources. In addition to the Charity Bowl, the Army-Navy games of 1930 and 1931 were played at Yankee Stadium. The NCAA does not recognize these games in the all-time bowl game records.

1939 ORANGE BOWL

JAN. 2, 1939

TENNESSEE 17 OKLAHOMA 0

MIAMI — Tennessee and Oklahoma squared off in the 1939 Orange Bowl in a classic battle of speed against size. And, when it was over, Tennessee's speed and stamina had won out by a 17-0 count. Tennessee had come into the game undefeated and No. 2 in the country and Oklahoma was riding a 14-game winning streak.

Tennessee scored first when a 15-yard penalty backed the Sooners to their 3-yard line. Vol tailback George Cafego returned the ensuing punt to the Sooner 27 and followed up the punt return with a key gain to the 12. Two plays later, Bob Foxx scored from the 8. The Vols scored a field goal after a Sooner fumble, a 22-yarder by Bowden Wyatt, and led 10-0 at the half.

Tennessee scored its final touchdown in the fourth quarter on a 19-yard run by Babe Wood on a reverse. The Vols polished off their eighth shutout of the season by stopping the Sooners the rest of the way and finished undefeated in 11 games.

It was a penalty-plagued game as tempers flared throughout the contest and more than 200 yards were assessed against the teams.

1940 ROSE BOWL

JAN. 1, 1940

SOUTHERN CAL 14 TENNESSEE 0

PASADENA — The Vols were 10-0 in the 1939 season and did not give up a point, heading by train to Pasadena for the 1940 Rose Bowl undefeated in 23 games and unscored upon in 15, but both streaks came to a halt against Southern California.

It marked the first of two Vol appearances in the Rose Bowl in the decade of the 1940s, both against SOuthern Cal.

Playing without star tailback George Cafego, the victim of a knee injury against The Citadel earlier in the year, the Vols fumbled away a golden opportunity in the fourth period and fell 14-0.

Southern Cal racked up 229 yards rushing, scored in the second and fourth quarter and ran nearly double the plays from scrimmage to take the 14-0 triumph.

The 1939 Tennessee team was the last to hold a full season of opponents scoreless, with future College Football Hall of Famers George Cafego, Bob Suffridge and Ed Molinski leading the way. Major Bob Neyland was also named to the College Hall.

MIAMI -- Tennessee and Oklahoma scramble after the ball in the 1939 Orange Bowl, a 17-0 Vol triumph, and one of the roughest bowl games ever played.

1941 SUGAR BOWL

JAN. 1, 1941

BOSTON COLLEGE 19 TENNESSEE 13

NEW ORLEANS — Boston College and Tennessee met in the 1941 Sugar Bowl in a game that had all the earmarks of a David and Goliath story. Before a record crowd at Tulane Stadium, the underdog Boston College team had pulled off the upset and, to make matters worse, did it with a play taken directly from the Vols' playbook.

Tennessee scored first on a 4-yard run by Van Thompson and the conversion by Bob Foxx, but lost the ball on downs at the BC 11 and lost an interception at the BC 15. The half ended 7-0.

Boston College tied the score in the third period, blocking a Tennessee punt and scoring quickly. It had been seven years since a Vol punt was blocked. The Vols went back ahead as Buist Warren scored from the 2 and Tennessee led 13-7.

Boston College answered immediately as Mike Holovak scored from the 1 after a 70-yard drive. The point failed and it was 13-13 entering the final canto. With six minutes left, the Eagles disdained the ground game and three passes moved the ball to the Vol 24. Eagle tailback Charlie O'Rourke then ran left, raised his arm as if to pass and sprinted 24 yards for the touchdown. Eagle Coach Frank Leahy said after the game he had seen the play in a Vol film and added it to his playbook.

Tennessee saw two scoring chances in the fourth quarter go by the boards, as Foxx missed a field goal and the Vols lost a fumble at the BC 38.

JAN. 1, 1943

TENNESSEE 14 TULSA 7

NEW ORLEANS — Tennessee made its second trip to the Sugar Bowl in three years to play Henry Frank's pass-minded Tulsa Hurricane.

Despite a passing show by the Hurricanes' Glenn Dobbs, the Vols escaped with a 14-7 win. Tulsa scored first, but the Vols dominated the game from that point on to take the victory, racking up 208 yards rushing and holding Tulsa to minus-39 yards rushing. Bill Gold and Clyde "Ig" Fuson scored touchdowns and Denver Crawford blocked a punt for a safety as the Vols squared their bowl record at 2-2.

PASADENA — Tennessee finished 7-0-1 in 1944, but met its match against Southern California in the 1945 Rose Bowl, the second contest between the cross-country rivals in Pasadena in five seasons.

Tennessee had not fielded a team in 1943 and, given the green light by the conference to do so in 1944, put together an eight-game schedule that assembled talent available.

1947 ORANGE BOWL

RICE 8 TENNESSEE 0

MIAMI — Rice scored a touchdown and a safety in the first quarter and played defense and the kicking game in the best Tennessee tradition to defeat Bob Neyland's Volunteers 8-0 in the 1947 Orange Bowl.

Rice blocked two Vol punts in the first quarter, the second of which led to a safety and, combined with a touchdown drive of 83 yards, it was enough to win. The touchdown came on a lateral from Buddy Russ to Huey Kenney after Russ had run 25 yards to the Vol 25. Kenney took it in and Rice led.

Rice coach Jess Neely was then content to put the game in the hands of his defense, which held the Vols to five first downs and 137 yards.

The Vols had one big shot early in the second half, recovering a fumble at the Rice 18. But Rice intercepted a fourth-down pass and was in control from that point.

JAN. 1, 1951

TENNESSEE 20 TEXAS 14

DALLAS — Tennessee's once-defeated Volunteers dominated the second half and defeated Texas 20-14 in the 1951 Cotton Bowl. The Vols scored first, on a 2-yard pass from Herky Payne to John Gruble, a play set up by a now-historic 75-yard run by Hank Lauricella, on which he reversed his field three times and slowed only to allow his blockers to catch up.

The Longhorns rallied to take a 14-7 halftime lead, parlaying a blocked kick into one score and a pass into another. The Vols closed to one point early in the third quarter, when fullback Andy Kozar bulled in from the 5. Later in the quarter, Jim Hill intercepted a Longhorn pass and the Vols were goalward again.

The teams exchanged fumbles on two consecutive plays and the Vols took the Texas turnover in for the winning score. Kozar got 6, Lauricella hit Rechichar for 23 and ran for 11. Finally, Kozar scored his second touchdown and the Vols held off a late Texas charge to win 20-14.

MARYLAND 28 TENNESSEE 13

NEW ORLEANS — Tennessee went to New Orleans undefeated and the 1951 national champions. But the Vols fell victim to an undefeated Maryland team that scored 21 points in 16 minutes and never looked back. The final was 28-13.

Maryland uncorked a strong running game to lead 21-6 at the half and used a timely interception return for a touchdown to keep the Vols at bay.

Tennessee showed only flashes of the power that had been its trademark during the regular season. Vol tailback Herky Payne led two touchdown drives, but otherwise, the Maryland defense stopped the Vol attack, using an eight-man line.

BAYLOR 13 TENNESSEE 7

NEW ORLEANS — No. 11-rated Baylor beat Tennessee at its own game in the 1957 Sugar Bowl, turning four interceptions and a key fumble recovery into a 13-7 win over the previously undefeated and No. 2-ranked Volunteers.

Baylor scored first on a pass from Bobby Jones to Jerry Marcontell covering 12 yards. The touchdown drive had been keyed by Shofner's 54-yard run after a Johnny Majors quick-kick. Tennessee had two drives snuffed by interceptions in the first half and trailed 6-0 at intermission.

The Vols scored early in the third quarter as Majors and fullback Tommy Bronson led the charge downfield and Baylor contributed a key piling-on penalty. Majors scored from the 1 and Sammy Burklow's conversion gave the Vols a 7-6 lead. The Vols held that lead into the fourth quarter when Majors was hit on a punt return and fumbled at the Vol 15. Baylor recovered and moved in for the winning score.

The Vols had two last chances to score, but two Baylor interceptions and a sack of Vol tailback Bobby Gordon erased the Vols' last scoring opportunities.

1957 GATOR BOWL

DEC. 28, 1957

TENNESSEE 3 TEXAS A&M 0

JACKSONVILLE — In Paul "Bear" Bryant's last game as Aggie head coach, Tennessee used a fourth quarter field goal by placekicker Sammy Burklow and a stubborn defense to hand the Aggies a 3-0 defeat on a wet and muddy Gator Bowl field. It was the lowest-scoring game in the history of the Gator Bowl and was played before a Gator Bowl-record crowd of 43,709.

The field goal was the first of Burklow's career and came from 17 yards out with 5:30 left to play in the game. It was a day for the defenses to shine as action was confined between the 35-yard lines.

The game was marked by the now-famous collision between Vol tailback Bobby Gordon and Aggie Heisman Trophy winner John David Crow on the Vols' march to the winning score. Both players recovered to continue play, with Gordon holding for Burklow's game-winning field goal.

1965 BLUEBONNET BOWL

TENNESSEE 27 TULSA 6

HOUSTON — Tennessee made its first bowl appearance since the Gator Bowl victory over Texas A & M in 1957 and made it a successful return by taking the measure of the Tulsa Hurricanes 27-6 in a swampy Rice Stadium.

The game was played in the wettest weather that ever confronted a Tennessee team, a steady downpour that that did not cease until long after the game was over.

The Vols took care of business quickly, moving to a 20-6 halftime lead by taking advantage of Tulsa turnovers and some brilliant work on the kicking game. Tulsa fumbles led to the Vol touchdowns by Hal Wantland and Dewey Warren and Jerry Smith's 45-yard punt return led to the third, another score by Warren. Glenn Gray's pass interception led to the final Vol score, an 11-yard burst by fullback Stan Mitchell.

Tulsa gained 250 yards through the air despite the wet conditions, but three fumbles and four Vol interceptions turned the game Tennessee's way.

DEC. 31, 1966

TENNESSEE 18 SYRACUSE 12

JACKSONVILLE — Tennessee won its second consecutive bowl game under the tutelage of Doug Dickey, defeating Syracuse 18-12 in a game in which each team dominated one half.

Despite an early fumble that gave Syracuse favorable field position, the Vols got field goals from Gary Wright in the first and second quarters to lead 6-0. Another field goal appeared to be in the offing in the second period at the Syracuse 24, but the Vols caught Syracuse by surprise and quarterback Dewey Warren hit tight end Austin Denney instead for the touchdown and a 12-0 lead. Bill Young's interception led to the third Vol score, which came on a 2-yard strike from Warren to flanker Richmond Flowers.

Syracuse, led by the running of future pro stars Floyd Little and Larry Csonka, scored on their first possession of the second half. They lost the ball on downs at the Vol 3 later in the period and scored their final touchdown with 46 seconds left.

JAN. 1, 1968

OKLAHOMA 26 TENNESSEE 24

MIAMI — A night football game, this time at Miami's Orange Bowl, became the Vols' undoing for the second time in the 1967 season. The Vols closed the 1967 season the way they opened it, with a loss under the lights. While UCLA was the culprit in the opener, Oklahoma edged the Vols in the season finale.

The Vols fell behind 19-0 in the first half and saw their first series of the second half stopped at the Oklahoma 14. But, on the ensuing series, Jimmy Glover returned a pass interception 36 yards for a touchdown and the Vols were back in the game. With 5:07 left in the third quarter, Charley Fulton scored and it was 19-14 as the fourth quarter began.

The Vols closed to 19-17, before giving up an interception that the Sooners returned for a touchdown. Warren brought the Vols back once again, capping a 77-yard drive with a 1-yard sneak and it was 26-24.

The Vols took possession at the Oklahoma 43 when Steve Owens was stopped short on fourth-and-1 and worked the ball to the 27 with time running out. But Karl Kremser's field goal faded wide right and Oklahoma had the game.

DALLAS — The other "Big Orange," the Texas Longhorns, rolled up 513 yards in total offense and held the white-shirted Vols to just 83 yards rushing in taking a convincing 36-13 triumph in the 1969 Cotton Bowl.

The Texans jumped to a 28-0 halftime lead, parlaying a crunching ground attack spiced by the passing combination of Jim Street and Cotton Speyrer. The Vols had an early shot at the Longhorns, but a 57-yard field goal missed and the Longhorns assumed command. The Longhorns intercepted three Vol passes.

1969 GATOR BOWL

DEC. 27, 1969

FLORIDA 14 TENNESSEE 13

JACKSONVILLE — Before a Gator Bowl- record crowd of 72,248, SEC champ Tennessee went down in defeat to a Florida team which, like the Vols, had far exceeded expectations during the regular season.

Damage from the heralded passing duo of John Reaves and Carlos Alvarez was held to manageable proportions, but Tennessee's inability to score inside the 10 sealed the Vols' fate.

Workhorse running back Curt Watson gained 121 yards on 25 carries and tight end Ken DeLong caught five passes for 50 yards. But a blocked punt that Florida turned into a touchdown was the ultimate difference.

1971 SUGAR BOWL

JAN. 1, 1971

TENNESSEE 34 AIR FORCE 13

NEW ORLEANS — Tennessee broke a three-game bowl losing streak at the expense of a highly-touted Air Force team. Scoring a record 24 points in the first quarter, the Vols rolled to a convincing 34-13 triumph, finishing the 1970 season with a school-record 11-1 worksheet.

The first 12 minutes were nothing but fun for Vol partisans. The Vols scored the first four times they had the ball and mounted a 24-0 lead with 3:21 left in the opening quarter. Don McLeary scored twice, George Hunt booted a field goal and Gary Theiler caught a touchdown pass from game-MVP Bobby Scott.

A rugged Tennessee defense thwarted the Air Force offense time after time. Led by Ray Nettles, Tim Priest and Jamie Rotella, the Vols held Air Force to minus 12 yards rushing. The Vols secondary continued its assault, grabbing four interceptions. The Vols also grabbed four Air Force fumbles.

1971 LIBERTY BOWL

DEC. 20, 1971

TENNESSEE 14 ARKANSAS 13

MEMPHIS — Late in the fourth quarter, Arkansas looked to be a sure winner of the 1971 Liberty Bowl game only to see the game get away and Tennessee had enough left in the tank to grab an improbable victory.

A packed house at the Liberty Bowl that was nearly evenly divided in its loyalties saw the two schools battle for the first time since 1907 on a cold December evening.

Leading 13-7 and apparently dominating the game, the Razorbacks had a potential game-winning field goal nullified by a penalty. A series later, the Hogs lost a fumble after a completed pass at their 36.

With the break, the Vols struck quickly for the winning score, just as Gen. Neyland's game maxims had said. Quarterback Jim Maxwell, pressed into service in the Tulsa game earlier in the season and who was undefeated as a starter, hit tight end Gary Theiler to the Arkansas 19 to get the Vols in position.

Fullback Curt Watson, "The Crossville Comet," who was closing out a brilliant career in Orange and White, finished the drive with a 17-yard touchdown run, making a nifty move at the goal to find paydirt. George Hunt's extra point was the margin of victory. Eddie Brown had an interception on the ensuing series to seal the deal.

The narrow victory enabled the Vols to finish No. 9 in both national polls and finish 10-2 for the second. It was the first of three Liberty Bowl wins for the Vols, the others coming in 1974 and 1986.

1972 BLUEBONNET BOWL

DEC. 30, 1972

TENNESSEE 24 LSU 17

HOUSTON — Condredge Holloway turned in his most electrifying performance of the season, completing 11 of 19 passes for 94 yards and rushing for 74 yards in 19 carries, to lead the Vols past SEC rival Louisiana State 24-17 in the 1972 Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl.

Holloway, who was named the game's outstanding player, led the Vols to a 24-3 halftime lead, scoring twice and throwing a touchdown pass to tight end Jimmy Young. Known as the "Artful Dodger," Holloway kept the Tigers off balance the first 30 minutes and left Vol fans wondering what might be ahead for the diminutive signal-caller from Huntsville, Ala.

Things got tense for the Vols in the second half as Louisiana State All-America Bert Jones led the Tigers to two second half scores and was threatening a third when All-America and senior defensive back Conrad Graham cleanly broke up a fourth down pass at the Vol 10 to preserve the victory.

TEXAS TECH 28 TENNESSEE 19

JACKSONVILLE — Tennessee and Texas Tech gave the 62,000-plus fans on hand an exciting offensive show that was another in a series of 1973 games that went down to the wire before a winner was determined. This time, however, it was Texas Tech jumping to an early lead and hanging on for a 28-19 victory.

The Red Raiders jumped to a 14-0 lead on the running and passing of quarterback Joe Barnes and led 14-3 at the half as Ricky Townsend got the Vols on the board with a 30-yard field goal.

Haskel Stanback led the Vols' second-half rally, running for one touchdown and catching a pass from Condredge Holloway for another. The Vols closed to 21-19, but misfired on a two-point conversion and a field goal before a long run and subsequent touchdown put the game away for the Texans.

Stanback gained 95 yards in 19 carries and was named Tennessee's outstanding player.

1974 LIBERTY BOWL

DEC. 16, 1974

TENNESSEE 7 MARYLAND 3

MEMPHIS — Two Vol sophomores teamed up for the winning score in the 1974 Liberty Bowl. Randy Wallace, subbing for the injured Condredge Holloway, threw an 11-yard touchdown pass to Larry Seivers with 2:44 left in the game to subdue the Terps 7-3. Seivers outleaped two Maryland defenders for the winning score.

Until that time, Maryland had the better of it. Led by All-America tackle Randy White, the Terps had kept the Vols bottled up throughout the cold December night in Memphis. The Terps got a second quarter field goal and almost made it stand up.

Mike Gayles, who gained 106 yards in 17 carries, was named the Vols' outstanding offensive player. Defensive end Ron McCartney was named the Vols' defensive standout.

1979 BLUEBONNET BOWL

DEC. 31, 1979

PURDUE 27 TENNESSEE 22

HOUSTON — Tennessee, making its first bowl appearance in five years, saw a gutty second half comeback fall short in the waning moments of the fourth quarter. Trailing 21-0 in the third quarter, the Vols rallied to take the lead 22-21 late in the fourth quarter. But Purdue quarterback Mark Herrmann threw the game-winner, a 17-yard toss to Charley Young, with just 1:30 remaining.

The Vols' comeback was triggered by an 8-yard Jimmy Streater pass to halfback Glenn Ford. The second Vol touchdown came on a pass from wingback Phil Ingram to tailback James Berry. When Hubert Simpson scored the two-pointer, the Vols were back in the game. The Vols took the lead as Simpson scored and ran the two-point conversion.

All-America defensive back Roland James was the Defensive Player of the Game, with eight unassisted tackles and a 19-yard punt return to his credit. Streater finished with 270 yards rushing and passing.

DEC. 13, 1981

TENNESSEE 28 WISCONSIN 21

EAST RUTHERFORD — Steve Alatorre completed 24 of 42 passes for 315 yards and one touchdown as the Vols defeated Wisconsin 28-21.

After Wisconsin went ahead 7-3 in the first quarter, Willie Gault returned the ensuing kickoff 87 yards for a touchdown and the Vols were never headed. Alatorre hit wide receiver Anthony Hancock, who made 11 catches on the day, with a 43-yard scoring strike and the Vols led 21-7 in the half. The Vol defense did their part with two first-half interceptions.

Wisconsin's Randy Wright kept the Badgers in the game in the second half, throwing two touchdown passes, but Alatorre's 6-yard run in the fourth quarter proved to be the difference.

Both Alatorre and Hancock made their final Vol game their best. Alatorre was named the game's outstanding player. Defensively, tackle Reggie White led the Vols.

ATLANTA — Iowa built a 21-7 first half lead, keyed by three Chuck Long touchdown passes, and weathered a second half Vol rally to win the 1982 Peach Bowl 28-22.

Tennessee's second-half comeback was led by quarterback Alan Cockrell and running backs Chuck Coleman and Doug Furnas. The Vols came off the mat to register two touchdowns and a field goal to close to 28-22 late in the fourth quarter.

With the clock winding down, the outcome hinged on two short yardage plays the Hawkeyes stopped at their 7. On third-and-2, Cockrell's pass was deflected. On fourth down, the Vol signal-caller was stopped short on a counter-option.

Cockrell completed 22 of 41 passes for 221 yards and one touchdown and was named Tennessee's Outstanding Player by CBS broadcasters.

ORLANDO — The Vols closed out their finest season since 1972, scoring two fourth quarter touchdowns to defeat Maryland 30-23, before a sell-out crowd of 50,500 and millions more on ESPN.

Cockrell completed 16 of 23 passes for 185 yards and one touchdown. Clyde Duncan caught six passes for 59 yards and Lenny Taylor caught four for 68 yards and one touchdown.

The Vols were led on defense by linebacker Alvin Toles, who recovered a fumble and intercepted a pass, both efforts leading to Vol scores. The Vols also held the Terrapins to 95 yards on the ground.

EL PASO — Maryland, trailing 21-0 to Tennessee after the first half, scored 22 points in the third quarter and grimly held on for a 28-27 victory in the 1984 Sun Bowl. The issue was in doubt until Maryland defensive back Keeta Covington jarred the ball loose from the Vols' Tony Robinson, just when the Vols looked to be in position to win on a last-second field goal attempt.

The Vols jumped to the early lead on the running of tailback Johnnie Jones and the passing combo of Robinson to Tim McGee. Fuad Reveiz added two field goals and the Vols appeared in control.

Maryland reeled off 22 consecutive points in the third quarter, before Pete Panuska gave the Vols their last lead of the game, returning a Maryland kickoff 100 yards for the go-ahead score. Maryland's Rick Badjanek scored the game-winner with 2:28 left. But it remained for Covington to make his big play to secure the Maryland victory.

1986 SUGAR BOWL

JAN. 1, 1986

TENNESSEE 35 MIAMI 7

NEW ORLEANS — Tennessee rang in 1986 in grand fashion, taking a 35-7 decision over the highly-touted Miami Hurricanes in the 52nd Sugar Bowl. A Louisiana Superdome crowd of 77,432 saw the Vols spot the Hurricanes an early 7-0 lead, but, after Daryl Dickey and Jeff Smith hooked up for a 6-yard touchdown pass early in the second quarter, the Vols were completely in control.

Ken Donahue's defensive troops ruled the Superdome turf, rattling the Hurricanes for six turnovers, seven quarterback sacks and five tackles for lost yardage.

The Vols took the lead late in the first half when wide receiver Tim McGee corralled a Vol fumble in the end zone. They extended their lead in the third quarter as fullback Sam Henderson scored from 1-yard out after Darrin Miller's fumble recovery gave the Vols the ball at the Miami 32. After a Miami punt, Tennessee's Jeff Powell brought Vol fans to their feet, sprinting 60 yards for another Vol touchdown. All-America defensive back Chris White intercepted Miami quarterback Vinny Testaverde in the fourth quarter to set up a 6-yard scoring run by Charles Wilson.

The win evened the Vols' Sugar Bowl mark at 3-3. Dickey, who completed 15 of 25 passes for 131 yards and one touchdown, was named the game's outstanding player. The Vols' 35 points set a school record for the most points scored in a bowl game, eclipsing the previous mark of 34 set against Air Force in the 1971 Sugar Bowl.

1986 LIBERTY BOWL

DEC. 29, 1986

TENNESSEE 21 MINNESOTA 14

MEMPHIS — Jeff Francis threw three touchdown passes and the Vol defense shut down Minnesota when it had to, leading Tennessee to a 21-14 victory over Minnesota in the 28th Liberty Bowl.

The Vols jumped to a 14-3 halftime lead as Francis threw touchdown passes to wide receiver Joey Clinkscales and fullback William Howard. Minnesota got a late field goal from Chip Lohmiller and trailed 14-3 at the half.

The Gophers dominated the third period, getting a touchdown from quarterback Rickey Foggie on a fourth-down option play. Freshman Darrell Thompson's two-point conversion run put Minnesota back in the game. Another field goal from Lohmiller in the fourth quarter knotted the count.

The Vols roared back for the clinching score, as Francis hit Nate Middlebrooks and Anthony Miller to move deep into Minnesota territory. On third-and-3, he hit Clinkscales for the game-winner in the left corner of the end zone. The Vol defense shut down Foggie and Minnesota the rest of the way and rang up UT's third Liberty Bowl victory in as many tries.

TENNESSEE 27 INDIANA 22

ATLANTA — Tennessee closed the 1987 season the way it began it way back in August, posting a come-from-behind over a Big Ten rival. This time the Indiana Hoosiers were the victim, as the Vols rallied once again in the fourth quarter for a 27-22 victory.

A record Peach Bowl crowd of 58,737 saw the Vols explode to a 21-3 lead early in the second quarter as quarterback Jeff Francis led three scoring drives and threw TD passes to Anthony Miller and Terence Cleveland. Indiana rallied in the second half and led 22-21 late in the fourth quarter. But the Vol defense stiffened and Francis and his offensive mates got the ball at the Hoosier 40.

The Vols took it for the winning score as Francis scrambled for a crucial first down and Cobb got the game-winner from 9 yards out. Charles Kimbrough's interception sealed the Vols' first win in two Peach Bowl tries.

1990 COTTON BOWL

JAN. 1, 1990

TENNESSEE 31 ARKANSAS 27

DALLAS — Tennessee finished with its finest season record since 1970 by taking a hard-fought 31-27 decision over the Southwest Conference champion Razorbacks.

The Vols, paced by the running of Offensive MVP Chuck Webb and an opportunistic defense, raced to a 31-13 lead after three periods, but the Hogs stormed back to close the margin before Alvin Harper recovered an onside kick attempt with 1:23 left on the clock and the Vols were able to run out the clock.

UT had parlayed a field goal by Greg Burke, two TDs by Webb, one on a 78-yard run down the near sideline, an 84-yard pass from Andy Kelly to Anthony Morgan and a 1-yard toss from Kelly to Greg Amsler to take the lead.

Martin Williams and Tracy Hayworth recovered fumbles to blunt two Arkansas drives and Defensive MVP Carl Pickens intercepted an Arkansas pass to stop another drive. Kacy Rodgers made a big play in the fourth quarter, stopping Arkansas tailback Barry Foster on fourth-and-1 at the Vol 9.

JAN. 1, 1991

TENNESSEE 23 VIRGINIA 22

NEW ORLEANS — Tennessee concluded its 100-year anniversary season and longest in Vol history with a come-from-behind victory in the 57th Sugar Bowl Classic at the Louisiana Superdome. The Vols thus concluded a 9-2-2 season that began way back in August.

The Vols trailed for the first 59:29, but won the game when Tony Thompson, who rushed for 151 yards, hurdled the line for a score from 1 yard out. Thompson's score climaxed a Sugar Bowl record-setting 20-point fourth quarter that saw the Vols outscore the Cavs by 14.

Leading 16-3, Virginia looked poised to put the game away late in the third quarter. But Floyd Miley intercepted a Shawn Moore pass at the Vol 6 and the rally was on. Andy Kelly, voted the game's most outstanding player, led three drives for scores and Dale Carter intercepted a last-gasp Virginia pass to gain the victory.

Thompson scored twice in the fourth quarter rally and Kelly, who directed the Vol attack flawlessly in the final stanza, found Carl Pickens wide open for the other score.

Carter had two interceptions for his night's work and linebacker Darryl Hardy had eight tackles and four broken-up passes.

1992 FIESTA BOWL

JAN. 1, 1992

PENN STATE 42 TENNESSEE 17

TEMPE — Tennessee appeared to be in the driver's seat of the 21st Fiesta Bowl, leading 17-7 midway in the third quarter, but Penn State ran off 35 unanswered points in just 7:49 to take the decision. Turnovers proved to be the Vols' undoing as four of the six Penn State scores came off Vol mistakes.

The Vols, who trailed 7-0 just 1:19 into the game, ran off 17 unanswered points of their own between the first and third quarters, but failed to take full advantage of the 441-226 yard statistical advantage. The Nittany Lions then reeled off 35 unanswered points of their own to seal the win.

James Stewart and Cory Fleming scored Vol touchdowns while John Becksvoort added two conversions and a 24-yard field goal. Stewart's score came after a 10-play, 62-yard drive in the first quarter. Fleming's came in the third quarter on a pass from Andy Kelly on which the Vol sophomore wideout made some nifty moves in the open field to find paydirt.

TENNESSEE 38 BOSTON COLLEGE 23

TAMPA — Tennessee scored 14 points despite having the ball only 3:32 of the first quarter and added 24 more in the third and early fourth quarters to take a 38-23 decision over Boston College in the seventh annual Hall of Fame Bowl at Tampa Stadium.

Game MVP Heath Shuler led the way, completing 18 of 23 passes for 245 yards and two touchdowns and scoring two himself. His TD passes went to Cory Fleming (27 yards) and Mose Phillips (69 yards). Shuler scored twice on runs of 1 and 14 yards. Jerry Colquitt threw a 48-yard scoring pass to Fleming and John Becksvoort added a field goal and five extra points. The Vols outgained the Eagles 450-371.

After a bad snap on BC's first punt of the game led to good field position at the BC 43, Shuler found Ron Davis down the left side for 42 yards and scored a play later on a keeper left. Fleming's first TD came on the Vols' next possession. The Vols' third quarter surge featured Shuler's second TD of the day and a Phillips' determined run for a score.

ORLANDO — Tennessee jumped to a 10-0 lead on its first two offensive series, but Penn State rallied from a 13-10 deficit late in the first half with 21 unanswered points to take a 31-13 decision in the 48th annual Florida Citrus Bowl.

Tennessee moved to a field goal on its first possession, one of two made by John Becksvoort on the day. The Vols scored a touchdown on their second foray into Penn State territory on a 19-yard pass from Heath Shuler to Cory Fleming, but could add only a Citrus Bowl record 50-yard field goal by Becksvoort the rest of the afternoon.

Penn State scored to take the lead for good just before halftime and added another score off a sustained drive after the opening kickoff of the second half to assume control of the game.

Charlie Garner rushed 16 times for 89 yards and Fleming caught seven passes for 101 yards. The Vols finished with a 9-2-1 overall record.

GAINESVILLE — Tennessee bolted to a 35-10 halftime lead and moved on from there to take a 45-23 triumph over Virginia Tech in the 1994 Gator Bowl game, played this year at Florida Field in Gainesville. A 21-point second quarter was the key as the Vols scored on five of seven first half possessions.

James Stewart scored three TDs and threw a 19-yard TD pass to Kendrick Jones. Peyton Manning threw a 36-yard TD pass to Marcus Nash and Jay Graham scored on a 1-yard run.

Tyrone Hines had an interception which led to the Vols' first score and Shawn Summers had a 49-yard punt return that led to a Vol score in the fourth period.

Stewart, who was named the most outstanding player for the game, carried 22 times for 85 yards. Manning completed 12 of 19 passes for 189 yards. Joey Kent led the Vols with six receptions for 116 yards, 42 coming on a spectacular catch down the far boundary a play before Nash's TD grab. 1996 CITRUS BOWL

TENNESSEE 20 OHIO STATE 14

ORLANDO — Jeff Hall kicked two fourth quarter field goals and the Vol defense held Ohio State in check as Tennessee defeated the Buckeyes 20-14 on a rainy day in the 50th annual Florida Citrus Bowl.

Jay Graham, the game's MVP, rushed for 154 yards, including a 69-yard scoring dash late in the first half that pulled the Vols even, 7-7, at halftime. Peyton Manning completed 20 of 35 passes for 182 yards and one touchdown. Joey Kent led the Vol receiving corps with seven catches for 109 yards, including a 47-yard scoring toss from Manning that gave UT a 14-7 advantage in the third quarter.

Hall's two field goals in the fourth quarter came after the Buckeyes had tied the game, 14-14, to open the final stanza. Tennessee's defense, which had stopped the Buckeyes on a second quarter fourth-and-inches at the Vol 3-yard line, forced three turnovers in OSU's final four possessions to seal the victory.

UT held Ohio State, with Heisman winner Eddie George, to a season-low 89 yards on the ground.

The victory upped Tennessee's record to 11-1, its best since 1989 and propelled the Vols to a No. 2 finish in the final CNN-USA Today poll, UT's highest since 1967. The Vols were tabbed No. 3 in final Associated Press voting.

1998 ORANGE BOWL

Jan. 2, 1998

NEBRASKA 42 TENNESSEE 17

MIAMI — A 21-point third quarter proved pivotal as No. 2 Nebraska took a 42-17 win over No. 3 Tennessee in the 1997 season's final bowl game and 64th Orange Bowl. The win vaulted the Cornhuskers to the No. 1 spot in the Coaches' Poll with a 13-0 record. Tennessee finished 11-2, the sixth 11-win season in school history, and earned seventh (AP) and eighth (ESPN/USA Today) place finishes. A crowd of 72,835 saw the contest, the first ever between the two teams.

Peyton Manning and Tee Martin each threw TD passes for the Vols, Manning's a 5-yarder to Peerless Price and Martin's a 3-yarder to Andy McCullough. Jeff Hall added a 44-yard field goal and Travis Stephens caught a two-point conversion pass from Martin.

Tennessee fell behind 14-0 before Hall's fielder in the second quarter and saw the game get away when Nebraska cranked up the ground game in the third quarter en route to scores on drives of 80, 73 and 80 yards. The Huskers' third score came after Manning's TD pass to Price cut the margin to 28-9 after a 72-yard, 9-play drive. Tailback Jamal Lewis concluded a stellar freshman season, carrying 14 times for 90 yards and being named his team's MVP.

Jan. 4, 1999

TENNESSEE 23 FLORIDA STATE 16

TEMPE - Tennessee won the 1998 national championship, the first for the Vols since 1951, and completed the school's first-ever 13-0 season with a 23-16 win over the No. 2 Seminoles. Tee Martin completed 11 of 18 passes for 278 yards and threw TD passes to Shawn Bryson and Peerless Price, covering 4 and 79 yards respectively.

For his part, Price caught four passes for 199 yards, setting a Tennessee bowl receiving record in the process. A Fiesta Bowl record crowd of 84,470 saw the game, only the second meeting between the two schools, the first coming in 1958.

Bryson's TD reception came in the second quarter and was followed by Dwayne Goodrich pilfering an FSU pass and returning the oskie 54 yards for a score which gave the Vols a 14-0 lead. Goodrich's TD run was the third of his career. Bryson's TD came after the Vols took a Jeff Hall field goal off the board due to a roughing-the-kicker penalty.

Florida State narrowed the margin to 14-9 at the half and the score remained that way until midway in the fourth quarter when Martin and Price hooked up for the pivotal 79-yard score, followed by a Seminole turnover and a Hall field goal good from 23 yards out. The Seminoles pulled to within the eventual 23-16 margin late in the game, but could get no closer.

2000 FIESTA BOWL

Jan. 2, 2000

NEBRASKA 31 TENNESSEE 21

TEMPE - Two long Nebraska scoring drives in the second half ended Tennessee's hopes of an upset in the Cornhuskers' 31-21 victory over the Vols before 71,526 in the 2000 Tostitos Fiesta Bowl.

The Cornhuskers, who rushed for 321 yards and held the Vols to but 44, jumped to a 14-0 lead in the first quarter, on a 7-yard run by I-back Dan Alexander, who ran for 108 yards on the night, and a 60-yard punt return by Bobby Newcombe. Nebraska added a field goal late in the half before Tee Martin led a 65-yard, eight-play drive culminating in a 9-yard pass to wideout Donte' Stallworth.

The Vols closed to it 17-14 when Travis Henry scored on a 4-yard run early in the third quarter after the Vols forced a fumble on the second play after the third quarter kickoff. Will Overstreet caused the bobble and Dominique Stevenson got it.

The Cornhuskers hurt the Vols with the pass on the first scoring drive, but marched the entire 99 yards on the ground on the second drive.

The Vols got the game's last score when wide receiver Cedrick Wilson, a former high school quarterback, threw a 44-yard TD pass to Stallworth that closed it to 31-21 with 7:25 left. It was his first pass as a Vol and showed the versatility of the Memphis wideout.

The 1998 team took advantage of its opportunities to win the national championship, making up for the loss of three NFL first-round draft choices from 1997 and a season-ending knee injury to tailback Jamal Lewis in the Auburn game. The Vols won nailbiters against Syracuse, Florida and Arkansas and took a fourth consecutive win over Alabama. The Vols ascended to the No. 1 spot after the Alabama-Birmingham game and proved equal to the task by defeating Arkansas, Kentucky, Vanderbilt, Mississippi State and Florida State en route to the national crown. Al Wilson was an All-America selection at linebacker and placekicker Jeff Hall became UT's and the SEC's all-time leading scorer. Quarterback Tee Martin guided the Vols steadily all season and set NCAA passing records for consecutive completions and completion percentage in the South Carolina game.

The 1951 Vols were the preseason choice to win the national championship and did not disappoint in the least, rolling to a 10-0 regular season record and the national title. The team included future College Football Hall of Fame members Hank Lauricella, Doug Atkins and John Michels, and was coached by Gen. Robert R. Neyland. The Vols defeated Alabama 27-13 in the Southeastern Conference's first televised game.

On the season the Vols scored 386 points, while giving up but 116. They recorded five shutouts, including a third consecutive whitewash of Kentucky and its quarterback Babe Parilli. The Vols were 21-2 over the 1950 and 1951 seasons.

Editior's Note:
Tennessee has been named consensus wire service national champion in 1951 and 1998. Many Vol fans do not realize, however, that UT has won other national championships throughout the years, according to various rating systems that were in place during the years in which the teams competed. These championships, perhaps not too familiar to fans, are recognized as legitimate by the official NCAA Football Records Manual. These titles were selected through a points or a ratings system to determine the nation's top team. Overall, Tennessee has captured national championships in six different seasons from at least one poll.

The 1951 Vols were the preseason choice to win the national championship and did not disappoint in the least, rolling to a 10-0 regular season record and the national title. The team included future College Football Hall of Fame members Hank Lauricella, Doug Atkins and John Michels, and was coached by Gen. Robert R. Neyland. The Vols defeated Alabama 27-13 in the Southeastern Conference's first televised game.

On the season the Vols scored 386 points, while giving up but 116. They recorded five shutouts, including a third consecutive whitewash of Kentucky and its quarterback Babe Parilli. The Vols were 21-2 over the 1950 and 1951 seasons.

Editior's Note:
Tennessee has been named consensus wire service national champion in 1951 and 1998.
Many Vol fans do not realize, however, that UT has won other national championships throughout the years, according to various rating systems that were in place during the years in which the teams competed. These championships, perhaps not too familiar to fans, are recognized as legitimate by the official NCAA Football Records Manual.
These titles were selected through a points or a ratings system to determine the nation's top team.
Overall, Tennessee has captured national championships in six different seasons from at least one poll.

TENNESSEE vs. NO. 1

In its 100 plus-year history, Tennessee has been involved in seven contests in which the Vols' opponent was ranked No. 1 in the country.

UT has a 2-5 all-time record when playing the nation's top-ranked team.

The most recent game between Tennessee and the No. 1 rated team was against Florida Sept. 20, 1997, in Gainesville.

The Vols' two victories against a No. 1 team have come against Southeastern Conference foes.

Tennessee, ranked No. 13, edged Louisiana State 14-13 Nov. 7, 1959, in Knoxville, to knock the Tigers out of the top spot.

On Sept. 28, 1985, the Vols, 0-0-1 and unranked at the time, soundly defeated top-rated Auburn 38-20 in Knoxville. The 1985 Vols went on to win the SEC Championship and finish No. 4 nationally in both polls.

LAST TIME IN THE POLLS

Throughout its history, the University of Tennessee football program has been a regular member of the Associated Press and, more recently, the ESPN/USA Today Coaches polls.

Below is a listing of the last time the Vols were ranked in a particular position in each poll.

Tennessee's last No. 1 ranking came at the end of the 1998 football season after Tennessee's 23-16 win over Florida State in the Tostitos Fiesta Bowl Jan. 4, 1999.

The win garnered Tennessee the undisputed national championship thanks in part to the advent of the Bowl Championship Series, which matched the top two teams in the land in a fight for the national title.

The guaranteed matchup between Nos. 1 and 2 was only the 12th time No. 1 had faced No. 2 in a bowl game. The BCS will continue through the 2005 season.

National Polls

Since the inception of wire service polls, Tennessee has frequently placed among the nation's leaders in the national rankings. The Associated Press poll, which began in 1936, the United Press International poll, running from 1950 until 1991, and the CNN-USA Today poll lasting from 1982 until 1997, when it became the ESPN/USA Today poll, all reflect the lofty standings of the Vols in the eyes of coaches, sports writers and broadcasters. Tennessee won the 1951 and 1998 national championships in all polls and finished No. 2 in 1938, 1939, 1956, 1967 and 1995. The Vols have been awarded other national championships as determined by different points and ratings systems in effect at the time of the seasons. UT earned national titles in 1938 and 1940 according to both the Dunkel and Litkenhous Systems. The Vols were named national champs in 1950 by Dunkel and in 1967 by Litkenhous. The 1951 title was also honored by both the Litkenhous and Williamson Systems. The 1998 title was honored by all polls.

Traditions

The famed letter "T" debuted on Tennessee's helmets in the fall of 1964 as Doug Dickey assumed the head coaching reins.

Prior to 1964 the helmets had been white with an orange stripe down the middle. There, however, have been two exceptions. In coach Bowden Wyatt's final season in 1962, the Vols had orange numerals on the sides of their helmets. In 1963 coach Jim McDonald stuck with the numbers on the helmets, but changed the numerals color to black.

When Johnny Majors was named head coach in 1977, he had the "T" slightly redesigned and the orange stripe widened.

Dickey also brought another Tennessee tradition to life when he started the Vols running through the "T."

From the time of coach Bob Neyland through the 1963 season, the Vols had their team bench on the east side of the field, close to their dressing room which entered the field on the 50 yardline.

When Doug Dickey became the Vol coach in 1964, he changed all that. He moved his team's bench to the west side, allowing the Vols to enter the field just before the opening kickoff through a giant "T" formed by the "Pride of Southland" Marching Band.

When the Vols moved to the new dressing room quarters under the north stands in 1983, the "T" remained, forming from north to south instead of east to west.

The "T" has occasionally been formed on the road, most notably at Liberty Bowl Memorial Stadium in Memphis, at Vanderbilt Stadium in Nashville and at the 1986 and 1991 Sugar Bowls in New Orleans.

Nickname

The University of Tennessee, as the state's land grant university, draws the nickname of its athletic teams (Volunteers) from the name most associated with the state. Tennessee acquired its name "The Volunteer State" in the early days of the nineteenth century in the War of 1812. At the request of President James Madison, Gen. Andrew Jackson, later President of the United States, mustered 1500 men from his home state to fight the Indians and later the British at the Battle of New Orleans.

The men never actually fought in battle and Jackson was so frustrated by the inactivity that he marched the men home at his own expense and his determined stance on their behalf earned him the nickname "Old Hickory."

The name became even more prominent in the Mexican War when Gov. Aaron V. Brown issued a call for 2800 men to battle Santa Ana and some 30,000 volunteered. The dragoon uniform worn by Tennessee regulars during that conflict is still seen adorning the color guard at UT athletic events.

The name "Volunteers" is frequently shortened to "Vols" in describing Tennessee athletic teams.

School Colors

The colors Orange and White were selected by Charles Moore, a member of the first football team in 1891, and were later approved by a vote of the student body. The colors were those of the common American daisy which grew in profusion on The Hill. Tennessee players did not appear in the now-famous Orange jerseys until the season opening game in 1922. Coach M.B. Banks' Vols won that game over Emory and Henry by a score of 50-0.

Checkerboard End Zones

A Tennessee trademark from the mid-1960s was reinstated in 1989 with the installation of the orange and white checkerboard end zones on Shields-Watkins Field and continued with the return of grass.

The unique design accompanied coach Doug Dickey's arrival in 1964. The colorful and popular end zones were a part of Tennessee football until 1968 when the natural sod was dug out and artificial turf was put in its place.

Workers installed the orange and white end zones and the interlocking UT at the 50-yard line in the summer of 1989. They were both completely inlaid with contrasting colored turf rather than painted turf.

Volunteer Navy

In 1962 former Vol broadcaster George Mooney found a quicker and more exciting way to get to Neyland Stadium other than fighting the notorious Knoxville traffic. Mooney navigated his little runabout down the Tennessee River to the stadium and spawned what would later become the "Volunteer Navy." Today, approximately 200 boats of all shapes and sizes make up this giant floating tailgate party. Tennessee and the University of Washington are the only institutions with football stadiums adjacent to bodies of water.

Smokey

After a student poll sponsored by the Pep Club revealed a desire to select a live mascot for the University, the Pep Club held a contest in 1953 to select a coon hound, a native breed of the state, as the mascot to represent the school. Announcements of the contest in local newspapers read, "This can't be an ordinary hound. He must be a 'Houn' Dog' in the best sense of the word." The late Rev. Bill Brooks entered his prize-winning blue tick coon hound, "Brooks' Blue Smokey," in the contest. At halftime of the Mississippi State game that season, the dogs were lined up on the old cheerleaders' ramp at Shields-Watkins Field. Each dog was introduced over the loudspeaker and the student body cheered for their favorite, with "Blue Smokey" being the last hound introduced. When his name was called, he barked. The students cheered and Smokey threw his head back and barked again. This kept going until the stadium was in an uproar and UT had found its mascot. Rev. Brooks supplied UT with the line of canines until his death in 1986 when his wife, Mildred, took over the caretaking role. She did so until 1994, when her brother and sister-in-law, Earl and Martha Hudson of Knoxville, took over responsibility for Smokey VII and eventually Smokey VIII, with Smokey IX now in the wings. Mrs. Brooks died in July 1997.

The dogs have led exciting lives. Smokey II was dognapped by Kentucky students in 1955 and later survived a confrontation with the Baylor Bear at the 1957 Sugar Bowl. Smokey VI, who suffered heat exhaustion in the 140-degree temperatures at the 1991 UCLA game, was listed on the Vol injury report until he returned later in the season. Smokey III compiled a 105-39-5 record and two SEC championships. Smokey VI, who passed away in 1991, was on the sidelines for three SEC championships. One of the most beloved figures in the state, Smokey is famous for leading the Vols out of the giant "T" prior to each home game. The present Smokey, now entering his fifth season, is eighth in the line of blue tick coon hounds and is appropriately called Smokey VIII. He is also the winningest Smokey, having recorded a 54-8 (.871) record, two SEC titles and the 1998 national championship.

University of Tennessee's Pride of the Southland Band

The University of Tennessee band was organized immediately after the Civil War when the University reopened. Since then, the enrollment in the band program has grown to more than three hundred students (in all bands) from all colleges of the University.

Director of Bands, Gary Sousa, heads up a program which has maintained a long-standing reputation as one of the nation's finest musical organizations.

The band staff includes Dr. Don Ryder, Associate Director of Bands and Drill Designer, along with Ed Powell, Assistant Director. Drum Major for the 2000 season is Joe Christian, assisted by Brooke Rhea, and Head Majorette is Carrie DeLozier.

The band program is divided into several different units. The most famous of these units is the marching band. The full "Pride of the Southland Band," appears at all home football games and most out-of-town games before more than 850,000 spectators plus millions more on television.

The "Pride of the Southland" has represented the state of Tennessee at the Eisenhower, Johnson, Nixon, Carter, Reagan, Bush and Clinton Presidential Inaugurations and has appeared at the SEC Championship game, Rose Bowl, Astro Bluebonnet Bowl, Citrus Bowl, Gator Bowl, Hall of Fame Bowl, Liberty Bowl, Peach Bowl, Fiesta Bowl, Cotton Bowl, Orange Bowl and the Sugar Bowl.

When the UT Marching Band takes the field, the crowd reaction truly indicates that it is not only the Pride of all Tennesseans, but the "Pride of the Southland."

Alma Mater

The alma mater was selected as a result of a 1928 contest sponsored by Prof. L.S. Mayer of the UT men's glee club. All students, faculty members and alumni or members of their families throughout the state were eligible to compete for the $50 prize. The song, both music and words, had to be original and of high standard. The winner was Mrs. John Meek of Chattanooga, formerly Mary Fleming of Knoxville. The decision was announced at the Alumni banquet at the Farragut Hotel Oct. 26, 1928.

Neyland Stadium/Shields-Watkins Field

The present day Neyland Stadium, Shields-Watkins Field had its beginning in 1919. Col. W.S. Shields, president of Knoxville's City National Bank and a UT trustee, provided the initial capital to prepare and equip an athletic field. Thus, when the field was completed in March 1921 it was called Shields-Watkins field, in honor of the donor and his wife, Alice Watkins-Shields.

The stadium, apart from the field it grew to enclose, came to bear its own distinguished name: Neyland Stadium. It was named for the man most responsible for the growth and development of Tennessee's proud football tradition. General Robert R. Neyland served as head coach from 1926 to 1952, with two interruptions for military service. After retiring from the coaching ranks, Neyland was athletic director until his death in 1962. He was the guiding force behind additions to the stadium's capacity, and is the one most responsible for the winning tradition that Volunteer fans have come to expect over the years.

CAPACITY: Approximately 104,000—Nation's second largest collegiate football stadium. Has undergone 17 additions/renovations since West Stands were built in 1921, seating 3,200. Latest addition (East sideline 78 executive suites) completed in 2000.

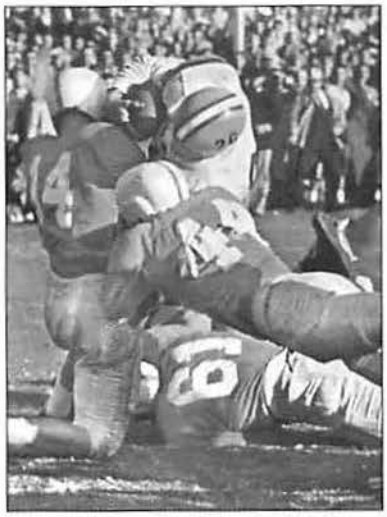
Homecoming

Homecoming festivities at the University of Tennessee bring reunions, parades, corsages, the alumni band and memories of days gone by. But mostly, Homecoming means Volunteer football. Over the years, Homecoming has delivered some of the most exciting gridiron confrontations in UT football history.

The alumni festivities first began in the early years of this century. The inaugural installment came with a victory over Vanderbilt in 1916. Homecoming celebrations for former students — a phenomenon of many campuses at about this time — came to fruition during this period. While a Homecoming had been held in 1916, the following year war conditions and limited transportation caused such activities to be canceled.

Although the event made a comeback in 1919, it was not until 1925 that the Alumni Association organized Homecoming activities in connection with the Mississippi A&M football game. Thereafter, Homecoming occurred each year in conjunction with one of the football games. A major attraction of the festivities was a barbecue, as evidenced by the 15 carcasses of beef and 170 gallons of coffee consumed by the alumni in 1927.

Entering the 2000 campaign, Tennessee has won 16 consecutive Homecoming games dating back to a 13-10 loss to Mississippi in 1983. The Vols defeated Memphis 17-16 in last season's Homecoming contest.



Tennessee stopped Louisiana State's Billy Cannon just short of the end zone to preserve the Vols' 14-13 win against No. 1-ranked Louisiana State in the 1959 Homecoming contest.

Far Betweens

Volunteer football teams have encountered some interesting games in the more than 100 years of gridiron combat. Some games have been one-sided with Tennessee both winning and losing by large margins.

Tennessee's largest victory margin came in 1905 as the Vols defeated American University 104-0. The 1915 team posted victories of 101-0 against both Carson-Newman and Cumberland Colleges. The 1893 team suffered the worst defeat at the hands of Duke, 70-0. That same Vol 11 suffered 64-0, 60-0 and 56-0 losses to Wake Forest, North Carolina and Kentucky, respectively.

The far betweens in Tennessee's modern football history (1926-Present) are a 73-0 victory against Carson-Newman and a 44-0 loss at the hands of Georgia in 1981.

Lewis and Ellis Continue Tennessee's First-Round Tradition in 2000 NFL Draft

Jamal Lewis and Shaun Ellis, who were instrumental cogs in Tennessee's unprecedented success in the 1990s, became the latest Vols to be selected in the first round of the 2000 NFL Draft as they went fifth and 12th respectively to the Baltimore Ravens and the New York Jets.

Lewis finished his three-year career as UT's third all-time leading rusher, while Ellis was a pass-rushing force from his defensive end position, harassing quarterbacks for three years as well.

Twice during the decade of the 1990s, Tennessee had three players chosen in the first round of the NFL Draft. In 1991, Charles McRae, Antone Davis and Alvin Haper were tabbed in the first round. In 1998, another UT trio of Peyton Manning, Terry Fair and Marcus Nash were taken in the first round. The Indianapolis Colts made Manning the No. 1 pick in the 1998 NFL Draft. The All-America quarterback joined George Cafego (1940) as the only other UT player to be chosen as the first pick of an NFL Draft.

All told, Tennessee has had 33 first round NFL Draft choices.

ACADEMICS

With comprehensive services in advising, tutoring, counseling and management, UT's Office of Student Life supplies the Volunteer student-athlete with all the tools necessary to be successful in the classroom.

Much of the credit for UT in this area goes to the leadership of Associate Athletics Director for Student Life Dr. Carmen Tegano and his staff. Tegano, who joined the UT staff in 1985, cites commitment to academic excellence by the university community as the key to success.

"There is a commitment from the athletics director and the coaches, but most importantly, there is support from the university faculty and the advising centers of the different colleges," Tegano says, "These centers are very student-oriented and are the pulse of the university."

It is part of a national trend that focuses on a need for programs to develop student-athletes' potential to be well-rounded, well-educated individuals. This is to make sure the student-athlete enjoys a successful adjustment to university life and eventually realizes a positive academic experience through counseling, tutoring, study hall and special needs assistance.

Rows of plaques line the Student Life Office honoring Tennessee's Academic All-America and Academic All-SEC selections. This lends further evidence that the word "student" in student-athlete is not just for show at Tennessee.

The present day Neyland Stadium, Shields-Watkins Field had its beginning in 1919. Col. W.S. Shields, president of Knoxville's City National Bank and a UT trustee, provided the initial capital to prepare and equip an athletic field. Thus, when the field was completed in March 1921 it was called Shields-Watkins Field, in honor of the donor and his wife, Alice Watkins-Shields.

The stadium, apart from the field it grew to enclose, came to bear its own distinguished name: Neyland Stadium. It was named for the man most responsible for the growth and development of Tennessee football, General Robert R. Neyland, who served as head coach from 1926-52, with two interruptions for military service. After retiring from the coaching ranks, Neyland was athletic director until his death in 1962. He was the guiding force behind additions to the stadiumís capacity, and is the one responsible for the winning tradition that Volunteer fans have come to expect over the years.

- Neyland Stadium is the second-largest stadium in the nation, boasting a capacity of approximately 104,000.
- A record total of 747,870 fans in seven games saw the Vols post their third straight undefeated 7-0 home slate in 1999.

- UT has averaged 106,444 fans over the last four seasons, drawing over 2.5 million patrons during that span.

- The main level of the facility features an All-Pro turf football field.
- The field, which sits under a 65-foot ceiling, also includes a baseball infield with inlaid bases and pitcher's mound.

The 12,000-square-foot Percy Strength Facility, located in the Neyland-Thompson Sports Center, ranks as one of the top three in the country in terms of size while housing over 48,000 pounds of weights and state-of-the-art equipment by David, Nautilus and 18 other companies.

The strength and conditioning facility has over 140 training stations which have been custom designed and built to the specifications set by Assistant Athletic Director for Physical Development John Stucky and his staff. Some of the equipment was specifically designed just for use at UT.

With a goal to provide each student-athlete with a well-rounded strength and conditioning program, computers tailor workouts to each specific position and sport.

Neyland Stadium Executive Suites

The Neyland Stadium Press Box and Executive Suites off cially opened for the Colorado State game Sept. 5, 1987 replacing a press box in operation since 1962.

The press box was named for the late Tom Elam of Unio City, a long-time Tennessee Trustee and Athletics Board mem ber Sept. 18, 1992.

The press box has four levels, encompassing leased suites box seating for official guests of the University and Athleti Department, and complete facilities for print and broadcas media. There are six elevators serving the facility, four servin the skyboxes and two serving the press area.

The facility stretches from goal line to goal line and is 6 feet high from top to bottom. It is 194 feet to the west sideline from the lowest platform in level four. It is approximately 13 feet vertically to the field.

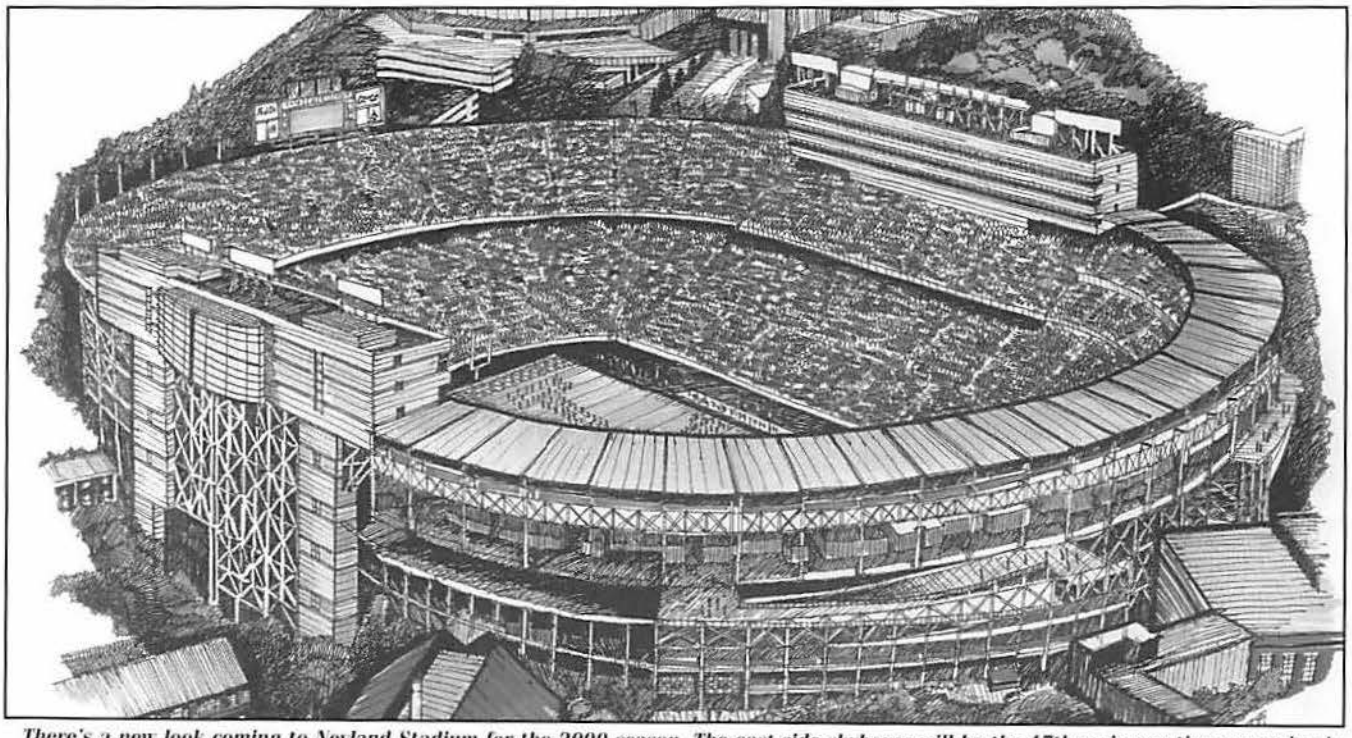
The working press area is located in the center of level five with seating for 108. In addition to press seating, this level includes areas for stadium operations, professional scouts and press overflow, press box operations, public address, visiting coaches, Tennessee coaching staff, physical plant, bowl scouts, visiting athletic director and UT security.

Level four is the John Ward Broadcast Center, named for the former Vol broadcaster in 1995, which encompasses all broadcast, radio and television and campus photographers, with camera decks at either end. There are seven boxes for photo crews, UTV, the Vol Network, two for network television and two for the visiting broadcast team and photographers.

The top levels, level six and seven, contain 39 leased sky-boxes. Each of the skyboxes contains eight fixed and eight movable seats, a kitchenette with refrigerator, sink and storage, and a multi-channel television monitor for the television feed of games from the stadium and other viewing. In addition, this level has a holding area for food service and a full concourse. There is also an observation deck looking to the west.

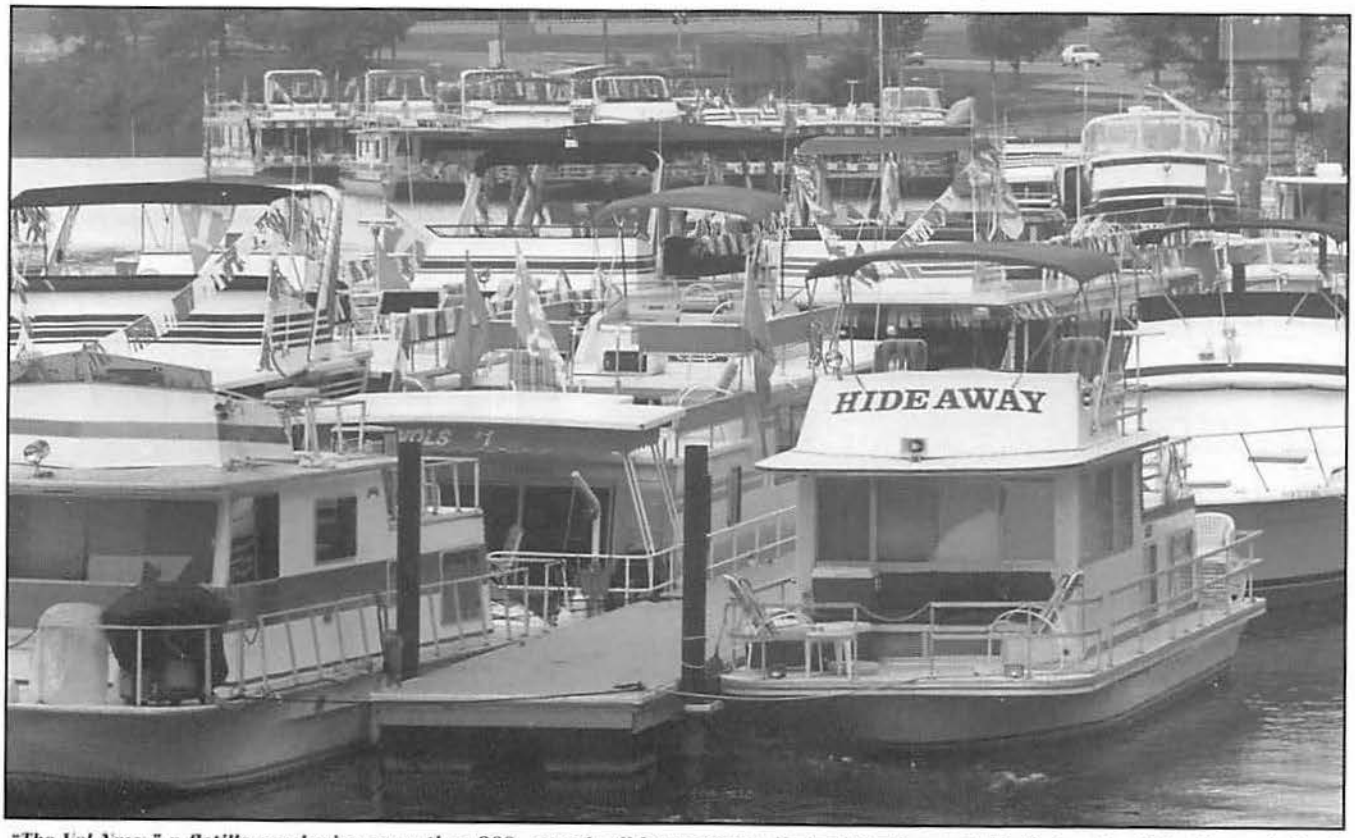
Also on level six are large skyboxes for the President, the Chancellor and the Board of Trustees. Each of these boxes has 32 fixed seats and the capability to add up to 32 movable seats. Each is equipped with a refrigerator, sink and storage system, as well as two television monitors.

Around Neyland Stadium



There's a new look coming to Neyland Stadium for the 2000 season. The east side skyboxes will be the 17th major seating expansion in the stadium. The 72 new skyboxes will add approximately 1,250 seats and bring stadium capacity to more than 104,000, second only to Michigan Stadium at the University of Michigan. The new expansion is estimated to cost $18.9 million.

The top level of the structure towers 202 feet over the level of the playing field. The new skyboxes, which have 16 seats each, will be almost a mirror image of the press box on the other side of the field, which includes 42 skyboxes completed in 1987.



"The Vol Navy," a flotilla numbering more than 200, attends all home games. Neyland Stadium and the University of Washington's Husky Stadium are the only collegiate stadiums accessible by water.

Vol Radio Network

For over 50 years, the Vol Network has served as the main communications link between the University of Tennessee and its fans. As the broadcast rights holder to University of Tennessee athletics, Host Communications/Vol Network manages UT radio and television programming, game day publications, on-line services, venue signage and various other marketing and promotional activities related to Big Orange athletics.

The Vol Network is the exclusive producer and marketer of University of Tennessee sports programming. The network coordinates and distributes football, men's basketball, women's basketball and baseball radio broadcasts, a weekly coaches call-in show and weekly television coaches shows for football, men's and women's basketball and spring sports. Additional television projects include a pre-season football television special and a select number of live men's and women's basketball games each year. The network also oversees Tennessee's pay-per-view operation and all Vol Network home video products. The Vol Network in conjunction with the University of Tennessee supervises the marketing and operation of the UT athletic department's official web site, "utsports.com", and official coaches' sites (phillipfulmer.com, coachjerrygreen.com, patheadsummitt.com). Tennessee's official game day publications for football and men's and women's basketball are also published and distributed by the Vol Network.

The Vol Network is a division of Host Communications, a subsidiary of Bull Run Corporation. Host Communications, Inc. is a nationally recognized sports marketing corporation with over 500 employees. Host's Collegiate Group manages marketing rights to 13 institutions and four major athletic conferences. Host also administers the NCAA's Corporate Partner Program and has high school and event management divisions.

The Vol Network staff consists of: Edwin C. Huster (General Manager), Steve Early (Director of Sales and Marketing), Glenn Thackston (Operations Manager/Executive Producer), Brandon Parks (Account Executive) and Keri Jamison (Account Executive).

In the fall of 1949, Tennessee football games were first broadcast on what is known today as the Vol Radio Network. Legendary UT coach General Robert. R. Neyland gave the Network its name and hall of fame broadcaster Lindsey Nelson served as the first Vol Network play-by-play announcer. Over the years, the Network has grown into one of the nation's largest and most respected collegiate radio networks. From four stations in 1949 to more that 80-plus affiliates today, Vol Network coverage blankets the state of Tennessee as the "Statewide Stadium" from Mt. LeConte to the mighty Mississippi River. In addition to Tennessee, the Network boasts affiliates in four surrounding states, has a nighttime coverage of 28 states and can be heard worldwide on the Internet and over the phone through Teamline USA. Tennessee broadcasts consistently rank year-after-year among the top in the number of fans listening on the Internet (utsports.com) and over the phone through TEAMLINE USA (1-800-846-4700 ext. 5405). The Vol Network's listenership and loyalty is so great that the airing of a Tennessee football game has been described as not merely an event, but a "happening" all across the state.

Bob Kesling, UT's director of broadcasting, begins his second year as the voice of Tennessee football, basketball and "Vol Calls." Kesling also serves as the television host of the Vol Network's "The Phillip Fulmer Show" and "The Jerry Green Show." He is a three-time recipient of "Sportscaster of the Year" award for the state of Tennessee. In addition to his broadcasting duties, he represents the University at various events and functions throughout the year and works with UT student-athletes to develop communications and public relations skills. Prior to joining UT, Kesling was known throughout the Southeast for his work with Jefferson Pilot Sports and the regional network's SEC football and basketball television package. He was a member of the SEC Radio Network and for 23 years served as the radio and television voice of the University of Tennessee women's basketball team. Kesling was also a popular sports director and anchor for Knoxville television station WBIR. A 1977 UT graduate, Kesling was born in Dallas, Texas, but grew up in Kettering, Ohio.

Tim Priest, a former Vol All-SEC defensive back, will team with Kesling for his second year in the broadcast booth as the Network's color analyst. Priest was captain of UT's 11-1 1970 team and he is the Vols all-time career interceptions leader with 18. A three-year letterman from 1968-70, Priest was a starter on the Vols 1969 SEC championship team. An outstanding student, he was a GTE Academic All-American, Academic All-SEC in 1969 and 1970 and a recipient of a NCAA Post-Graduate Scholarship Award. On the broadcasting side, Priest was a longtime co-host of the syndicated Football Finals radio show and a color commentator for Tennessee pay-per-view games.

Former Vol signal-caller Jeff Francis is in his second season as the Vol Network's sideline reporter. Francis ranks as the Vols third all-time passing yardage leader. A three-year starter at quarterback from 1986-88, he threw for 5867 career yards and 31 touchdowns. He finished his career in 1988 as the Vols all-time career passing yardage leader. Francis was named Most Valuable Player for his performance in the 1986 Liberty Bowl versus Minnesota and helped guide Tennessee to a 10-2-1 record and a victory over Indiana in the Peach Bowl as a junior. A four-year letterman, Francis was a backup quarterback on Tennessee's 1985 SEC championship team.

Vol Network veteran, Randy Smith returns for his 17th season on the Network as studio and scoreboard host at Vol Network control. Smith is the seasoned host of the "The Kickoff Call-In Show," "The Big Orange Scoreboard" and "The Final Scoreboard." The sports director of WRCB-TV in Chattanooga, Smith has called the play-by-play of University of Tennessee basketball games on television and radio. In addition to his duties with WRCB-TV and the Vol Network, Smith has extensive television play-by-play experience with ESPN and FOX Sports Net.

John Wilkerson returns for his third season as the host of the popular "Spotlight on the SEC" show and co-host of "The Big Orange Scoreboard" and "The Final Scoreboard." Wilkerson also serves as the studio host for University of Tennessee basketball on the Vol Radio Network and is also the voice of Tennessee baseball. Former Vol Mike Stowell returns for this second season as analyst and commentator on "The Final Scoreboard." Stowell, a bruising All-SEC tackle for the Vols in 1992, provides an insider's perspective after each contest. Brent Hubbs, who serves a myriad of tasks, enters his seventh season with the Vol Network as a reporter and official spotter. Hubbs provides the halftime statistics from the game site and retrieves opponent coach and player quotes after each. The legendary Russ Bebb is back for his 41st year as the Network's efficient and proficient statistician. Bebb's work in the broadcast booth has made computers obsolete. The always-prepared Tim Berry, entering his 14th year on staff, serves as chief engineer of the Vol Network. Network producer Dave Jeffries, in his sixth season, oversees everything from Vol Network Control. "The Kickoff Call-In Show" crew for home games include engineer T. Edwards (10th year) and stage manager Ellen Long (13th year) who also assist with operations during the game.
